FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

Cause of the Present Climax in Cabinet of Mikado.

The Constitutionalists Will Probably Reject Government's Policy.

Tokyo, Jan. 15.—Any accurate prediction concerning the probable life of Marquis Saionji's cabinet is impossible. The inability of the government to avert a climax and the resignations of the ministers of finance and communications has created a situation approaching a political deadlock. Those best informed are unable to forecast tomorrow's developments with any degree of certainty.

A consensus of opinion is to the effect that the present cabinet, either with double portfolios or possible additions filling the vacant posts in the ministries of the interior and justice, will face the diet which opens on Jan. 22.

An effort is being made today to fill these vacancies, but there is difficulty in securing the consent of statesmen to accept the responsibility under existing circumstances. The opposition and the friends of the government are, apparently, determined to force the government to appeal to the country. With an unpopular budget, the Constitutionalists lack nine votes of an actual majority in the lower house. Reliable authorities think the Constitutionalists will refuse to accept the government's

WANTED LIVING DURING WINTER

Man Smashes $450 Plate Glass Window at Appleton.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 15.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Appleton, Wis., says:

Determined to insure himself of a living during the winter, Charles Kraut, out on parole from Jackson prison, Michigan, collected a large stone and demolished a $450 plate glass window in a local clothing store, and then gave himself up to the police. At the police station he said that if the authorities did not sentence him for life for this offense he would kill some one. His home is in Detroit. He came to Appleton from Eagle River, Wis.

Two months ago he was released from the Michigan state prison, where he was serving a sentence of five years for malicious destruction of property at Battle Creek.

Dennett of North Dakota to become commissioner of the general land office and of George Murphy to be governor of New Mexico and also of the following naval officials: Capt. John H. Hill to be chief of the bureau of navigation; Capt. Charles W. Rice, to be engineer in chief and chief of the bureau of steam engineering; Naval Constructor Washington L. Capps to be chief constructor and chief of the bureau of construction and repair; Civil Engineer Richard C. Holliday to be chief of the bureau of yards and docks; Lieut. Commander Edward H. Campbell to be judge advocate general of the navy.

OPENING OF IMPROVISED MORGUES REVEALS 162 BADLY BURNED BODIES

People of Boyertown Just Beginning to Realize Awfulness of Fire.

Many of the Bodies Are So Badly Disfigured as to be Unrecognizable.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 15.—With the opening today of the four improvised morgues in which lay the victims of Monday night's theater holocaust, the inhabitants of this little town began to realize the extent of the tragedy. The hand of sorrow has touched probably every family in the town and in neighboring villages. Where families were not directly affected by the panic and fire through the loss of relatives there was mourning for lost friends or acquaintances. Many of the thousands who have come as curiosity seekers have gone away, declaring they never want to witness another sight like it. The four buildings used as morgues contain 162 bodies. The three undertaking establishments of the town were too small to accommodate the victims so the borough officials decided to use the high school. Undertakers from surrounding towns were pressed into service to care for the bodies as they arrived from the scene. To each body was attached a tag containing a number and with corpse was laid an article of jewelry or clothing that might have been in possession of the victim.

Few Bodies Will Be Recognized. The coroner who has been on the scene since midnight had expected to open the morgues for the identification of the bodies, but the number of dead grew so large that the undertakers even with the augmented force from other towns were unable to properly arrange the bodies. Most of the bodies were in such condition that few of them will be recognized. In nearly every case the upper portions of the

WITNESSES IN WOOD CASE FAILED TO KEEP WORD AND MUST TAKE CONSEQUENCES

Warrants Issued From the United States Court for Arrest of Nine.

Were Granted Immunity in First Case But Will Now be Arraigned.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warrants were issued from the United States district court today for the arrest of nine men in connection with the case of the government against the four Wood brothers and the Wisconsin Grain company charged with violating the United States postal laws. This case was recently dismissed when charges of jury tampering were preferred against Sherman Smith, a prominent politician of Minneapolis and when he and two jurors were arrested.

The warrants issued today were for Clinton B. Phelps, president; H. P. Ernsberger, secretary; Martin Quigley, treasurer; Bruce Tuttle, custodian;

Charles Stuart, telegraph operator; Charles Kelley, order clerk; Paul Foss, A. W. Brown, and George W. Wood of the Wisconsin Grain company. Several of these were granted immunity if they would testify for the government in the case which was dismissed. The government claims some of the men went back on their word on the stand and they must now suffer the consequences. G. W. Wood, L. A. Wood, L. C. Wood, F. B. Wood, Paul Foss and Charles Kelley were tried as the real officers of the Wisconsin Grain company, the government claiming that Ernsberger, Phelps, Quigley and others were merely dummies. Those "dummies" having been granted immunity could not be arrested on the charge of using the mails in a conspiracy to defraud and warrants were issued today under another section of the law.

In St. Louis and Lake Counties is Sought by Volstead.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Volstead has introduced a bill to grant to the state of Minnesota certain lands for a forest and game reserve. The bill provides that Minnesota, through its state land commissioner and state forestry board, is authorized to select for a forest and game reserve the vacant public and non-mineral land in the following: Townships 66 north, ranges 13 and 14 west; townships 68 north, ranges 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 west; townships 67 north, ranges 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 west; townships 65 north, ranges 13, 14 and 15 west, not heretofore reserved and as nearly as practicable one body and from lands which, according to the field notes of the government surveyors, are third or fourth section lands granted to Minnesota for a forest and game reserve. These lands are situated in the northern parts of St. Louis and Lake counties.

WITNESS FOR THAW

Tells of His Excited Appearance on Day of Tragedy.

Observed Him as He Played at the Whist Club.

New York, Jan. 15.—Dr. Horatio W. Wood, of Philadelphia was called to the stand, the first witness in the Thaw trial today. Dr. Wood some years ago made an examination of Harriet Alice Thaw, a relative of the defendant. District Attorney Jerome objected to the physician's testimony but was overruled by the court as the relations between physician and patient did not exist in this case. Dr. Wood said that Miss Thaw was of unsound mind.

The next witness to be heard told of how eccentricities of Thaw just before the killing of Stanford White. He was Christopher Bagan, a steward at the New York Whist club. Thaw was in the club on June 20, 1906, just five days before the roof garden tragedy. Although the day was hot Thaw insisted on taking a screen with him wherever he went about the rooms. He was highly nervous, excitable and irritable and once as he passed the witness was muttering, "This is awful."

Bagan said Thaw finally came up to him and asked him to have a package

Los Angeles, Jan. 15.—Sam Langford of Boston and Jim Barry of Colorado fought ten rounds before the Pacific Athletic club last night. Senator McCumber Introduces Resolution to Reprint Report.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator McCumber has introduced a joint resolution to reprint a special report on the diseases of cattle. The original edition has been exhausted, and as it is a report of incalculable value to stock raisers of the Middle and Far Western states, Senator McCumber's resolution for a reprint will disseminate very valuable information. The McCumber resolution provides an appropriation of $6,000 to reprint and bring up to date 1,000 copies of this special report on diseases of cattle.

COMES 5,000 MILES TO MAKE AN ADDRESS

PAUL MILUYOUKOV.
Russian Agitator, Who Came From Russia to Make a Single Speech in New York.

COMES LONG WAY TO TALK

Russian Leader Addresses Big Audience in Carnegie Hall.

He Sees No Hope of Conciliation or Peace.

New York, Jan. 15.—Having traveled more than 5,000 miles to present a single address, the cause of popular government in Russia, Prof. Paul Miluyoukov concluded his remarks at Carnegie hall last night with the declaration that all he sought on this side of the ocean was human sympathy.

He is a member of the third duma and leader of the Constitutional Democrats. He arrived on the Carmania Monday and intended to sail on his return to St. Petersburg today. He has delayed his departure one day in order that he may accept the invitation of Herbert Parsons, congressman from New York, to a dinner given in his honor in Washington tonight. The dinner will be followed by a reception. Secretary Taft and other members of President Roosevelt's cabinet and a large presentation from both houses of congress have received invitations. Prof. Miluyoukov will sail on Thursday. Sketching the progress of representative government as embodied in the successive dumas, Prof. Miluyoukov reached the conclusion that a sort of political equilibrium had been attained. He questioned however, whether the equilibrium could be considered stable. He said:

"The struggle for a constitution became a violent class struggle with all its embitterment and mutual hatred. A great many arose to the consciousness of the real cause of their social misery and have learned to know who are their real friends and enemies. The revolution in Russia, has lost some of its external dramatic character, not because the movement has been obliterated, but because it strikes much deeper in the lower social strata. Wherever we turn or look, we only meet with new trouble to combat and with any hope of conciliation and social peace."

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION

Will Consider President Roosevelt's Public Land Policy.

Denver, Jan. 15.—One of the important questions for consideration at the annual convention of the American National Livestock association, which will meet here next Tuesday, is President Roosevelt's policy regarding the public lands, the forest reserves and ranges. This organization went on record last year in favor of leasing the public domain as an aid toward conservation of the country's natural resources and it is expected that similar ones will be adopted at the coming convention and a committee appointed to go to Washington and urge upon congress the enactment of laws for the furtherance of the administration's policy. Other questions to be discussed and acted upon are: "Railroad Service and Shortage of Livestock Cars," "Minimum Speed Limit for Livestock Trains," "The Financial Stringency and the Causes Thereof." President Mario MacKenzie, in an interview yesterday, said:

"Our convention at this time carries with it more than passing importance. Stockmen are facing serious losses, where but a short time ago fair profits were promised, and they are now being forced to accept greatly reduced prices for their live stock possibly to offset losses and money shortages of the 'frenzied financiers' of some large over-capitalized corporations, that, on short time money, have undertaken to capture and control every market, avenue of transportation and territory."

WEATHER—Partly cloudy to clear tonight and Thursday; cold wave tonight with zero temperatures.

CITY COURT PROFITABLE

Clear Balance of $15,000 Shown for the Year 1907.

Disposes of 4,149 Criminal and 1,438 Civil Cases.

The municipal court of the city of Duluth earned $15,000 for the city treasury during the year 1907, according to the statistics, from which the annual report of the court will be compiled. The city treasurer received $28,914.29 in fines and fees from the court. The cost of conducting it for the year was $13,000 or thereabouts, and the credit side shows a clear balance of over $15,000.

There were 4,149 criminal cases and 1,438 civil cases disposed of during the year. The fines and fees from the criminal cases amounted to $25,467.39 and the fees from civil cases, $3,073.15, making a grand total of $28,540.54. The state treasury received $400, collected for violation of the pure food and dairy law and the county treasury $30.20.

There were 1,120 cases of violation of city ordinances, of which 285 were committed, 133 released under suspended sentence, 59 dismissed and 647 paid fines. The fines and fees from prosecutions under city ordinances amounted to $16,455.04. Of 2,862 cases for violation of state statutes, 2,382 were for drunkenness. There were 129 grand jury cases disposed of by the court, of which 96 were held to the grand jury and 33 dismissed. Some of the principal charges are: Murder, 2; manslaughter, 1; assault in the first degree, 9; grand larceny, 30; robbery, 2; burglary, 4; and forgery, 16. The "hit" agitation reflected in thirty-two cases against violators of the liquor laws, of which nine were for selling liquor without a license and one for selling liquor to a minor. The other cases were for keeping open on Sunday or after hours. Three of the saloon cases were dismissed.

INSTALL OFFICERS.

Duluth Sons of Veterans Entertain Friends at Social Session.

Duluth Camp No. 5, Sons of Veterans, held its annual installation of officers at Kalamazoo hall last evening and the event was largely attended by the members, their friends, the G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps. The ceremony was followed by refreshments and dancing. During the evening an interesting program was rendered, including an address by J. C. Wessenberg, commander; John Harrison, division commander; Capt. Asa Dalley, Mrs. E. A. Huot, Mrs. A. F. Gerhart, J. P. Dodge, Dr. Sewall of Clouet, and Capt. Randall. The following officers were installed by E. F. Kelley as follows: Commander, J. C. Wessenberg; senior vice commander, W. E. Hurd; junior vice commander, J. J. Clark; chaplain, M. C. Brown; secretary, G. S. Higgins; treasurer, R. Budden; sergeant of the guard, Charles Ottinger; color sergeant, L. C. Ferguson; corporal of the guard, E. H. Robinson; picket guard, Tom Robinson; camp guard, Roy Hurd.

Special Corset Demonstration.

Madame Westbrook of Chicago is at the Gidding store this week for the purpose of demonstrating the merits of front-laced corsets. These corsets are a decided innovation in dressmaking, which right many of the prominent faults of the back-laced styles. They do not bind over the hips as do the back-laced models; they positively retain their shape until worn out, and instantly reduce the abdomen; also positively lengthen the waist line of short-waisted figures. The new models, adapted to the different types of figure, and in short, this corset forms a most perfect foundation for a neat or pretty gown.

In addition to other excellent points claimed for these corsets, they can easily be washed without shrinkage or injury of any kind to the corset.

REVISION FOR INSURANCE LAW

W. T. Shepard, an insurance man, who at the Lenox, says that the insurance laws of the different states are so widely at variance that the government will some time in the future take up the task of making uniform laws for the writing of insurance. The laws in no two states are the same. It makes it confusing and difficult for the big companies to do business under the existing conditions. For instance, the laws of Minnesota and Nebraska are so directly opposed in their principles as to cause a fire and marine company to choose between withdrawing from Nebraska, its home state, or to withdraw from its new field in Minnesota. Mr. Shepard says the shrinkage of securities the past year will hit some of the companies carrying stock securities hard. On the whole, Mr. Shepard says business is good, with the prospects of a gradual renewal of business.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL AMENDED

Judge Cant has ordered the motion for a new trial in the case of Olga Bergman against Jacob Kitz amended. The order has been made on the petition of Kitz. As it now stands, the amended motion for a new trial is based on claims that the verdict was contrary to the evidence and to law; that the verdict was excessive, and given under passion and prejudice; that there is some newly discovered material evidence, and on the ground of errors in law by the court in charging the jury.

Mrs. Bergman claimed that Jacob Kitz, a Hibbing merchant, assaulted her. She sued for and recovered damages in the amount of about $5,000.

SMALL BOYS TEMPT FATE

Several boys feeling in the East end caused a feeling of apprehension among many spectators, yesterday afternoon, by their foolhardy action in skating out on the thin ice from the shore of Lake Superior. While the boys were skating about the outer edge the ice broke away from the shore and began to drift out into the lake. The boys had to jump an intervening gap of about five feet to get ashore after they discovered their predicament. Some of them were thoroughly drenched from their experience. The parents of the boys and the police are much put out over such carelessness, and a general warning has been issued to keep off the ice along the lake shore at the present time.

WANTED FIFTY CENTS. Desperate Individual Threatened to Blow Up the Hotel.

A ragged individual with a good load aboard threatened desperate revenge upon the lady clerk at the Spaulding shortly after noon today, unless the lady went down into her chateleine for 50 cents. First, the unkempt one asked for the man behind the desk. When informed that the lady was on duty, he hesitated, then stated his mission. "Unless I get 50 cents, I blow up the place," announced the ragged individual.

He was informed that he would be foolish to do it so cheap. He was thus entertained by pleasant conversation until the porter reached the scene. He was then unceremoniously hustled to the storm-driven street, despite his declaration that he was a dangerous character.

A vertical strip of graph paper with a grid pattern, showing a portion of a larger sheet. The grid consists of small squares, and the strip is oriented vertically. The paper is white with black grid lines. The strip is cut from a larger sheet, as evidenced by the irregular edges on the left and right sides. The grid pattern is consistent throughout the strip, with lines forming a series of small, uniform squares. The strip is positioned against a dark background, which makes the white paper and black grid lines stand out. The overall appearance is that of a standard piece of graph paper used for mathematical or technical drawing.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The man trudged home through the snow. He opened the door of his domicile and entered into the soft warmth and gentle light and fragrant odor of roast beef. His wife came into the hall to greet him after his long day of toil.

"Hello!" she said. "How are you?"

The man sneezed.

"Not very well," he said, after he had dislodged himself of his hat and overcoat and hand-embroidered muffler. He made his way to a chair and sank heavily down and rested his head on his hand. His wife fluttered around.

The man sneezed.

"Why, what's the matter," she said. "I guess I've got the grippe," he muttered.

"Oh! I am sorry. Where do you seem to feel badly," she inquired.

The man sneezed. "My head aches," he said.

She came nigh unto him to see what aching there might be in the gentle hand of woman, but just as she was going to apply the aforementioned gentle hand, the man sneezed violently.

"Maybe you'll feel better after dinner," she said.

"I don't want any dinner," said the man.

And then he sneezed. He was holding his head fiercely all the time.

"You better go to bed," counseled his wife. "and I'll call the doctor."

"I don't want a doctor," said the man.

But he went to bed.

His wife hurried around and applied to his feet a hot water bottle and piled two pairs of blankets on top of him, and then went away. The man placed his unshod feet on the hot receptacle, and then gave a violent kick.

"D— a hot water!" said the man. And then he sneezed.

Newspaper style demands that a dash be left between that "D" and "N," but there was no dash in the man's pronunciation.

The man turned over and sneezed. His wife returned. "Here is a good hot drink for you," she said.

"I don't want a hot drink," the man said.

"But you've got to take something or you'll never get better," said his wife.

The man sneezed. "Do, please, take it," urged his wife. She allowed two tears to gather in her eyes, and she let the left-handed one trickle down her cheek and splash into the drink.

The man had his back turned, however, and he didn't see it, so obviously, there was no need of crying that other perfectly good tear, which could be served for another occasion. "Come on," urged his wife, gently.

The man sneezed.

"I don't want it," said the man, stubbornly, just before he sneezed.

"Oh, dear, please take it," she begged gently. "I don't know what to do for you if you won't do anything that everybody always does for the grippe. Please," she said.

The man sneezed and turned over and took the drink that had nutmeg on the top. It isn't lemonade," said the man, after the first taste.

"Of course it isn't," said his wife. The man wondered where she had learned to mix the thing he was drinking, but he didn't have the strength to it to the last drop and then began to feel hot, for his wife had replaced the hot water bag in an advantageous position.

The man became more hot and more uncomfortable. "Take some of these blankets off," he ordered.

"Oh, no!" said his wife as she came deftly forward and tucked the blankets down close to his neck. "Don't you bulge," she ordered, "and keep the blankets every one on."

The man sneezed and did as he was bid. His wife switched off the lights, and left him while she went to consult the evening paper in regard to the latest developments of the white sales.

"Poor, dear!" she murmured tenderly. The man left alone in the dark sneezed.

MUSICAL DEBUTS.

Miss Mary Bradbury and Miss Senta Erd appear.

A most interesting recital was presented last evening at Steinway hall, by two of the pupils of the Bradbury school of music when Miss Mary Cecilia Bradbury and Miss Senta Erd were heard in a program of piano and violin numbers.

Although the hall of the young musicians have been previously heard in pupils' recitals the program last evening was of much greater pretensions and was heard with great pleasure by many of the friends of the young people. The piano numbers were played by Miss Bradbury and she was heard in a program which included a Bach number, two Schuetz numbers, the famous Beethoven "Moonlight Sonata" and an "Allegro" movement of Beethoven, a Chopin Prelude and an Etude and three numbers by Schubert, Wagner, Gounod and Moszkowski. The demands of the numbers were met by the young player with an adequate comprehension of the technical and temperamental qualities necessary for their interpretation. The Beethoven Sonata was the most pretentious number of the program, and the heavy passages of the number were played with a force and beauty that surprised her audience. In all of the work of the program the promise for a most interesting musical future was held out.

Miss Senta Erd in her violin numbers played charmingly. Both selections were by d'Ambrosia, "Serenade" and "Romance" being chosen. In tone quality and interpretation she was satisfying and her future progress will be watched with interest by musical Duluth.

A large audience of the friends of the young musicians were present.

Dancing Party.

The members of the Duluth club will entertain at a dancing party this evening at Steinway hall and the adjoining club rooms. La Brosse's orchestra will play.

Who Knows?

Will some kind reader please tell me through these columns how to return a baby's white fur robe? I would like to wash it with soap and water. Last fall I tried gasoline. I used five gallons, but it was not a very howling success.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Pure maple sugar, 23 cents a pound. Spinach, 30 cents a peck. Spanish onions, three pounds for 25 cents.

Leaf lettuce, 6 cents a bunch of leaves. Turkeys, 25 cents a pound. Beef tongues, 12 1/2 cents a pound. Fresh trout, 12 1/2 cents a pound. Spare ribs, 12 1/2 cents a pound.

A Spanish onion sandwich? There still are people who will not admit to a liking of onions. In such there is no grain of truth and the hope of developing a latent love for sincerity and simplicity and onions is almost hopeless. That person who has no love of onions in his breast is fit for strategists and spooks; the one who will not admit to a love of a salad will not admit to a love of truth.

Shallots is hopeless for not even the first undeveloped germ of truth lies within him. Onions, three blessed onions, dear, democratic, nerve-soothing, fragrant onions!

tion, both to the story and music, which, like good wine, seems to improve with age.

The story is that of a young, ambitious girl, who gets stage struck and leaves her happy home. She makes good, doing all kinds of work, from ragtime to Juliet, and at last goes back to the dear old home. She is a rollicking girl from start to finish, that's all.

Mrs. Campbell Coming.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell will appear at the Lyceum, Jan. 25.

The Burlesques.

Novelists' is what All, Hunter and All call themselves on the program of the Metropolitan, when they are playing this week. If there is such a word, this trio seems to be all that it implies. Their act is really nothing but nonsense, but it is clever nonsense, and never fails to cause many a hearty laugh.

The Sam Devere company, which is the name of this week's attraction at the "Met," will give a ladies' matinee there tomorrow.

Pre-Inventory Prices.

J. M. Gidding & Co. are holding a Pre-Inventory Rummage Sale on many broken lines which they do not wish to include in the inventory report. See the ad on Page 2.

Do You Enjoy Your Meals?

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

The world wants to smile and be cheerful, and unless you are cheerful and smile, at least occasionally, you will have few friends, fewer opportunities, no success, and you will go down in defeat—defeated by dyspepsia and a bad stomach.

A good and thorough digestion has a quick, wonderful reaction upon the brain. You must have noticed it many times for the brain and stomach are as intimately connected as a needle and its thread, one can hardly be without the other.

If your stomach is slow and lazy in digesting your food, it will produce at once a slow, listless and cloudy influence upon your brain. Mark it! If your stomach has absolutely quit work, and fermentation is poisoning your veins as a result, surely your brain is going to be sluggish and correspondingly depressed. No one need tell you that.

But why continue to suffer all the miseries and torments that a disordered stomach brings you?

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? Where's the cure?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the relief and the cure. Why? Because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion, and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of any kind of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these little Dyspepsia Tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach? Science nowadays can digest food without having to use the stomach for it. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and ferment thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work and you suffer from eruptions, blot, rash, fermentation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, when ever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything that looks and tastes delicious to you. That's life.

Get a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store on earth for 50c a package.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address P. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

AKELEY MAN IS ELECTED

Chairman of the Hubbard County Board of Commissioners.

Well-Known Lumberman to Preside Over Affairs of County.

Akeley, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Hubbard county commissioners' meeting, Harry W. Day of Akeley was elected chairman, and A. E. Jondahl, vice chairman. O. B. Culver of Nevis was appointed the purchasing agent for 1908. Joseph Nixon of Nevis and Akeley was appointed assessor of Steamboat River district and this district was added to Akeley township for voting.

The bounty for wolves, after much discussion, was set at $250 for full-grown animals and $1 for cubs. This will greatly decrease the amount paid this year for bounties, and this sum is so low as to make it scarcely worth while to take the trouble.

The Park Rapids Clipper was given the county printing.

County Supt. of Schools D. R. Bradford, had his salary set at $800 for the year. There have been several new schools added to the county's list, which are in excellent condition. The county attorney's salary was set at $3,000 for the year. The sum of $100 was voted for a deputy treasurer. It was decided to meet on Feb. 10 and Oct. 6.

The new chairman, Harry W. Day of Akeley, is a man of exceptional executive ability and a man of political prestige. He is a timber cruiser and a lumberman, and has lived in Akeley for years.

PROF. B. M. REYNOLDS,

Well-Known Minnesota Educator, is Dead in Louisiana.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph E. Reynolds of the staff of the Free Press, has received a telegram from Morgan City, La., telling of the death, in a hospital there, of his father, Prof. B. M. Reynolds of Northfield, Minn., long prominent in the educational affairs of the state.

Prof. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds were en route from Illinois, where they had been visiting, to Los Angeles, Cal., where Mr. Reynolds was taken ill on the train and removed to a hospital at Morgan City, La. His illness was beyond medical aid, and he died in a short time. Mr. Reynolds was 52, a native of New England, a graduate of Dartmouth and came to the West in the early '60s, long being identified with educational affairs in Wisconsin and Minnesota, having been superintendent of schools at Madison, La Crosse, Fairbault, Northfield and Pergus Falls. He was once president of the Wisconsin Educational association. He moved to Northfield in the early '80s, and for six years was superintendent of schools in Rice county.

Prof. Reynolds was among the more prominent educators in the Northwest. He was twice married. His first wife, whose maiden name was Mary Moore, died in Fairbault in 1883. In 1889 he was married to Miss Melissa Ritter of Mattoon, Ill., who survives him. Mr. Reynolds was the father of four children, Mrs. E. C. Stevens of La Crosse, R. E. Reynolds of St. Paul, J. E. Reynolds of Mankato, and Miss Grace Reynolds, who was a sister at Child's hospital, an Episcopal institution at Albany, N. Y., and she died there in 1895, having sacrificed a life to the care of the sick.

ESCAPED LYNNING.

Brutal Fins, Who Assaulted Fellow Countrymen, Are Taken.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a pursuit of several miles the men chasing the two Finns who horribly cut Emil Navella, a fellow countryman, near Schley, captured the pair and took them to the lockup at Bena. The crowd that became infuriated over the dastardly attack upon Navella was considerably worked up and for a time it looked as though a lynching bee was to be pulled off.

They are both Finlanders unable to speak English. Names could not be ascertained. The three had been fighting, and were sober. They finally compromised, and said that their friendship was broken by the death of Navella. The Finns jumped on Navella, and committed the dastardly act, then fled, pursued by the mob. Navella is in a hospital here, still unconscious, his life being despaired of. It took the doctors four hours to sew up his cuts. His tongue is almost entirely cut out.

CONDUCTOR IS

AFTER DAMAGES

Wife's Affections.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another suit for alienating the affections of a wife has been instituted in the local courts. Saunders E. Reid, a Great Northern conductor living at Minot, a former resident of this city, asks for $10,000 from B. S. Bjorklund, a local real estate man and former chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

The complaint alleges that some time between July 9 and 25, 1907, Mr. Reid was denied the affections of his wife, due to false insinuations made regarding him by Mr. Bjorklund, who poisoned the mind of Mrs. Reid. The complaint further alleges that Mr. Bjorklund was in a wine room in East Grand Forks, where he further received Mrs. Reid so as to deny the plaintiff the proper affection and fellowship that his wife should bear towards him.

On these charges, the plaintiff asks that judgment be granted for $10,000 damages.

HELD TO THE GRAND JURY

Bound Over.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Metcalf, who shot at Attorney Hamill yesterday, through her attorney waived examination when arraigned before United States Commissioner Fiske, and was held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $1,000. Patrick H. O'Donnell, who appeared for Mrs. Metcalf, said that he had known the woman for some time as "Mrs. Thomas" and that he had never before heard the name Metcalf associated with her. He said he knew almost nothing of her history.

United States District Attorney Sims who returned from Washington today gave out a statement in which he said: "From what I have gathered from my assistants I understand that the woman had planned to shoot Attorney Hamill while he was making his closing argument in the Walsh trial, but she was misinformed as to the day on which he was to address the jury and the plan failed for this reason."

Secrecy Observed.
The secrecy observed by federal officials with reference to the affair was said to have been due to a fear on the part of the government representatives that in the event of a conviction of John R. Walsh, the attempted shooting, occurring as it did, close to the court room where the trial was in progress and having interrupted the proceedings temporarily might be considered sufficient grounds for a revocation by a higher court by reason of having discredited the jurors in the case. Attorney Sims declared that the difficulty between Mrs. Metcalf and Attorney Hamill was a private dispute and had no connection with the Walsh trial, and that in his opinion the incident could not possibly affect the trial.

Attorney E. C. Ritscher, of Walsh's counsel, also issued a statement relative to the shooting on behalf of Mr. Hamill, in which he said that the trouble which Mrs. Metcalf believed she had against an estate in St. Louis and which she wished to have adjusted by Hamill in this connection. Mr. Ritscher said Mrs. Metcalf became a frequent caller at Hamill's office during the last few years.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN THE WALSH CASE.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Attorney Miller concluded his argument in defense of John R. Walsh charged with manslaughter, playing bank funds. He said Mr. Walsh's investment were questions of judgment entirely and that Mr. Walsh's judgment was not altogether bad. Attorney Ritscher will deliver the final defending address to the jury.

WANTS BIG SLICE TAKEN FROM MINE VALUATIONS

Steel Corporation Asks Reduction of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Claims Figures of State Tax Commission Were Not Consistent.

Thomas F. Cole, Joseph B. Cotton and George D. Swift, representing the Oliver Mining company and subsidiary companies, appeared before the county board this afternoon and asked for an abatement of valuations on several of the mining properties on the range, to the total amount of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Among the properties upon which an abatement is asked are the Hull-Rust, the Mountain Iron, the Munro-Tenney, the Adams and other mines. Mr. Cole and Mr. Cotton, who explained the situation to the board, claim that the state tax commission, which is a body provided for by the last legislature, with a view to eventually doing away with the state board of equalization, fixing the valuation of the mines in the ground, reporting the classification and qualities, figured entirely too high, and that the figures are not consistent.

It is further claimed that the mining properties are asked to pay three and four times the taxes that they should be asked to pay, in comparison with the valuations fixed upon other taxable properties in the state.

Mr. Cotton, in his talk, stated that the iron ore roads were paying into the state treasury more than $1,000,000.

1000 in gross earnings tax, which is one-third or one-half the entire amount of gross earnings tax paid the state by all the railroads in Minnesota. He said that if the state were fair to the county of St. Louis, nine-tenths of this amount would go to this county, instead of being retained by the state. He further stated that if it were not for the ore business the roads would not be in existence, and said the reduction asked for was based on the classification of the tax commission itself.

He asserted that the commission, in fixing valuations, had tackled a pretty big proposition, one that had been bothering the iron companies for years, and one which they had been working on for years, and that it was entirely natural that the commission should make some errors in connection with the matter. He said the commission had based values on the profits received during the year 1917, during which year operations of this kind reached the crest of prosperity.

W. D. Bailey appeared as the representative of a number of independent mining companies, and said that he was going to ask for a number of abatements on independent properties, on the same grounds as the claims of the Oliver company were based on.

Case Is Dismissed.

The personal injury case of William Luckow against the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company has been dismissed from the district court by the stipulation of the parties. The dismissal is based on the fact that A. Anderson represented the plaintiff.

Crusaders Defeated.

In a game characterized by exceptionally fast playing, the Young Men's society of the St. Clement's church defeated the students of St. Ignace's school and other public buildings. It should be built in spiral form, with landings at each twenty-five or thirty feet. Then a man would have some footing, and an ordinary individual, as myself, or members of the board of public works, would have an opportunity to go up once in a while.

During the year 1917 the bridge was operated continually, with the exception of a few hours on two different occasions, when lightning barred out the fuses. The wire netting over the car gives protection against both heads and wheels, and the wire was a very satisfactory one in the operation of the immense conveyer.

STAIRWAY FOR AERIAL BRIDGE

City Engineer Says Acro-
Machinery.

In his annual report to the city council, City Engineer T. F. McGilvray will again urge the necessity of an iron stairway from the platform of the car of the aerial bridge to the machinery and cranes at the top, to replace the ladder, which has a sheer perpendicular height of 135 feet from the car to the aerial machinery. That, with the installation of a telephone in the car of the bridge, will be the only recommendation to be made in regard to the bridge.

"The hiring of an acrobat to oil the workings of the car shouldn't be necessary, but it is under the present conditions," said Mr. McGilvray, this morning, in explaining his project. "A man with ordinary nerves couldn't attempt the ascent of that perpendicular ladder, 135 feet high, on a clear day, not to say when the wind is blowing a gale. This man, who oils the machinery, must shut up that ladder in any kind of weather, at the risk of his life and a heavy damage suit against the city."

"I suggest that an iron stairway be constructed, of somewhat the same material as is used in fire escapes for schools and other public buildings. It should be built in spiral form, with landings at each twenty-five or thirty feet. Then a man would have some footing, and an ordinary individual, as myself, or members of the board of public works, would have an opportunity to go up once in a while."

I have brought this matter before the council on former occasions, and they failed to act on it. The stairway would cost about $1,000. If a man should fall from the present ladder, as he may any day, the city would probably be compelled to pay much more than that in damages. The old ferry service cost the city $1,000 or $2,000 a year. It could certainly afford to pay $1,000 for a stairway on the bridge, which costs only about $5,000 a year to operate."

In support of the suggestion that a telephone be placed in the car, Mr. McGilvray pointed out that the car is in the middle of the channel, and without facilities of communication with the shore, it would be an exceedingly unpleasant one. He suggested that the telephone would give connection with the shore's residence and the offices of the city officials, and would be an immense convenience if anything should go wrong.

During the year 1917 the bridge was operated continually, with the exception of a few hours on two different occasions, when lightning barred out the fuses. The wire netting over the car gives protection against both heads and wheels, and the wire was a very satisfactory one in the operation of the immense conveyer.

SUPERIOR NEWS LONG TERM FOR NEGRO

Winlock Pleads Guilty to Murder in Second Degree.

Is Given Sentence of Nineteen Years in State Prison.

William Winlock, the negro who has been on trial for the murder of Albert Nozmann, brewery teamster, who was shot Nov. 27, while watching a fight between Winlock and William Harris, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, this morning, and was given a sentence of nineteen years.

Winlock was on trial for murder in the first degree, but this morning he was given the charge to plead guilty to the charge of murder in the second degree, which he did, although his attorney advised him against doing so. The negro seemed to think the trial was against him, and so decided to take a sentence of not more than twenty-five years against a chance of receiving a life sentence, the punishment for murder in the first degree. The punishment for murder in the second degree is imprisonment for not less than fourteen years, and not more than twenty-five years.

He was sentenced to nineteen years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary, where he will be taken tonight to start serving his term.

PIONEER RESIDENTS DIE.

Queen Pass Away.

Two pioneer residents of Superior passed away yesterday. Thomas J. Nolan, aged 88 years, died at St. Mary's hospital. He came to Superior in 1888 from Stillwater, Minn., and engaged in the real estate business. He owned a large amount of property in Superior during the boom days and like many others was hard hit when the boom collapsed. For this reason he lived here for the last several years. He was a well-known and respected citizen, and was employed by the city as street foreman in the Sixth ward.

Mrs. Catherine McQueen, wife of Angus McQueen, died at the family residence, 1224 Clough avenue, of pneumonia. The deceased was 48 years old. She came to Superior from Canada in 1890. Mrs. McQueen is survived by her husband, two daughters and two sons.

Schultz Deals Punishment.

Joseph Schultz, the escaped prisoner from the Green Bay reformatory, who was recaptured at his mother's residence Monday, drags his return to the reformatory. He is a very bad punishment for escaped prisoners is severe and he will probably be tied up in his cell by the warden for about two weeks and will be fed on bread and water. Schultz wishes he had been sent to the penitentiary rather than to the reformatory. Although in prison garb from the time he escaped until he got home, he escaped detection. He got to Superior by beating trains.

Soldiers Are Banquetted.

Capt. E. Rosier, commanding officer of Company I of the Wisconsin National Guards, entertained the members of the company at an elaborate banquet at the Army last evening, following the regular drill. The banquet was one promised the company if the members would become proficient in the tactics and aim for a higher standing among the militia companies. During the past year Company I has had a fine record in point of general excellence and drill work and the banquet was given in recognition of the efforts of the soldiers.

The Club Rooms at St. Luke's to be Opened Next Week.

The opening of the club rooms for girls in St. Luke's Episcopal church, in the West end, which was to have been held this evening has been postponed a week.

The club work is to be carried on by members of the Duluth Gymnasium club, the Twentieth Century club and members of St. Luke's parish, and they have been making preparations for the opening reception this evening. But the carpenters have not finished their labors at the church, so it was found necessary to call the affair off until next Wednesday evening.

IS CRUSHED BY WHEELS

Arthur Rose Falls From Hose Wagon and Is Killed.

Heavy Steamer Passes Over Body as It Lies in Road.

As the hose wagon swung around the corner of Eighth avenue west on to Superior street, while the fire department from headquarters was responding to an alarm from the West end, about 1 o'clock this morning, Arthur Rose, a fireman, was jarred from his place and dashed to the ground. The steamer, following closely behind, ran over the prostrate man and death must have been almost instantaneous.

Hans Erickson, a telephone operator at headquarters, while going to the fire a few minutes later, came upon the body of Rose lying in the middle of the street. He satisfied himself that the man was dead, notified Chief Black, and the remains were removed to Stewart's undertaking rooms. J. W. Walsh, who was in charge of the hose wagon, saw Rose pitch from the swaying vehicle, but could not reach the driver to stop the horses before they were too far away to be of any assistance. The driver of the fire engine saw nothing in the darkness, as he turned the corner, and the wheels of the heavy steamer crushed the man terribly about the head and body. Rose was 28 years of age, and was appointed to the department three or four months ago. He leaves a wife and one child, living at 32 Tenth avenue west. He also has a brother in the department at headquarters. The alarm, in responding to which Rose lost his life, was from the confectionery store of Harry Kernes, at 201 West Superior street, where a small blaze had broken out in the roof. The damage was nominal.

OLD DIRECTORS RETURNED.

No Changes in Personnel of National Bank Boards.

As announced in last evening's Herald, there was no change in the personnel of the board of directors of either of the national banks, at the elections held yesterday afternoon. The City National returned its present officers, and the board of directors of the First National will probably elect its present officers at the meeting of the board of directors, to be held next Saturday.

Both of the institutions were found to be in a most prosperous condition. No changes are contemplated in the financial systems of the banks, but a continuance of the system whereby the depositors of the banks will be assured of a protection of their interests, in the increase of the reserve funds and undivided profits, rather than an increase of dividends, will be the future policy, as it has been the policy of the directors in the past.

The Duluth Savings bank will hold its annual election Saturday.

ANOTHER MISSISSIPPI BRIDGE. Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the city council Monday evening a resolution was presented authorizing the construction of a steel wagon bridge across the Mississippi river, at the narrows between Lakes Irving and Bemidji, at a cost not to exceed $7,000. It being understood that Bemidji county will pay part of the cost. The resolution also provided that the question be submitted to the voters at the general city election to be held on Feb. 12.

THREE ARE ATTACKED BY THE SUICIDE MANIA

Attempt to Take Their Own Lives—Two Succeed.

Prompt Work of Physician Saves Life of E. M. Clark.

The suicide microbes did deadly work in Duluth yesterday. It attacked three and in two cases it was fatal. In the other, the man, who started on the journey to the other world via the morphine route, was overhauled and brought back to life by a fortunate discovery and the prompt aid of a physician.

E. M. Clark, a former piano salesman, attempted to end his life by taking morphine last night, at the new Christopher hotel on First street.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the proprietor of the hotel heard somebody fall in Mr. Clark's room, and he broke open the door to find Clark lying on the floor. A physician was hastily summoned, and for three hours the doctor and the hotel man worked over the unconscious form. They finally succeeded in bringing him from his stupor, and this morning he was pronounced out of danger. He will be sent to the hospital, however, to recover from the effects of the drug.

Mr. Clark was an unmarried man and was formerly employed by the Porter Music company as a piano salesman. He lost his position, however, and his despondency is believed to have been partly caused by that.

Two suicides were reported yesterday.

Estranged from the relatives he loved and unable to return to them, at the old home in Canada, Fred Lefevre, a cruiser, became so despondent last night that he committed suicide in his room at the Elk's hotel, on the Bowery, shortly after 10 o'clock, shooting himself twice in the head. He died from the wounds at 3 o'clock this morning, at St. Mary's hospital.

Lefevre came to Duluth from the woods about a week ago and started in to have a merry time. He had plenty of money and he spent it freely. Most of the time he was under the influence of liquor and he was happy. During the day, however, the police discovered another case of suicide, which had taken place twenty-four hours previously. The body of John Arnott, a laborer, was found on the bed in his room in the rear of 124 St. Croix avenue. Beside the remains was a bottle of laudanum, which explained the method of Arnott's demise.

Since his wife's death three months ago, Arnott, it is said, was very despondent and had been drinking heavily. When found by the police yesterday, the body was fully dressed and everything pointed to suicide.

The body was taken to Durkan & Crawford's undertaking rooms. They have notified Arnott's brother, who lives at Rosanna, Ont.

Danielson and Gilbert Maggie Medium, Green Will Go on Mat at Superior. Pacer, Leads Field

Proctor Man is After O. F. and Dr. D. Out Mauritz Harris Light-weight Title. for First Time This Season.

Tonight, at Superior, one of the most important heavyweights wrestling matches of the year will be held, when Fred Gilbert of Superior, and Andrew Danielson, two of the most promising contenders for the Head of the Lakes championship, will meet on the mat. The winner will meet Emil Peterson, who holds the title in the heavy-weight class at present.

Danielson and Gilbert have both shown wrestling ability and it's a toss up between them for tonight's match. The West end man has improved wonderfully since his first match with Emil Peterson early last fall. He wasn't disheartened by his defeat at that time, but went ahead and trained and when he met the champion at Esplanade, Mich., some time later, he gave Peterson a hard match.

Gilbert is practically unknown as to ability with heavyweights. He showed good form in a match with Mauritz Harris, a lightweight, some time ago at the Metropolitan Opera house, and those who have been training him say he is well able to cope with Danielson.

Gilbert has the call on weight. He will go on the mat weighing about 180 pounds, while Danielson will weigh in at 165 pounds. The match will be catch-as-catch-can for two in three falls. The men have a side bet of $25 up and the winner will take the gate receipts.

Mauritz Harris, the lightweight, has finally found somebody of his weight, who is willing to take him on and put up some money on chances of victory. C. S. Sutter of Superior is the man who will go after Harris' title at the Met Friday night of this week.

Sutter must be a mighty good wrestler, or he is overestimating himself. There have been some pretty fair lightweights around the Head of the Lakes and none of them have been able to take care of Harris. Harris is small, but he knows the wrestling game and his wonderful strength gives him an advantage over other men of his weight. He has a fair claim to the title in Northern Minnesota and the Proctor people are anxious to see their man gain it. They are backing Sutter to the limit and the match holds considerable interest for local followers of the sport.

SMITH TAKES UP HARRY WEBB

Local Skater Says He Will Race at Any Time.

Harry Webb's challenge to Duluth skaters has brought Ed Smith out, and there is a possibility that something will start in the speed skating line in Duluth. Smith questions Webb's right to the championship of Duluth and incidentally offers to race Webb any place, any time, for any amount of money. He has been to Duluth and says in his letter, "I believe I should be able to defeat Webb. I believe that Carl Airoth or I can defeat Rankin, and I, for one, will take on either him or Webb at any time."

"I will skate Webb as soon as he thinks he can find a place and get his skates on. If he has any money to put up, so much the better. I will take today as I ever was, and so is Carl Airoth. Charlie Rankin, too, I believe, is showing good form in the championship of Duluth. I believe that Carl Airoth or I can defeat Rankin, and I, for one, will take on either him or Webb at any time."

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tissues and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight, but as the blood becomes more and more saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism, as permanent because the real cause of the disease has been removed. Special book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

GLEAMS in the SPORTING FORB.

For the second time this season, a Superior athletic team has done signal service for the cause of a similar group of Duluth young people. The tie and near Northern Hockey team encountered in its game Monday night with the Columbus of Superior was better for them than a whole season of practice. Again the old old lesson of likelihood of defeat. The lesson was taught the Y. M. C. A. team basketball team last Thursday night at Superior. The Columbus did likewise for the Northern hockey.

Over-confidence is the one weight which an athletic team cannot afford to carry. The Northern boys went into the game with Superior confident of success. They admit the fact now they thought it would be easy picking and started under the hands of the Columbus. The surprise of realization that they were up against a harder proposition than they bargained for, threw them off their balance. They didn't play the game of which they are capable, because they had set out to win, they didn't start under the hands of the Columbus. The surprise of realization that they were up against a harder proposition than they bargained for, threw them off their balance. They didn't play the game of which they are capable, because they had set out to win, they didn't start under the hands of the Columbus.

In sporting parlance, the Northern Hockey team was developing a nice case of "over-confidence." They didn't start under the hands of the Columbus. The surprise of realization that they were up against a harder proposition than they bargained for, threw them off their balance. They didn't play the game of which they are capable, because they had set out to win, they didn't start under the hands of the Columbus.

The University of Michigan, athletically speaking, is enrolling the great team of the year. The team has started on a tour across the river between the West and the East. Stockyards Boy Gives Bert Keyes Beating at Boston.

Boston, Jan. 15.—"Packy" McFarland of Chicago had the better of "Bert" Keyes of New York in a 12-round boxing bout at the Armory Athletic association last night. McFarland proved himself much the cleverer of the two, and punished his man badly in each round. Keyes took a terrific beating, but was so strong that he showed no signs of it at the finish.

LA GRIPPE RACING

WORST EPIDEMIC SINCE '89—THOUSANDS OF VICTIMS.

OPINIONS OF EMINENT PHYSICIANS REGARDING THIS DISEASE.

The Grip Rampant.

It is years since the malady was so rampant. The worst epidemic since 1889 is being experienced in Duluth.

Opinions of Eminent Medical Men.

The question asked by everyone who is not a victim to its ravages is, "What is the grip and what are its effects?"

Quinine as a Preventive.

Dr. William Broadbent, a famous English physician, says: "From the time of the first invasion of influenza (the grip) I have found that the best remedy was quinine. I have had opportunities of obtaining extraordinary evidence of its protective power. In a large public school, near London, the girls and mistresses took their morning dose of quinine, but the servants were forgotten. The result was that scarcely a girl or mistress suffered, while the servants were all down with influenza (the grip)."

Treatment.

Rest, warmth and quiet are the three sovereign remedies for this disease, and the best preventives of its secondary complications. Go to bed and remain in bed until well on the way toward recovery. Two or three days in bed when you machinery would have been better than two or three weeks later.

Children, while prone to the disease, enjoy comparative immunity from its complications and dangers.

Dr. John Moore, Dublin, one of the most eminent physicians in Ireland, says: "In adults, as a rule, the attack comes on with lightning-like speed. A person in apparently perfect health is suddenly overcome by a feeling of general depression and discomfort. He feels chilly or shakes with a rigor worthy of an ague chill; his head aches; there are pains in his eye-balls or behind the eyes. The patient may temporarily suffer the loss of special senses—smell, taste and some times hearing. The grip shows a decided tendency to relapse, a feature to which the indirect fatality of the disease is due. The worst epidemic since 1889 is being experienced in Duluth. Physicians say that thousands are prostrated by pneumonia and from the grip. Throughout the city probably every home is affected in some way. Like conditions, though not so serious, prevail in many other places, and it is certain to be general, as the grip is highly infectious."

CONFIDENCE MISPLACED

Clerk Fails to Take Opportunity Given Him to Reform.

Continues Drinking and Police Arrest Him on Old Charge.

Mander Larson, clerk in A. H. Donald's general store, 128 South Third street, was this morning taken to the county jail, where he will spend thirty days for stealing $25 from his employer.

Larson, a man of 27, started on a prolonged spree at Christmas time. He became short of funds, and in his capacity of clerk appropriated $25 to continue his drinking. He was charged with the theft and arrested on Jan. 8. At his trial before Judge Black he promised to reform, and the money he had taken was freed at the suggestion of Mr. Donald, who said he believed the man to be absolutely honest, when rational and not under the influence of drink, and that his taking the money was probably due to his continued drinking. He also stated that the young man was not addicted to the habit of drinking.

Mr. Donald further showed his belief in Larson by offering to take him back into the store, but he refused to do so, and the money was probably due to his continued drinking. He also stated that the young man was not addicted to the habit of drinking.

Finally, yesterday morning the police received word that Larson was becoming "dependent," was acting queerly and had had a note at the store in the morning when he started out, saying that he was "on the road to hardly believe that after a month of treatment, his appetite for strong drink had been overcome. He had a fight against the bar and started on test No. 2. It ended the same way as the first, and he was again arrested on this morning. He admitted the tests had failed and his own will had failed to back him up to the test.

"I can't stand as much as I could before, Your Honor," he said in explanation of his total helplessness when arrested.

Eva Larson, a colored lady, who had absorbed too much booze last night, sat far in the back of the room, unheeding of the police, and asked the judge "to go on and get the money."

Eve drew $1 and costs, Martin Kane drew $5 and costs, Floyd Henderson $5 or seven days, and two plain drunks were let off with the minimum.

Importation of Opium Into Philippines Soon to Cease.

The Effect on the Natives is Largely Problematical.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Within a little over a month's time the law prohibiting the importation of opium into the Philippines will become effective, and in anticipation of that important event, there is much speculation among the Filipinos in regard to the probable effect of the law. A large quantity of opium is consumed in the islands, mainly by the large Chinese element, but the baneful habit of opium smoking has been rapidly extending among the native Filipinos, and even among the Americans.

Congress has passed an act intended to correct the evil, but there is a great doubt of the ability of the Philippine government to enforce the law. The act is intended to prevent the importation of opium after that date. Attention is called to the fact that the insular authorities have already imported a quantity of opium after that date. Attention is called to the fact that the insular authorities have already imported a quantity of opium after that date.

Collector Hord calls attention to the large loss of revenue which the government will suffer if the law is not enforced. He says that at present there are no less than 20,000 opium smokers in the islands, who pay annually 5,000,000 pesos for opium to the retail dealer. This requires the importation annually of 100,000 kilograms of the drug, and the collector urges that that amount be reduced to a minimum, or the use of opium entirely abolished.

Report Given Flat Denial.

By Both Steel Corporation and Wisconsin Central President.

New York, Jan. 16.—The reports that the United States Steel corporation has bought the Wisconsin Central Railway company are officially denied at the office of the Steel corporation in this city, where it is said that absolutely no truth in the report exists and that the United States Steel corporation is not buying any railroad at present.

At the office of the Wisconsin Central, President W. A. Bradford officially denied the report and said that no negotiations were even pending for the sale of the road.

Ends in Marriage of Boatwain to New York Girl.

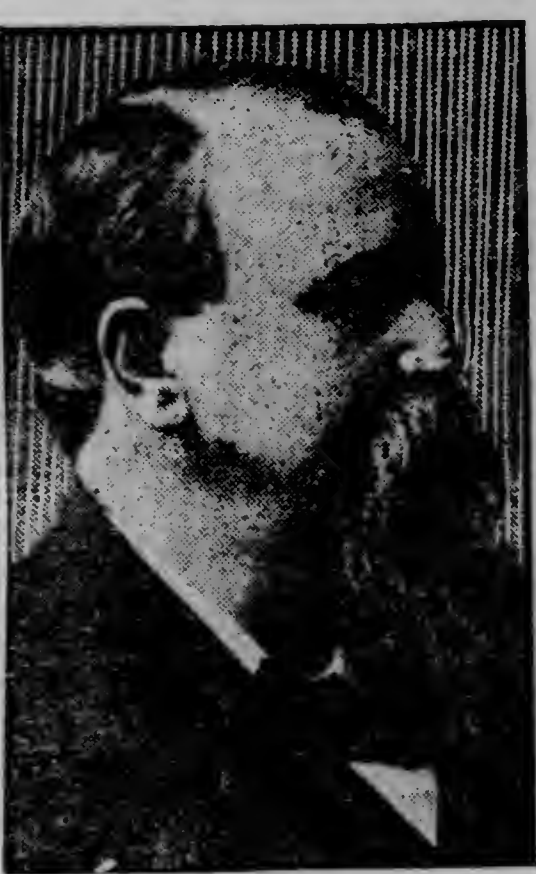

New York, Jan. 16.—A pretty romance was revealed yesterday when a marriage license was issued to John Joseph Rochford, boatwain of the naval receiving ship Hancock, and Miss Gertrude Albers, niece of one of the best known captains in the North German Lloyd service. Three years ago Miss Albers went with girl friends to the Brooklyn navy yard to see a battleship then there. Rochford was detailed to show them over the ship. He fell in love with Miss Albers, and since then has been devoting much of his spare time to inducing her to marry him. Rochford last fall was much complimented on his bravery when he boarded a tug, carrying a quantity of ammunition, which had caught fire. He succeeded in throwing all of the ammunition into the bay before the fire reached it, and only left the tug as it sank.

NO REDUCTION IN PRICE OF DIAMONDS.

New York, Jan. 16.—There is to be no reduction in the price of diamonds, according to an announcement made by one of the largest diamond importing houses. It is stated that all importers have received word from the diamond syndicate in London, which controls 85 per cent of the great falling off in sales within the past few months.

WOMEN ARE CURIOUS. New York, Jan. 16.—The approaching marriage of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Laszlo Szechenyi is attracting so much attention that scores of women are constantly congregated about the Vanderbilt home, corner of Fifth avenue and West Fifty-seventh street, hoping for a chance to get a look at the bride and her titled fiance.

JOHN D. DOUBLES HIS HOUSE GUARDS

New York, Jan. 16.—Twice within a week there have been robberies at Pocantico Hills, near the estate of John D. Rockefeller. The residents of the district have formed a vigilance committee, and it is stated that Mr. Rockefeller has doubled the guards that always patrol the grounds near his house. Several dogs are also used at night about the house as guards.

BURYING THE DEAD

Many Men Preparing Bodies at Boyertown for Grave.

Remains of More Than Fifty Will Never be Identified.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 16.—This little borough, which lost one-fifteenth of its population in the Opera house horror Monday night, today turned to the task of burying its dead. Because of the condition of most of the bodies, the borough authorities have asked the bereaved relatives to bury the dead within three days. All night long scores of men worked in the morgues preparing the identified bodies for removal to their late homes or to the cemetery. As early as 5 o'clock a long line of death wagons moved here and there about the town distributing the corpses and before nightfall most of the dead will be ready for interment.

Hitch in Removing Bodies. There was a slight hitch in the work of removing bodies from the morgues through the action of Coroner Strasser forbidding the removal of any bodies during his absence. This was due to a mixup in the identification of the body of a boy. There were three

THE SWEDISH PARLIAMENT

Formally Opened by King Gustave With Simple Ceremonies.

Stockholm, Jan. 16.—The formal opening of the first parliament under the reign of King Gustave took place in this city today with simple ceremonies. King Gustave, who was present, in the speech from the throne, referring to the heavy responsibility that devolved upon him with the death of King Oscar, promised a whole-hearted zeal for the prosperity and progress of the fatherland, always to try and fulfill his duty. "It is my hope," the king said, "in both good and evil days to be supported by my Swedish people in the common work for the true weal of the fatherland." Continuing his majesty announced that the suffrage bill adopted at the last session of the rigsdag would be resubmitted to the present house for final approval, but he said there was no intention of giving the franchise to women for the present. Special commissioners are considering a joint scheme of naval and military national defense, as well as the question of the relations between employers and workmen.

DOGS ARE TRAINED

To Act as Policemen in City of New York.

Will Run Down a Man and Seize Him by Leg.

New York, Jan. 16.—The three Belgian hounds and the American Alredale, which have been for some time undergoing training in the duties of policemen have about finished their education and within a few days they will be put on post in the outlying districts. They will be the first dogs ever used by the New York police. They have been taught to obey implicitly any man in a police uniform, but to have nothing to do with an ununiformed man. They will answer a police whistle, will go to the aid of a policeman attacked and run down any man who attempts to run away from a policeman. They have been taught to seize the man whom they are after by the legs and throw him, keeping guard over him until a uniformed policeman arrives. The department is much interested in the experiment, dogs having proved very valuable in police work in European cities.

MANUFACTURERS OF SOFT DRINKS

Believe That State License Would Raise Standard of Goods.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manufacturers of soft drinks, as well as those who concoct hard liquor in Minnesota, may be compelled to take out a license, if the suggestion made and discussed at the ninth annual meeting of the Minnesota Bottlers' association, held at the Sherburne hotel, is carried out. The view was expressed that if all bottlers were compelled to take out a license it would raise the standard of the business, and an attempt may be made to have a law passed requiring this at the next session of the legislature.

Plans for checking the practice adopted by some bottlers of filling the first bottle that comes to hand when they are recharging bottles, without regard to the ownership of the receptacle, were also discussed. Before adjourning, the association elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, J. B. Ries of Shakopee, vice president, Nicholas Peterson of Mankato; secretary-treasurer, A. W. Frewey of St. Paul. With J. G. Wardell of St. Paul and Joseph J. Michels of Minneapolis, these officers constitute the board of directors. Last evening the members of the association enjoyed a banquet at the hotel, and this was followed by a theater party.

IT'S AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NOBODY GOOD.

WITNESSES CONTINUE TO TELL OF IRRATIONALITY OF YOUNG HARRY THAW

The Family Butler Relates Incidents of His Home Life.

Former Teacher Testifies to His Action in Private School.

Letter From Mother Expressing Fears of Insanity is Read.

New York, Jan. 16.—August Weber, who was butler in the house occupied by the Thaws in 1906 in New York, resumed the stand in the Thaw trial today to finish his story begun yesterday. Little incidents in Thaw's life at that time were recalled by the butler, incidents of his nervousness, his forgetfulness and his seeming irresponsibility, are counted on by the defense to show that for a long time preceding the actual shooting of Witte, Harry Thaw was mentally irresponsible. It is evidently the defense's object to bring before the jury every person who knew Thaw, who is prepared to detail any incident which might tend to convince the jury that the defendant was irrational. Weber was asked by Mr. Littleton of the defense if Thaw's actions as he observed them while he was employed in the Washington and Pittsburgh homes impressed him as rational or irrational. "Irrational," replied the witness promptly. District Attorney Jerome then began

TAINTED CHICKEN POISONS FOUR

Mayor Smith and Family of St. Paul Seriously Ill.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It became known today that Mayor Robert A. Smith, Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Copley, their son-in-law and daughter, have been seriously ill for two or three days from the effects of ptomaine poisoning, as a result of eating tainted chicken at a Sunday dinner at the Copley home. They were so ill Sunday afternoon that all, except Mr. Copley, were compelled to go to bed under the care of a physician, but are now out of danger. Mayor Smith has not been able to be at his office this week.

HER IDENTITY IS REVEALED

Mrs. Metcalf is Wife of Former Foreman of Railroad.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The Tribune today says: The mystery of the identity of Mrs. Thomas Metcalf, who on Tuesday attempted to kill Samuel R. Hamill, one of the John R. Walsh attorneys, was cleared up last night.

Mrs. Metcalf is the wife of a former foreman of railroad construction on the Western Indiana. His present whereabouts is not revealed in the disentanglement of the web of mystery surrounding the case. That he was a man of intemperate habits several of Mrs. Metcalf's friends allege. He lost his place on the railroad a year ago because of the suspension of construction work. Previous to that, however—about two years ago—the pair separated.

The Metcalf alliance was the woman's second matrimonial experience. She was divorced six or seven years ago from Jefferson Morris of Denver, to whom she was married seventeen years ago. Her maiden name was Beatrice Burns, and she was the daughter of Forrest Burns of Covington, Ky. In her youth she lived in Terre Haute, and it was during her residence there that she is supposed to have met Lawyer Hamill.

MARRIED TO AN ACTRESS

Charles Albert of Minneapolis Has Wedded Sarah Truax.

She Has Given Up the Stage After Notable Career.

Minneapolis, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Stanley Albert, aged 25, an attorney, left Minneapolis for Chicago Saturday, where, at noon, he became the husband of Sarah Truax, the well-known actress. The piece of the wedding was kept secret, but it is known that Bishop Samuel Fallows of the Episcopal church performed the ceremony at the residence of friends of Miss Truax, in the Kenwood district of Chicago. The maid of honor was Ruth Winnifred Albert, sister of the groom, and the best man was Howard Van Campen of Minneapolis.

Miss Truax has given up the stage for Mr. Albert. Her last engagement was in "The Spider's Web." She appeared for the last time on any stage Dec. 28, 1907, in San Francisco. Miss Truax's most notable achievement, according to critics, was her presentation of Henriette to the Louise of Grace George, in the most notable revival, with an all-star cast, of "The Two Orphans," in 1904. After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Albert will live in Minneapolis. Mr. Albert and Miss Truax first met at the Minneapolis club, during the presentation here of "The Two Orphans."

WOMAN ROBBED IN PULLMAN CAR

Man Steals $6,000 Worth of Jewels While She Sleeps.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Acting upon a report made by Mrs. Rose Baranov, wife of a Dallas, Tex., jeweler, that she had been robbed of a Pullman car of $6,000 worth of jewels, the Chicago police today searched through every passenger in the city in an effort to find the gems. Mrs. Baranov told the police that while asleep in her Pullman car in a Pennsylvania train entering the city, a man crept to her berth and deftly removed the string of a chamois skin bag fastened about her neck, and escaped with the booty. Mrs. Baranov believed that she saw a man, believed to have been the thief, leap from the train as it was running slowly through the railroad yards near the station.

Nothing New in the Boilermakers' Situation Until Meeting.

There have been no new developments in the boilermakers' situation during the last two days, and it is not expected there will be anything new in this connection before Saturday evening, when a meeting of the union will be held. At that time it will be decided whether the men shall continue without any special agreement with the employers or whether they shall strike in an effort to compel the boiler shops to recognize the union. The employers, it is claimed, are willing the men should continue working at the present scale of wages, but claim they will sign an agreement and will hereafter recognize no union. The general lockout situation apparently remains unchanged. Both sides seem content to let matters rest as they are. The union men say they are getting along very nicely, and that they have assurance of financial support that is a guarantee against any suffering during the winter. With the funds in sight, it is claimed that the unions will be able to carry on the fight indefinitely, thanks to the fact that the fight for the open shop is one in which national interest has been aroused. Unions all over the United States are said to feel that the organized labor in Duluth should lose out in the present struggle, the effects would be felt all over the country, for victory for the employers here would be regarded as an entering wedge for other union towns.

North Butte opened at $18.50, went to $21.25 and closed at $21.25 bid and $21.50 asked. Amalgamated, which was weak yesterday, displayed the same symptoms today owing to the cut in the dividend from 1 per cent to 1/2 per cent. It opened at $52.62 1/2, went off to $50.75, rallied to $51.62 1/2 and closed at $51.37 1/2 bid.

Greene-Canaan opened at $7.37 1/2, declined to $7.25, rallied to $7.50 and closed $7.25 bid and $7.50 asked. A quarterly dividend of half of 1 per cent was declared by the Amalgamated Copper company today. The previous quarterly dividend was 1 per cent. The directors of the Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper & Silver Mining company, a subsidiary company of the Amalgamated Copper company, in New York, today declared a quarterly dividend of $2 per share, or $1 per share, compared with $2 a share regular and $1 a share extra three months ago.

The annual meeting of the Atlanta Mining & Leasing company was held in Duluth yesterday, when the following directors were elected: Richard Whitesides, John Gonska, John L. Smith, L. W. Doherty, Thomas T. Sullivan, A. W. Kuchnow and R. J. Duffy. Mr. Whitesides is president, Mr. Gonska treasurer, Mr. Duffy vice president and manager, and F. L. Swan secretary. ## PLANS FOR THE BURNS BANQUET

Royal Chief of Scottish Clans Will be in Duluth.

The plans of Clan Stewart, of the Order of Scottish Clans, for the celebration of the one hundred and forty-ninth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Jan. 27, forecast a more brilliant entertainment than the order has ever given here in the past. At a meeting of Clan Stewart, No. 50, last evening, arrangements were made for the Burns' entertainment and the outline announced. It is stated that John Hill of St. Louis, royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans, will be present and take part in the festivities. Mr. Hill has been much sought for by the Burns celebration by clans all over the country and the local Scots hail the announcement of his coming here, with delight.

The festivities on the twenty-seventh will begin with a banquet in the new cafe at the St. Louis hotel. It will virtually be the opening of the cafe. James D. McGhie, chief of the clan, will be chairman, and Rev. Alexander Milne, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver an address on "Robert Burns" at the banquet. Henry Taylor, British vice consul, will speak on "Our Adopted Country," and W. S. McCormick on "The Ladies."

During the banquet an elaborate musical and literary program will be given. Those who will take part in this feature of the evening are Misses Mae Wylie, Blanche Fleming and Miss Mary Vitch. Mrs. N. B. Morrison and Philip Gordon Brown. The program in the banquet hall over, the company will repair to the old dining room of the St. Louis, where an enjoyable program of dance music will be given. Some of these lines are being sold as low as one-half the wholesale price, and the prudently economical woman will realize that time for investigation is "well spent."

DIPHTHERIA AT ITS EBB

Most of Cases Now Under Treatment Are Convalescent.

Contagious Disease Hospital Site Rises
Up Again.

The labors of the health department in dealing with diphtheria have been considerably since the first of the year and, to all appearances, the epidemic, so far as it affected Duluth, is at its ebb. There are now only about forty cases under treatment, or one to every 2,000 population, a rather low figure. The low point reached, however, is not indicated by the number of cases, as most of them are convalescent and unless the disease gets a new hold, there is little to fear. The present epidemic has spread through the entire country, and considering the position of Duluth and the advantage the disease has in spreading, the city has been very fortunate. Last spring when the lumber camps broke up, the health department was swamped with cases of diphtheria. Men came in from the camps, able to be about and just recovering from severe attacks of diphtheria, and they spread the germ among their fellows. There were others in different stages, and one man was picked up on the street, rushed to the hospital and died within a few hours. Men with sore throats don't attend to them and went through severe attacks of diphtheria without knowing they had the disease, which was communicated to others. At one time there were eighty well developed cases being treated by the health department. During several weeks past the number has been decreasing until now a low mark has been reached. The diphtheria epidemic has shown Duluth's need of a contagious disease hospital.

pital more than any other arguments could, and physicians and those interested in the project are wondering what can be done to provide it within the coming year. The error, which prevents the voting on the amendments which were to have come before the people next month, leaves Central Park out of consideration as a site for the hospital. The money for the building and equipment, $150,000, will be available in the spring, and there will be no site on which to go ahead with the work. At present, in one hotel in the city there are two cases of diphtheria, and in boarding houses the conditions are the same. All through the summer and fall cases were discovered in boarding houses, and there was no place to which the patients might be removed. The contagious disease annex of St. Mary's hospital was filled nearly all of the time. When such cases were discovered, the only thing which could be done was to quarantine the patient in his room, an unsatisfactory proceeding. Efforts may be made by those responsible for the first contagious disease hospital agitation to secure a site on which to build the hospital next summer. If that cannot be done, it will be necessary to wait until the site is secured by charter amendment next year, and the conditions now prevailing will be continued.

According to the complaint the Pike Rapids Power company was granted the privilege of erecting a dam on the river at any point along a considerable stretch of the stream below Little Falls, by a special act of congress, and the company further claims that all floodage rights at the place where the proposed dam was to be erected have been lawfully acquired. It is claimed the Soo people have begun the erection of a bridge across the river at the site of the proposed dam.

ALL SECURE DAMAGES

Plaintiffs in Four Cases Are Given Awards
by Juries.

Mattala and Hendrickson Given $7,000 Against Shagawa Iron Co.

Verdicts for awards to plaintiffs in the aggregate amount of nearly $500 were returned in the district court this morning in four civil actions which were given to the juries yesterday afternoon.

Two verdicts were returned against the Shagawa Iron company in damage actions brought against it by John Mattala and Matt Hendrickson. Mattala sued for $30,000 and was awarded $7,000. Hendrickson sued for $15,000 and was awarded $400. Both cases were tried together, as the men were hurt in the same accident at the Selwood mine, near Ely, last July, and both were represented by Helmo & Hollister, attorneys.

In these cases the plaintiffs claimed that the cage and bucket in the shaft of the Selwood mine was suddenly dropped, without warning or without signal being given, striking Mattala and Hendrickson, who were working in the shaft, with great force. Mattala claims that his back and leg were injured and that he has sustained serious injuries to other portions of his body, some of which will be permanent. Hendrickson was injured about the shoulder, arm and head. Both men claimed that the company had not provided them a safe place to work, also that the engineer was intoxicated and ran a blind pig besides doing his work for the company.

The cases were on trial for several days and the jury, composed of the mine company, represented by Wilson & Morgan. The jury that tried the case of Ole Olson against the street railway company returned a verdict awarding $1,300 damages to Olson for the death of his 10-year-old son, who was killed about a year ago by coasting down the hill at Ninth avenue east into a street car. Olson claimed that the motor car should have stopped at the time he had avoided the accident. The company's attorney claimed that the car was stopped at the time it struck the child, and that the child was running across the street.

J. D. Campbell and associates were awarded $100 damages for the loss of a gas engine claimed to have been purchased by the plaintiffs from the defendant. The engine was recovered $500. H. B. Fryer represented Mr. Campbell and Alexander Marshall represented the boat company.

TWINS RAN AWAY

To Dodge Suitors and Papa Thought It Was Elopement.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 16.—Agnes and Lucy Clark, pretty twin sisters, daughters of Charles T. Clark of Des Moines, were so besought by admiring suitors, and so often confused for each other that they actually ran away. And it was not until several days had elapsed that their frantic parents located them in Cleveland, Okla.

This extraordinary adventure has set the soldier boys at Fort Des Moines to thinking because they were for the most part suitors for the hands of the twin sisters. And finally they became so ardent and so many anti-elopements resulted that flight seemed to be the only refuge of the sisters. So they boarded the Great Western train without telling their parents anything about it at all. For two days the mother was prostrated, believing that the girls had eloped. Then Will Stevens, a telegrapher at Kansas City, wired back that he had seen the girls and recognized them as friends he formerly knew in Des Moines. He said the girls confided to him that they were going to Oklahoma. Sure enough, there the girls were found. Papa thought after them and Lucy is coming back to Des Moines. But, to avoid mistakes in the future, Agnes will remain at Cleveland with a married sister.

CONCERNING WOMEN

One member of the Young Women's Christian association of Duluth, aside from eight board members, three secretaries and three assistants, met at the rooms last evening for the annual meeting of the association. If the business meeting of the association, it was the first of the kind held here for some time. The association might very well have been called the "Young Women's Christian association of Duluth," as the annual meeting of the association, it was the first of the kind held here for some time. The association might very well have been called the "Young Women's Christian association of Duluth," as the annual meeting of the association, it was the first of the kind held here for some time.

The report of the general secretary, Mrs. Wesley Freeman, was given. Her report showed that 120,484 people have been reached since the association was organized. The statistical report of the secretary may be of interest to many. It is as follows:

Life members ..... 32
Sustaining members ..... 32
Active members ..... 25
Total ..... 139

On the general report of the association, the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. G. H. Clayton. The treasurer's report was as follows:

Balance on hand Jan. 1, 1907 ..... $148.41
From local sources ..... 1,234.56
From outside sources ..... 50.00
Total ..... $1,432.97

The association has never heretofore ended the year with a deficit, and it is due to the small number of subscriptions secured during the year. The people of the city were asked for the money for the year, and the annual meeting of the association was held on the 15th of January.

Directors for the year 1907 to 1908 were elected as follows: Mrs. W. S. Bishop, Mrs. C. H. Merrill, Mrs. A. C. Agnew, Mrs. S. S. Taylor, Mrs. W. W. Waterworth and Mrs. J. D. Tibbott.

One director for the term 1908 to 1909 was elected, Mrs. A. C. Taylor being chosen.

Watson S. Moore was elected trustee for the term 1907 to 1908. It was decided at the next election to have a ballot box at the rooms during the entire day, the members to have the privilege of voting at any time during the day, the board members expressing a reluctance at meeting once a year to nominate and elect themselves. Next year the plan proposed will be followed.

At the devotional service which preceded the regular business session, Miss Christine Thiers sang. The service was in charge of Mrs. J. D. Tibbott. The meeting adjourned at 9 o'clock.

D. A. R. MEETING.
Interesting Session is Devoted to Lives of Foremothers.

A most interesting meeting of the Daughters of Liberty chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Victor Stearns of London Road.

The members were requested to bring historical articles, china, and a most interesting collection of beautiful old articles were shown. Some old jewelry, old silverware, and other beautiful things of the early day of the country were shown. Books printed at the time of the revolution and letters written during the war were examined with much interest. Miss Helen Upham assisted at the informal tea following the study program, garbed in her great grandmother's wedding gown of white satin. The quaint costume added a most charming touch to the occasion.

The lives of Mary Ball, mother of George Washington and of Dolly Madison were read and anecdotes of the early mothers were told.

The society has sent to Washington for twenty-four volumes of the lineage book which contain the names of every daughter of the society. The books will be placed in the Duluth public library and will be of great value to those interested in such research.

ANSWERS COMPLAINT

Mrs. Alida Lueck Says

Mother-in-Law Caused

Family Troubles.

Charges of Gambling, Ill-

Treatment and Non-Support Against Husband.

Alida Lueck, wife of Paul Lueck, against whom some serious charges were made by the husband in an action which he started to secure a divorce, has filed an answer to the complaint in which she takes occasion to release some pretty strong charges against Lueck, in the way of a counter-claim.

Mrs. Lueck admits some of the minor allegations of the complaint, but denies those on which Lueck bases his claim for a legal separation.

According to Mrs. Lueck there never would have been any trouble between herself and her husband, had it not been for the alleged malicious interference of her mother-in-law. The wife claims that the mother-in-law attempted to get Lueck to leave the defendant and attempted to get Mrs. Lueck to start divorce proceedings. It is claimed that falling in the attempt to separate the couple, the mother-in-law set out to make trouble between the husband and wife.

Mrs. Lueck charges her husband with being addicted to gambling, that he is quarrelsome and vindictive and has ill-treated her when drunk and when sober. She expresses belief that Lueck has been arrested several times for offenses against the peace and dignity of the state of Minnesota and says he has neglected to support her and she had to seek help from her parents or starve.

Mrs. Lueck claims Lueck offered her $30 to leave the state so he could get a divorce and marry another woman.

It is further alleged that Lueck compelled his wife to go after his laundry and then caused her arrest and detention in the city jail while he stripped the house of their goods and placed their children in the care of others.

Mrs. Lueck alleges that when she secured her freedom and went home the house was bare and her husband refused to permit the children to go to her. She asks for such relief as the court may deem just. John Tensawald, Jr., is Mrs. Lueck's attorney.

DEEPENING OF HARBORS

At De Pere and Oconto, Wis., Likely to be Accomplished.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate committee on commerce at its meeting this forenoon made a favorable report upon two concurrent resolutions and introduced by Senator Stephenson, which will be of interest to mariners upon the Great Lakes.

The first authorizes the secretary of war to make a survey of the harbor at De Pere, Wis., with a view of obtaining a twenty foot channel between DePere and Green Bay.

The second calls for a survey of the harbor at Oconto, Wis., with the object of obtaining a twenty foot turning basin with a channel of that depth in that harbor.

HIT BEAR ON THE BACK

Was a Man in Dim

Twilight.

Tells Weird Story of a

Shore.

Francis Lefebvre, a cruiser in the employ of a Cioquet lumber company, who is in Duluth today, has the prize bear story of the season's crop. According to his story, the bears are becoming somewhat drowsy of late because of lack of sleep; yet the bear he met was one of lively disposition.

Lefebvre was up along the north shore, according to his story, when the impromptu meeting was pulled off. That was last Monday. He had been even now reduced to lay down. You even catch the infection of excitement at the recital of the chase.

It was dark, and Lefebvre was hiking along for Grand Marais. Ahead he spied a gentle stranger, he thought, and made haste to overtake the traveler. Approaching the bear, who lumbered along in a rolling, rocking gait, Lefebvre, in the impulsiveness of his Gaelic nature, slipped a luring and resounding tap of good-fellowship between the shoulder and chin.

He imagined his surprise and chagrin when the stranger turned and dealt his cross-counter that sent him reeling to the side of the narrow trail. Almost instantly he was upon his feet, ready to give battle to the uncouth fellow-traveler.

His recovery and recognition of the species of batter he was up against was none too quick, for the bear was making ready to follow up his advantage, down the trail he had been following.

Lefebvre said he side stepped a bear-like hug and hit the trail for Grand Marais. Right after came the bear, now running on all fours. He could hear the bear's teeth snap in anticipation, and the chase grew hot.

Lefebvre knew the trail like a Mohammedi knew his Koran. Ahead the trail turned suddenly to the left, avoiding a deep ravine. He would make use of strategy.

A tree with an overhanging branch stands directly in the right of where the trail turns suddenly. Putting off a little extra speed Lefebvre suddenly leaped into the air and caught the overhanging branch. He swung himself clear of the ground, and the bear, who was running on all fours, was left to follow up his advantage, down the trail he had been following.

WILL TALK ON BANK DEPOSITS

W. I. Prince Will Give Address Before Unity Club.

"The Government Guarantee of Bank Deposits" is the subject of an address that will be given before the Unity club at the First Unitarian church Monday evening by W. I. Prince, cashier of the City National bank.

The talk will be followed by a discussion, to be participated in by all of those present who care to take part. The Unity club has no regular list of members, as all who attend regularly and take interest in the club's work are said to belong.

Everyone is welcomed to the gatherings to hear talks that are given from time to time by men of prominence, and to take part in the discussions which follow. The meetings are purely voluntary gatherings of persons interested in the live questions of the day. The club was organized some years ago along the same lines as at present.

The meetings are all held in the First Unitarian church, First street and Eighth avenue east, on the first and third Mondays of every month. Subjects are selected in advance by a program committee, which also selects one or more speakers for each occasion. The general discussions are open to everybody.

EXCHANGE OF CABLEGRAMS

Between Presidents of
on Fleet's Visit.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Something of more than usual importance attaches to the felicitous exchange between the presidents of America and Brazil over the visit of Admiral Evans' fleet to Rio on account of the significant expression by President Roosevelt in accounting for the mission of the battleship fleet. The correspondence by cable made public yesterday follows:

From President Penna, Jan. 14, 1908: "This afternoon I had the great pleasure of receiving and becoming personally acquainted with the admirals and captains of the American fleet en route to the Pacific ocean."

"I congratulate you on the successful arrival of so powerful and well-drilled a fleet at Rio de Janeiro, and I take keen pleasure in informing you that the people of our capital spontaneously and enthusiastically joined the Brazilian naval authorities from the very first moment in demonstration of fraternity and friendship toward the American sailors and the great republic of the South, for whose glory all Brazil utters the most cordial wishes. ALFONSO PENNA."

President Roosevelt's reply: "Jan. 15, 1908. I thank you for the kind message which you were so good as to send me upon the arrival of the American fleet at Rio. It has given me the liveliest satisfaction. We are all very sensible of the courtesy and distinguished hospitality with which the government and people of Brazil have received our officers and sailors."

"The warships of America exist for no other purpose than to protect us from possible aggression and insurance against possible oppression. As between the United States and Brazil these ships are not men-of-war, but are messengers of friendship and good will, commissioned to celebrate with you the long sustained unity and mutual helpfulness of the two great republics."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

WHIST PLAYERS IN TOURNAMENT

Some of Duluth Players
May Attend the State Meet.

Duluth will probably send several players to the eleventh annual tournament and meeting of the Northwestern Whist association, which will be held in Minneapolis Friday and Saturday, Jan. 24 and 25.

The tournament contests, except the team-of-four contests, will be held in the banquet room at the Nicolet hotel, but the business meeting will be held in the rooms of the Minneapolis Whist club at 412 Nicolet avenue, which will be the headquarters of the association during the tournament.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of E. A. Montgomery, H. B. Gray, R. R. Todd, H. K. Scott, F. H. Christy, M. L. Luther and E. C. Pratt.

MAE WOOD ACTIVE AGAIN.

Affidavits Filed in Regard to Platt's
$10,000 Settlement.

New York, Jan. 16.—Another chapter in the matrimonial controversy between Senator Platt and Mae Catherine Wood was written late yesterday when affidavits were filed by counsel for both sides with Justice Newburger, in which it set forth the story of a $10,000 settlement made by Senator Platt to Miss Wood on Oct. 14, 1903, when she was threatening a breach of promise suit. She is the wife of the late Senator Wood, who died in 1901.

ASK CHANGE IN THE LAW

Aliens Must be County Charges Before Being Deported.

Must Reside Here Year
Before County Can Take Them.

A. P. Cook of the St. Louis county poor commission is trying, through the office of United States Immigration Inspector William H. Dean, to get the government to make a ruling whereby diseased aliens, who are unable to take care of themselves, and who have no one to support them, can be deported without the county first taking charge of them.

Under conditions as they exist at present, the government cannot consider deporting any individual who has not first become a charge upon the county, and there is a law which forbids the county taking charge of any person who has not been a resident of the country for a period of more than one year. Thus it will be seen that any alien in destitute circumstances who has been here less than a year, has absolutely no money in which to turn, for the county cannot take charge of him, and the government cannot take up the case until the county authorities have first taken it over and asked the immigration department to take the case off its hands.

There are so many foreigners who come direct to Northern Minnesota from Europe that it frequently happens, particularly in the winter time, that, through sickness or some other cause, they find themselves in destitute circumstances. They have to be left absolutely to their own resources, and beggars on the street is about the only avenue left open, unless the county authorities take care of them in direct relief. Inspector Dean has reported the matter to the higher authorities, but it is considered doubtful if the government will be afforded, for a considerable time at least, for the wheels of the government departments move very slowly in cases of this kind, and probably it would be necessary for congress to pass a special law in order to comply with the request of the St. Louis county commission.

TO OPPOSE PRESIDENT

Ohio Senators Object to Federal Machine in Their State.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senators Foraker and Dick did not hesitate to let it be known among their colleagues yesterday that they would continue to frustrate, as far as lay in their power, every alleged attempt of the president to use federal patronage into a machine for nominating a presidential candidate. The success of these two senators in securing the recognition of four Ohio postoffice appointments has caused the senate to a knowledge of the fact that they are investigating no less than thirty-five Ohio appointments which have reached the committee on postoffices and post roads and have been referred to Senator Dickman's subcommittee. These nominations are simply known as the "held up" kind, so far, and they may not go through, though the confirmation according to the way the Ohio senators view them.

Such a spring power of any pair of senators from a state that a nomination which is looked upon by them with disfavor is kept out of the postoffice committee with a favorable report. The two Ohioans have let it be known that they propose to thwart the building of a federal machine for the nomination of Secretary Taft, if their power and the confirmation of postoffice appointments in Ohio is of any avail.

Several other Ohio appointments are held up at the instigation of the two senators.

TO CURTAIL EXPENSES

Costs Too Much to Run
Carriers.

Detroit, Jan. 16.—At their annual meeting here yesterday, the Lumber Carriers' Association of the Great Lakes decided that it would be impossible to operate their boats during the coming season at the same expense, and under the same conditions, as prevailed during 1907, and appointed a labor committee to devise means to improve the conditions. This action is generally taken to presage a struggle in the spring with the various labor unions whose members are employed on the boats and the longshoremen, and a late opening of the lumber campaign, and a late opening of the season of 1907, some at a considerable loss. It was, therefore, the unanimous opinion of those present, representing over 85 per cent of the lumber tonnage of the lakes,

HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Duluth Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Duluth people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Duluth reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Capt. M. McLean, marine captain, living at 4324 Gilliat street, Duluth, Minn., says: "Lapse of time has only strengthened my appreciation of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave this remedy my hearty endorsement in the summer of 1898, because of the good results I obtained from the use of it. It promptly and effectively rid me of a dull, heavy aching just over the kidneys, banished the restlessness that broke my sleep at night, and brought about a healthy and natural action of the kidneys. Since that time there has been no return of the trouble, which fact convinces me that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently."

"that with the further decreased freight in sight for the coming year, carrying with a probable reduction in freight rates, it would be impossible to operate the boats for the coming year under the same expense and conditions as during 1907."

There are about 325 boats engaged in the lumber trade on the lakes, and their loading and unloading gives employment to hundreds of longshoremen. The association elected the following officers:

President, W. H. Toole; vice presidents, O. W. Blodgett, E. L. Fisher, A. W. Comstock; secretary-treasurer, H. O. Rummel. A board of managers of twenty-seven members was also elected.

BETTER FEELING IN IRON TRADE

Pig Has Been Sold Past Week on Fairly Large Scale.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Iron Age, says: The improvement in the financial situation is reflected by a better feeling in the iron trade, but as yet, there has been little buying except in pig iron. The cast iron pipe manufacturers east and west have been buyers on a fairly large scale, one shop in Northeastern Ohio taking up 10,000 tons and makers in the Philadelphia district contracting for a further quantity. It is understood that these sales were below the figures which the majority of the furnaces are quoting. The offerings of Southern iron at $12 for No. 2, Birmingham, do not seem to have ceased entirely. New orders for finished iron and steel are still coming in very slowly, but there is more interest in the markets, and better things are hoped for in the near future.

The steel rail business is very tight and contractors for structural material are still holding back. The plate mills are only slightly employed and there is some shading of prices going on in the bar trade, the reduction of iron bars to the 140 cent base, Pittsburgh, is creating uneasiness, particularly in the bar trade, where the plate has been adhered to. The recent reduction in the price of sheets has led to an only moderate increase in the sales, while on the other hand, breakings in the tin plate have been general. While prices for steel merchant pipe are being firmly held, there is some shading in iron merchant pipe.

LITTLE HOPE OF ACQUITTAL

Gen. Stossel's Attorney
Fears He Will be Found Guilty.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The trial by court-martial of Lieut. Gen. Stossel, for his surrender of Port Arthur to the Japanese is nearing an end, and a verdict is expected early next week. Yesterday Deputy Syrtlanoff, Gen. Stossel's attorney, intimated to the Associated Press that he had little hope of acquittal on the main charge of surrendering the fortress. M. Syrtlanoff hopes, however, that his client will be freed from blame for the evacuation of several of the minor positions, as well as for surrendering Gen. Smyrnoff. One of the most damaging points against Gen. Stossel is that there was a considerable amount of shells on hand when the fortress surrendered. The general contends that he was kept in the dark regarding the existence of this ammunition by Gen. Voly, chief of the artillery, who had a violent passion for the hoarding of shot and shell. Several witnesses have testified to the impossibility of getting from the magazines a sufficient number of shells to make the artillery effective. They said it was their custom to send gunners every night to other batteries to steal ammunition to keep their own guns going.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MISSABE WILL BUILD ANOTHER

Warehouse and Freight Depot to Succeed Burned One.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. L. Dresser, chief engineer of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, came from Duluth today to look over the ruins of the freight depot and warehouse which was destroyed by fire yesterday and to arrange to rebuild the structure. It is expected that the new building will begin as soon as the plans can be drawn and the contract awarded. It will be built along the lines of the one destroyed.

Yesterday's fire is being investigated, but so far as known its origin is still a mystery. The fire started apparently in the middle of the building, which was of wood and sheet iron covering and when the department arrived the structure was a mass of flames. An explosion shook things during the height of the fire, and iron and ladders being shaken up and some of them bruised, but not seriously hurt.

The office part of the building was of two stories at the end. It contained all of the freight records, none of which were saved. The offices themselves did not burn, but they were completely filled with steam and gases from the sheet iron covering of the building so that it was impossible to enter.

The warehouse was 29 by 129 feet in dimensions and was worth about $5,000, and it is thought that it contained about $7,000 worth of freight, none of which was saved.

Therefore, in order to prevent mistakes, the coroner issued a writ of habeas corpus for the body of this and immediately communicated with the coroner at Reading, where he had the body of the man who was killed by the engine. When it was explained that people who had positively identified their dead wanted to see the body, the coroner resented his order. Since then the relief committee, working in conjunction with relatives, have removed more than fifty bodies from the morgues. It is a common sight to see men carrying through the streets charred bodies on boards covered by a blanket or quilt.

More than sixty death certificates were issued up to 10 a. m., and most of these bodies will be buried today, most of them without any funeral ceremonies. There is not a clergyman in town able to conduct services. There will be no services in the Lutheran church Sunday. The Rev. Allen Weber, who lost a daughter, is still protesting.

Thought $5 Tip Was Queer.

He had the witness repeat several of the incidents he related yesterday afternoon and was asked if he considered a $5 tip from Thaw an irrational act.

"I seemed queer, for what I did," said Weber.

The witness declared that Thaw was not dissipating and seemed healthy when he knew him, but always was nervous and excitable.

Christopher Baggan, steward of the New York Whist club, was recalled to give the dates of Thaw's visits to the club in 1904 and 1905. He testified that he was on each of these occasions to play bridge whist with the best players in the club.

Raymond A. Brown, a music publisher and eye-witness of the killing of Stanford White, here was called and testified to Thaw's irrational appearance on the roof garden.

"Did you ever try to get a coherent reply from any other man twenty minutes before he took the life of a fellow human being?" asked District Attorney Jerome.

"No," replied the witness.

"That's all."

Abraham R. Beck of Lancaster county, Pa., uncle of former Assistant Attorney General James M. Beck was called as the next witness. He said that Harry Thaw was one of fifteen boys in his school in 1881 and 1882. The memory of the boy had always lived with him, said the witness.

"I was exceedingly nervous," said Mr. Beck, "and was very unsocial and sullen and abstracted. His eyes were most strikingly white, and his principal things I remember about young Thaw were the spasmodic and startling outbursts of his conduct. These howls would stop so suddenly as the turning off of a fountain."

Mr. Beck identified a letter he had received from Mrs. William Thaw, the mother of Harry, about the boy's conduct at school, and it was read to the jury. The letter was dated Oct. 25, 1881, and was in reply to a communication from Mr. Beck complaining of Harry's conduct and speaks of the distress the letter caused the parent.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MUNN CASE COMING UP

Tuesday Before State Board of Pardons in St. Paul.

Hard Fight Being Made to Save Him From Gallows.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Attorney Henry Funkley has received notice from E. D. Clough of Crookston, attorney for Martin S. Munn, that Mr. Clough will appear before the state board of pardons in St. Paul, Jan. 21, to present the matter of commuting the sentence of Munn, here in the county jail, from capital punishment to life imprisonment.

It is understood that Mr. Clough has already taken up the matter of commuting Munn's sentence, and that the board agreed to pass definitely on the question at the meeting to be held next Tuesday.

It is said that a large number of letters have been received by the members of the board of pardons from several parts of the Northwest, all of which appeal for mercy for the condemned man. Among the letters which it is claimed have been sent to the board is one written by a former governor of Wisconsin.

Two brothers of Munn have been very active in his behalf. They have no hope of securing a new trial for Munn, but will leave nothing undone to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

PRAIRIE LAND NEEDS FORESTS

In Order That It Be Profitable, Says Professor Cheyney.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. E. G. Cheyney of the division of forestry of the Minnesota state university spoke before the annual convention of the Tri-State Grain Growers and Stock Raisers' association today on the "Influence of the Forests on the Prairie."

He called attention to the value of the windbreak and grove in protecting fruit orchards, grain crops, stock and farm buildings, their value in supplying wood for various purposes, and in beautifying the home and country in general.

He alluded to the wonderfully rapid development of the prairie region and attributed its cause very largely to the railroads, which depend so closely upon the cheap forest products for their existence and growth. He showed that the timber from over 350,000 acres of land is used annually in the construction and maintenance of the railroads. The poles of the telephone, telegraph and trolley lines come from the forest, as does also the paper for the daily and weekly periodicals.

Cordwood is a direct product of the forests; coal an indirect product. The timber from over 150,000 acres of forest is consumed in the coal mines each year.

Ninety per cent of the prairie homes are built of timber, as well as all the packing boxes and barrels, which consume about 80 per cent of the total output of the forests.

Prof. Cheyney went on to explain the unity of interest which compelled all the sections of the country to work for the preservation and care of the forests wherever they happened to exist. He showed that the proposed Appalachian reserve and all existing reserves were of value to every state in the Union, no matter how far it might be from the location of the grower of the timber. He explained that the forestry work in each state, the establishment of a forestry school at Botineau, N. D., the establishment of a demonstration school at Itasca Park in Minnesota, and the forestry movement in South Dakota were all of value and consequently of interest to each of the others.

He concluded his talk with a plea for all the states, prairie or not, to aid in the advancement of forestry work in general. For "To the question, 'Can any country be entirely independent of all others?' comes the answer, as incontrovertible as the fact of the sphere, 'Get along without them it can; but get along as well without them, it never can!'"

POLICE CAPTAIN WINS In Suit Brought Against Him by Farmer for Damages.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the district court here, before Judge Watts, Capt. Emil Verderbreck of the Crookston police court was given the verdict in a suit to recover damages brought by E. S. Brown against the captain.

The case has attracted considerable attention as a point of law was involved. Verderbreck, while on police duty, was taking a team belonging to Brown to a livery barn, as they had stood on the street longer than the law allows. Brown demanded the team from Verderbreck and attempted to take them away from the officer, and he claims Verderbreck hit him with his club.

The officer took the team to the barn and Brown sued for damages, claiming that the policeman had gone beyond his rights in keeping the team after he had demanded them, and that he had no business to strike him with his club. The jury, however, cleared the police captain by bringing in a verdict against Brown.

TO FIGHT PROHIBITION.

Anti-Prohibition League and Liquor Dealers to Combine.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16.—An agreement has been arrived at which practically means that the Anti-Prohibition league of Wisconsin, organized here Wednesday, and the Wisconsin Liquor Dealers' association will amalgamate, next summer, for the creation of a formidable barrier against the prohibition movement in this state.

The agreement recites that, though for the present the two organizations will work separately, at the annual convention of the retail liquor dealers at Kenosha in July, steps will be taken to combine for the protection of the saloon interests of the state.

DESPONDENT, TAKES LIFE.

Recent Arrival at Staples Shoots Himself With Pistol.

Staples, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coroner is looking into the death of A. J. McCuen, whose body was found about a mile west of the city Tuesday with a bullet hole in the head and a 32-calibre revolver lying nearby indicating a case of suicide.

McCuen came here from New York state with the evident intention of getting work in the woods. On his arrival in Minneapolis he was told to come to Staples, and on arriving here he found that he had been mistaken, and was told he should have gone to Bemidji.

He has been here since Friday last and took long walks into the country, and seemed to be despondent. He appeared to be perfectly rational. When found he had 31 cents in money and a gold watch and silk fob. The back of his watch was engraved with the initials A. J. M. He was about 28 years old and was nicely dressed.

FIREMEN LOSE SUIT.

Important Ruling by Supreme Court of North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court has handed down a decision that is of importance to the different branches of the fire department at Fargo and many other cities of the state.

About two years ago when the city of Fargo received its share of the state of the 2 per cent tax paid by insurance companies, the department at Fargo claimed there was due them the sum of $1,000. City Treasurer Mitchell of Fargo, refused to pay the money to the department on the ground that Fargo's department was a paid one and not entitled to the money, and turned the sum into the general fund of that city.

The department held they were entitled to the money because the companies there were volunteer companies. The city treasurer claimed it was a paid department and held the money. The matter went to the district court and Judge Pollock rendered a judgment in favor of the firemen. The city appealed to the supreme court and Judge Pollock has been reversed.

UP TO PROSECUTOR.

If He Consents, Tempera Case Will be Dropped.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the prosecuting attorney gives consent the case against Joe Tempera, who shot and wounded Raymond last week, will be dropped. As the principals in the affair are said to be willing to settle, the case will be dropped.

A few days ago Tempera said that he would not give a dollar for a settlement, but later he had a change of mind and was prepared to talk settlement with Raymond. The latter said he would accept $50. Tempera also paying the court costs.

Tempera was arraigned in Justice Andrews' court Tuesday. He waived examination and his bonds were placed at $1,000. Friends furnished $1,000 in cash, which at the request of prosecuting attorney Bell, was placed in the hands of Cashier Miner of the Miner's National bank, and the charge against young Tempera is assault with intent to kill and murder.

Another Legislative Bill That Has Failed of Its Purpose.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative J. F. Spencer of Rochester withdrew the second reading of state law yesterday to look up chapter 458 of the 1907 session laws, which was H. R. 116. The bill printed does not contain an amendment introduced by Mr. Spencer, which the house and senate journals show to have been carried.

DO NOT SPECULATE! PUT YOUR MONEY WHERE YOU CAN SEE IT!

We are just opening a very choice tract of rich farm land in Sunny Southern Alberta, suitable for market-gardening, raising small fruits, etc., and which, for grain crops, can not be surpassed anywhere on the continent. This is one of the richest pieces of land in Southern Alberta, and every square foot of it is clean, level, and ready for the plow, and is capable of raising immense crops.

The tract contains a little over 4,000 acres, closely adjoining two coal-mining towns on the Spokane line of the C. P. Ry., and is in sight of eleven coal mines.

We are selling these lands in small blocks, usually 5 to 10 acres in a block, but you can buy only one acre lot if you wish. The price is $25.00 per acre, and we make a contract with every purchaser to farm the land for him for five years to come. The contract will be renewed for a further term of five years, if purchaser so desires.

This contract provides that we pay to the purchaser of the land, one-fifth—20 per cent—of the value of the whole crop raised on the land, every year for the five years, beginning with this year.

The lands in the neighborhood of our tract yield from 300 to 400 bushels per acre of potatoes, from 70 to 120 bushels of oats, and from 35 to 65 bushels of wheat to the acre. Therefore you should receive for your share of the crop, about $5.00 to $12.00 per acre, every year during the five years. As the land gets better cultivated, the crops—and therefore the profits—will continue to increase.

Our proposition is practically this—you buy shares in our "Model Farm," at $25.00 per share, and instead of a stock certificate, you receive a Torrens Title Deed for the particular acres you buy, and we farm the land, and your share is one-fifth of all the crop raised, which will amount to about 16 per cent to 40 per cent on your investment every year.

At the end of the 5 years this land will be worth at least $100.00 per acre, if not more.

Is there any mining stock for sale anywhere in the world that will do as well as this?

If another "Panic" comes, what will happen to your money? How will your mining stocks act? If a period of hard times should come at any time during the next ten years, can you take your mining stock certificates and make a living out of them? Can you camp down on your stock certificates and build a cottage on them to shelter your family and raise vegetables, fruit and grain enough to make a living for yourself and your family? Certainly you can't.

But if you have a Deed to one of our ten-acre blocks, your property is increasing in value at least 100 per cent every year on your original investment, and in addition to that, you are receiving a better dividend from it than any mining company could think of paying. And if you ever want to go and live on your property, we will build you a house cheaper than you could build it yourself, as we get our lumber direct from the mills and have our own contractor. If you want to sell your property at any time after one year, we will find you a buyer. You can make a good living from what you can raise on your ten acres.

If you can buy ten or twenty acres, or forty acres, by all means do so—for the more you can buy, so much greater will your profits be—but if you can't buy more than one acre, just plant your $25.00 in that, and it will be the best—the safest—and the most profitable investment you have ever made.

Acres will be allotted nearest to the railway station in the order applications are received at this office.

Remember, you will get your first dividend on or before December first of this year, and there is practically no doubt of it being less than 16 per cent, and every probability that it will be about 25 per cent.

MAKE USE OF CHINESE

Japan Awakening Military Spirit in China Says Shanghai Merchant.

Planning to Use Hordes of Chinese to Subdue Occident.

Malcolm B. Stewart, an English merchant of Shanghai, China, who is at the Spaulding hotel, en route to Winnipeg, over the Duluth & Rainy Lake, and Canadian Northern, makes the statement that Japanese envoys are exercising every effort to bring the Chinese soldiers to the highest point of efficiency, with the intent and purpose of using the legions of the Chinese empire for the subjugation of Japan.

In decades past, says Mr. Stewart, adventurous officers of various armies of the recognized military powers of the world have found employment in teaching the rudiments of military drill to the inefficient soldiers of the empire. Now all this is greatly changed. The late conflict with Russia, has bred the dormant military spirit of the other branch of the yellow race with a warlike ambition, and the Japanese are doing everything in their power to keep this spirit kindled.

Europeans, especially the German military officers, are beginning to look with something akin to alarm on the wonderful growth of the military spirit in China, says Mr. Stewart. The German emperor was the first to sound the alarm against the invasion of the yellow peril, he has not witnessed the progress of the Japanese empire, nor is he unkindly of apprehension, nor is he unkindly of the strength Japan is accumulating for its own use, the kindling of the military spirit throughout the Chinese empire.

Mr. Stewart says that the siege of Peking was the beginning of the military growth in China. Before that time the army of the empire was a huge joke with military men of the continent. The national army could have been easily defeated by the private armies of the provinces. It was a ragged, nondescript, ill-paid body of ill-disciplined men, who were under the guidance of men who have rarely seen the battlefield. The national army under the instruction of Japanese drill masters, the growth of an irregular, untrained body of men into an army that is really beginning to show marks of efficiency, has been nothing less than marvellous.

Germany does not trust Japan, says Mr. Stewart. The policy of the emperor is to build ships and maintain the most efficient standing army in the world, as he witnesses the manner in which Germany is being left in a lonely island, and the British Lion, and the practical termination of the Triple Alliance, as far as any material assistance is concerned, has left Emperor William in a position to realize with the keenness of something akin to fear, the advance of the yellow race.

"We in China," said Mr. Stewart, "realize keenly the wonderful strides achieved by China in the past five years. This applies to the awakening of the commercial, educational and national, as well as the military spirit. I don't believe China will be the plaything of Europe for a

Housewarming is Held by Members of Duluth Ski Club.

The new clubhouse of the Duluth Ski club at the grounds on Chester creek was thrown open to the club members last night in a housewarming, which took the form of a reception. Nearly all of the members of the club were present and took part in the festivities.

The new structure is an ideal one for the purposes for which it was designed. It is large, roomy and comfortable. It gives a good view of the ski hill, so that in exceptionally cold weather, spectators may gather in it to watch the work of the skiers. As a temporary warming place, it is an attractive feature of visits to the ski grounds, and is a most comfortable place for the skiers to wait. The clubhouse is only one of the many improvements noticeable to the visitors to the ski grounds this year.

The housewarming was the occasion for the awarding of standings and prizes to the contestants in the club tournament last Sunday. Ole Fering, who secured first place in the club tournament, was awarded the Martin Smith trophy. For the News Tribune trophy, George Jacobson and Arnold Olson were tied at 165 points and they will jump off the tie next Sunday.

Next Sunday afternoon a special tournament will be held for the entertainment of the visitors to the big Northwestern hospital to be held at the Duluth curling rink next week. The contestants who competed last Sunday will be the winners of the curling tournament.

GILBERT WINS OVER DANIELSON
West End Wrestler Loses in Two Straight Falls.

Andrew Danielson, the West end wrestler, who has made quite a showing in the heavy weight class around Duluth, was defeated at Superior last evening by Fred Gilbert, the Wyoming cowboy, who has found favor with the Superior followers of the wrestling game. Danielson was outwitted about fifteen pounds by his opponent and was undoubtedly outwitted. He put up a good fight for a time, but the superior weight and strength of his opponent told, and he went down under it.

Gilbert was inclined to rough, the match and he worked in all the punishment he could. The referee was incompetent. Several times he called falls on Danielson, when there was no fall, and he had the crowd in a position, where they didn't know which man won. The first fall was secured in fifteen minutes and the second in three minutes. When Danielson was down for the second time, Maurice Harris rushed over the stage and said it was a fall. The referee slapped Gilbert and went.

Maurice Harris and Nels Nygard put up a good match. Harris winning in straight falls. Johnson, the Superior "strong man" was a joke when he stacked up against Sundeen and quit after ten minutes of wrestling. There were no falls and Sundeen was given the victory.

Emil Peterson, the Duluth heavy weight, who claims the championship of the Head of the Lakes, was at Superior and challenged Gilbert, the winner of the match. The two men will meet in Duluth in about two weeks. Peterson said this morning he thinks he can defeat the Superior man and will work hard to be in condition when he gets on the mat with him.

Calumet Skater Sends $50 to Bet Against Duluth Speeders.

Ed Smith Accepts Offer for Race at Calumet.

Charley Rankin, formerly of Duluth, and now of Calumet, Mich., and Ed Smith, the local skater, will get together in Calumet some time this month in a speed contest of three heats of one-half or one mile for a bet of $50 to $25. Rankin posting the big end, and a purse to be hung up by the management of the Palestra, the big Calumet rink.

Rankin broached the subject in a letter received by the sporting editor of The Herald yesterday. In terms, which means business, he issued a challenge to Ed Smith, Harry Webb or Calumet skater, to clinch his arguments. The check wasn't certified, but that can probably be arranged in short order. The letter followed in an issue of The Herald last week that Harry Webb wishes to skate Alroth, Smith or myself. Now, to cut this newspaper talk short, enclosed find a check for $50, which goes as follows:

I will bet $50 to $25 I can beat Webb any distance he names under five miles. Also the same to go with Smith, if he accepts my offer first. If Alroth wishes to skate, I will bet $50 even on a half or one mile race.

The only conditions to these bets are that the race must be skated in Calumet, at the Palestra, as I am in business here and cannot leave. The Palestra management will pay the expenses of the Duluth skater accepting, providing the money is covered and the race is winner to take all. You may place the money as I have stated, draw up articles and have them signed by the parties accepting, and I will lose no time in signing them.

Ed Smith grabbed up the offer in a hurry as soon as he heard of it. He says he will post the race today, which arrangements will be made with Rankin for the race. Smith thinks he can defeat the Calumet skater.

Rankin is well known among Duluth skaters. He skated locally for several years before going to Calumet, where he has cleaned up nearly every race in sight in the speed skating line. Smith has something of a local reputation also. Whether Alroth will accept Rankin's offer he is in question.

The American Champion Wrestler Throws Two Men at Auburn, N. Y.

Auburn, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Frank Gotch, the American champion wrestler, appeared here last night in a handicap match, throwing Herman Miller and Charles Kaiser each twice in forty-five minutes and seconds. Miller was downed at the Graco-Roman style 8 minutes and 20 seconds, and Kaiser in the catch-as-catch-can style in 18 minutes and 10 seconds for the first fall, and 15 minutes for the second.

IOWA "HACK" WINS.
Ali Mamegoff, "the Terrible Turk," is Easy for Charlie.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16.—Charles Hackenschmidt of Iowa defeated Ali Mamegoff, the "Terrible Turk," in straight falls before a large crowd at the Olympic club here last night.

Hackenschmidt secured the first fall in 13 minutes and the second in 27 minutes. Both were the result of catch holds and half Nelsons.

Up to last week wrestling was getting a good hold in Chicago. For many years, the shady side of a wrestling match couldn't draw a corporal's guard of people. But now some square men took it in hand, put on square matches and began to get the thing going. They realized that the thing of fate must be eliminated to insure the sport, and they began to do it.

Last week came Polkeman John Rooney and Indian War Eagle. In the first round of the match, the Indian won. He was a sack of oats. He secured a fall. It was a real fight, the crowd was great, and the referee was a good one. The crowd offered 2 to 1 on Rooney after the fall. Then the Indian crashed. He secured the other two falls and victory. The crowd was great, the referee was a good one, and the result was a great one.

Now the officers are making an investigation and no more wrestling permits will be issued in Chicago until it is completed. It is the same old story of men blinding the eyes of the crowd. They were both picking up nice money, but their greed evidently got the upper hand and the goose of the public was the victim.

Folding is easier in wrestling than in any other sport. The boxing game is all on the surface. One of the men lies down and gets up when "up" is called, to hunt his hole. But in wrestling the fake is a pretty exhibition. Holds are taken and broken and a show of science, which sometimes baffles the wise ones of the game. If Rooney and War Eagle failed their match, it was pretty cruelly done. If they were on the square, they are the victims of circumstance.

Tommy McGraw, the Chicago cop, who umpired in the Northern-Country league for two years and was kicked out last season because he tried to hold up the league for more money, made a ruling at Athletic park last summer which was always a puzzle to Duluth fans who saw the play. With bases full and two strikes and three balls on the batter, "Smiley" Smith started the man from third as soon as the pitcher put his foot on the rubber and faced the batter. It was tried two or three times, in each case the catcher ran out in front of the plate, caught the throw and touched the runner and McGraw called him out. Smith protested on the score that the throw from the box was with a position runner was entitled to the base. McGraw ruled otherwise and couldn't give any reason for his decision.

Unwittingly, perhaps McGraw was following a ruling of Umpire Tommy Connolly of the American league and President Ban Johnson, who held that a ball thrown from the box in such a position was really the same as a throw to any other base on an attempted steal. McGraw tried the play on Connolly in 1906, but it didn't work.

Armour protested against Connolly's decision, but President Johnson ruled that it was attempted at the first opportunity. Detroit had the bases filled and Bobby Lowe at bat. Lowe worked Hess, who was pitching for Cleveland, until it was three and two. Just as soon as Hess placed his foot on the rubber, the runner on third made a dash for the plate. Connolly declared the runner out, retiring Lowe. Armour kicked strenuously on the decision. He insisted that when Hess faced the batter with his foot on the rubber and delivered the ball to the plate it was a legal delivery. In this case he argued, the ball was with the plate and should have been declared a ball. This would have given Lowe his base on his arduousness for the presidency and a declaration that he was in the minds of those present the logical choice of the party.

Of those present probably 1,000 were Nebraska men, but there was a sprinkling of others from nearby states. The speeches, without exception, were aggressively Democratic, but some good words were said for President Roosevelt and kindly expressions for radical Republican leaders.

THE EVENING STORY

MAN'S WORK AND WOMAN'S

By Caroline B. Le Roy.

"It's just glorious to be independent of the whole tribe of them!" Penelope exclaimed, shaking the reins over the horse's back, while she tickled him between the ears with the whip-lash. "Kiki! Kiki!" she chuckled. "Make him go faster, can't you? We shall be late to dinner."

"Dinner? What's dinner compared to this discussion?" contemptuously inquired Huldah, re-adjusting her spectacles. "Oh, you always enjoy talking upon your favorite topic," rejoined Ethel. "Now for my part, I'm very far from being a man-hater. Men are very nice indeed on some occasions, and—"

"And the idea that women can't drive?" interrupted Penelope. "Why, driving is just the easiest thing—"

Huldah shrugged her shoulders. "Of course it's easy. The idea. But when we started off I heard one of those wretches on the piazza say—"

"That any woman could drive that wretched machine was a disgrace!"

"Something happened, indeed?" repeated Penelope, indignantly.

"Oh, mercy," screamed Ethel. "See him shake his head! What do you suppose his idea is? And see wildly clutched my arms as she asked the question."

"Nothing at all," answered Penelope. "There's nothing to be frightened at."

"Don't you think he wants water?" she next inquired.

"It won't do him any harm to try the experiment." And this saying, Penelope drove to the side of the road where the water stood fresh in a spring. The frantic plunges of the horse's head left a cloud of dust in the air.

"But why on earth, then, don't he drink?"

"Penelope watched him intently. 'I declare,' she burst out at last, 'he must have been drinking wine. He can't get his head down. Isn't that too bad?'

"If we only knew what the matter was," remarked Penelope. "Huldah, girls, did any of you ever harness a horse?"

"No one of us ever had."

"It's a man's work to harness horses," Ethel declared, to which Huldah responded: "No wonder it is to drive them."

Ethel looked thoughtful. "I'm not so sure of that. It seems somehow unwomanly. I've seen Huldah, Penelope make him stand still while I get out and—"

"But her decent stand the signal for him to do the trick," Huldah interrupted. "With one more vigorous flourish, she started on in spite of the chorus of 'Whoas!' from our united throats. Huldah blazed after him panting."

"The sun was blazing overhead; the dust was ankle-deep; the foot, and that horse wouldn't stop, except spasmodically and at long intervals, not once enough for Huldah, who occasionally overtook the vehicle, to get into it. Penelope was leaning over the side in every feature her oppressive sense of responsibility. Ethel was plainly frightened."

"Oh, what do you?" burst from her lips almost in a groan. "This time he whosed it was not on account of Ethel's eloquence, or the fact, first observed by Huldah, as she came up the road, that a part of the harness was dangling around his heels."

"There was a general wall. 'What shall we do?' 'If there were only a man with us who could—I beg pardon, I mean, who could stop the animal, or the fact, first observed by Huldah, as she came up the road, that a part of the harness was dangling around his heels."

"I was more for the double-breasted, full dress and tuxedo, overcoats, both spring and fall. Trousers and fancy vests—in fact, everything in this large and well assorted stock. Made up in our usual good style."

RIGHT ARM PINCHED OFF

Charles R. Benson, Locomotive Fireman, Injured in Collision.

Freight and Switch Engines Collide in Union Depot Yards.

Charles R. Benson, fireman on a switch engine, suffered the loss of his right arm in a collision in the Union depot yards, about 6 o'clock this morning.

The engine on which Benson was working cut into the engine of a passenger train, at an angle, and both engines toppled over. Benson's arm was caught between the side of the cab and the other engine, and when he was removed, it was found that the arm was practically severed above the elbow. Otherwise, he received only a few bruises and scratches. He was hurried to St. Mary's hospital, where he was reported to be resting well this afternoon.

Both cabs were pretty badly wrecked by the collision, but the engines were moving slowly when the accident occurred, and, with the exception of the injured fireman, all of the crew escaped without injury.

Benson is 39 years of age, married, and lives at 1706 West second street.

HOLD MEETING AT HOUGHTON

Baseball Magnates to Gather in Copper Country.

Now that the Copper country towns, Houghton and Calumet, have proven failures as part of the Northern Copper Country league, they are said to have adopted a dog-in-the-manger policy and have filed protests against being dropped from the league circuit. The petition of Winnipeg and Duluth for the dropping of Houghton and Calumet has been held up by the national commission and, in the meantime, baseball affairs at this end of the circuit are in a more confused condition than ever.

In an effort to straighten the matter out and get at the bottom of the attitude of the Copper country towns, a meeting of the league was called to meet in Houghton next Wednesday, Jan. 22, when it will be thrashed out. Just what will be the result of the meeting is not clear, but it is expected that the Copper country's protest isn't clear. There is no hope of a league being formed in that country to replace the Northern Copper Country league. Duluth and Winnipeg will undoubtedly be dropped from the league, and the league will be determined to break the league up entirely, there can be no object in their taking the stand they have.

Epipletic Fit After Reaching Verdict, Puts End to Trial.

New York, Jan. 15.—An epileptic fit put a sudden end to the trial of Rocco Quinto at Long Island City, after the jury had agreed upon a verdict. The case had been finished and the jury had retired to their deliberation room and had agreed on a verdict, when one of the jurors fell to the ground, and the trial was postponed.

Previous to this incident he had said: "Miss Vanderbilt, when she becomes Countess Szechenyi, will be received in the best families in Hungary. The country is strewn over with her kind, and she will be queen of the hour. Count Szechenyi has an income of more than $50,000 a year, and they should have an interest in any kind of a settlement."

Des Moines, Jan. 16.—Dr. E. M. There was a rescue him, though many remember the time when he was a member of the Des Moines and fared many at his table. He was alone. His hair was long and his clothes ragged and his spirit broken.

Dr. McLean was the pioneer in the use of the "hook" in the city. He made a fortune every few months, his receipts ran as high as $100,000 a week. But he spent his money, too. ## Heid Caps at 55c

Values $1.50, $2 and $2.50

Because they were well English styles and had proven big sellers in the East, our cap man loaded up with high-priced caps from Heid, the famous Philadelphia maker. A mistake of judgment, for "they didn't take" out here. How to dispose of them is the question now, and "55 cents" is the answer.

They are Golf and Golf Yacht Caps—not the clumsy heavy things, but the medium weight good dressers and owners of fur-collar coats prefer. They have either inside bands or button tops, are grey, brown or dark blue and most of the bands have a rich velvet lining. All sizes.

WALSH JURORS UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT AFTER BEING OUT TWENTY HOURS

Have Made No Report Either Way to the Court.

The Only Message From Them Was That They Were Hungry.

Defendant in Courtroom Awaiting Verdict of the Jury.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—The jurors in the Walsh trial had given no indication of having reached a verdict up to 11 o'clock today, twenty hours after the case was left in their hands. Judge Anderson waited for an hour in his chambers, and then went to the United States court of appeals, where he engaged in the trial of another case, having left word with the bailiffs to notify him in case of a verdict. Walsh waited in the courtroom, accompanied by E. C. Rischer, one of his attorneys. Shortly after 8 o'clock the jurors sent out word that they were hungry. United States Deputy Marshal Northrup thereupon called up Judge Anderson by telephone and obtained permission from him for the jurors to go to a nearby restaurant for breakfast. The final arguments in the case were completed by Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Dobyns at noon yesterday. He devoted little from the course of argument followed by his colleagues, devoting most of his time to the plea of Mr. Walsh that all loans made and other banking acts which had been called into question, had been undertaken with the sole idea of benefiting the institution of which he was the head.

The judge's charge. Judge Anderson's instructions to the jury were comparatively brief, occupying some fifty minutes in the reading. The principal instruction was as follows: "If the defendant acted in good faith, and without fraudulent intent, with the belief that he was acting to benefit the bank, although the transactions were not judicious, he is not to be held criminally responsible. If he acted in bad faith, and with intent to benefit himself or some other person or corporation, other than the bank, his act was criminal. "If fraudulent credits were made to appear on the books of the bank, to the defendant, or to the Illinois Southern railway, the Southern Indiana railway, the Bedford Quarries company, or the Chicago Chronicle company, you may consider that it was no credit at all, and that it constituted a wrongful misapplication, for which the defendant is criminally liable." The defense took exception to several of the court's instructions, and also to his refusal to add some paragraphs which were handed in by the defense. A conference between attorneys and judge followed, and then the jury filed.

MASONIC BUILDING

At Baltimore is Badly Gutted by Big Fire.

The Famous Old Temple Located on North Charles Street.

Baltimore, Jan. 17.—The Masonic temple on North Charles street, between Lexington and Saratoga streets, was gutted by fire early today. All of the structure above the second floor is a hollow shell. For a time old St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church adjoining was threatened. The building, which is owned by the grand lodge, are believed to be in for $300,000 and the contents for $250,000.

The first floor of the structure was occupied by several stores, all of which were damaged by water. The upper floors were devoted to lodge rooms, all of which were elaborately and sumptuously furnished, while the walls were exquisitely decorated in oil colors. There were also in the building many rare and fine old paintings. The records and archives of the grand lodge are believed to be intact, as they are all kept in a huge vault in the cellar. The loss on the building and Masonic equipment was placed at $250,000. This is the second time that the Masonic temple has been a prey to flames, it having been destroyed on Christmas day, 1886. At that time, however, it was used largely as a theater (old Forepaugh's) and the Masons occupied but a comparatively small portion of it. When the building was restored, the Masons decided that they would use it in its entirety, reserving only the first floor for renting out as stores.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 17.—Two girls were killed and seven others seriously injured in a fire today in the building occupied by the Imperial underwear factory. About two hundred girls were employed in the building and there was a panic when the alarm of fire was sounded. Florence Watrous was caught in the burning building and was burned to death. Mary Buckley with a number of other girls jumped from the first escape and broke her neck. The injured are: Sadie Cohen and Annie Cohen, sisters; Florence Cusick, Margaret Moran, Kate Consey, May Whelan, Katherine Griffith. All were burned on the fire escape before jumping and they were suffering.

THREE TAPS OF A SWORD

In Hands of Emperor Creates Knights of Black Eagle.

Kaiser Wilhelm Presides at Impressive Prussian Ceremonies.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Emperor William, as grand master of the Prussian Order of the Black Eagle, presided today at the investiture ceremonies of new knights of the order. These were Duke Robert of Wurttemberg, Gen. Baron Von der Goltz, commander of the army corps at Koenigsburg; Admiral Von Tirpitz, secretary of the admiralty; Baron Von Rheinbaben, Prussian minister of state and finance; Baron Marschall von Biebertstein, who represented Germany at the second Hague peace conference, and Gen. Von Stuenkel.

The ceremonial, gorgeous and medieval, took place in the chapel of the order, a small but beautiful apartment of the royal castle at Berlin. The walls of this chapel are emblazoned with the arms of living knights of the order, among whom are most of the sovereigns of Europe.

Five Princes in Attendance. The knights in attendance today, among whom were five princes of the house of Hohenzollern and the rulers of several German states, marched in procession from the adjoining reception hall to the chapel, clad in robes of sixteenth century design. They were preceded by heralds wearing tabards and high plumed hats, and trumpeters, blowing fanfares. Each new knight

WOMEN CHAIN THEMSELVES

Suffragists Resist Arrest in London in Novel Manner.

London, Jan. 17.—The arrival of the ministers at Downing street today to attend the first meeting of the cabinet before the assembling of parliament was made the occasion of a public demonstration by the women suffragists. The police anticipated trouble, and a large force was present, but the women succeeded in making their way inside the residence of Premier Campbell-Bannerman, and five arrests were made before order was restored. Some of the demonstrators adopted a novel manner to prevent being carried off by the police. They had attached to their belts stout chains which, when they saw the police about to lay hands on them, they quickly threw around the iron railing in front of the building. The police had to break these chains by force before they could get the women away. The suffragists subsequently were arraigned in the Bow street police court. They refused to give bonds for their good behavior, and were sent to prison for three weeks.

EVELYN THAW UNEXPECTEDLY CALLED TO WITNESS STAND

EVELYN THAW.

Quickly Excused, However, to Make Way for Another Witness.

Defense Continues to Build Net of Irrationality Around Thaw.

Old Friend of Family and Nurse Give Their Testimony.

New York, Jan. 17.—The defense at the Thaw trial continued today to build up its ever-tightening net of irrationality around the man accused of the murder of Stanford White. Two important witnesses at the morning session were Miss Alice C. Fletcher of the archaeological bureau of the Smithsonian institution at Washington, a long-time friend of the Thaws, and a frequent visitor at their home, and Miss Catherine O'Neill, who nursed Thaw during six years of his childhood. They both declared he was an irrational youth and detailed the many incidents in his life which had led them to the conclusion.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, unexpectedly was called to the stand just before noon, but was withdrawn a moment later to make way for other witnesses.

New York, Jan. 17.—Miss Alice C. Fletcher of Washington, D. C., who said she had been a frequent visitor at the Thaw household in Pittsburgh, and had known Harry K. Thaw for twenty-six years, was the first witness in the Thaw trial today. She said that Thaw was an unusual child—nervous and moody, with wild and staring eyes. He seldom talked coherently and was unable to carry on a sustained conversation.

"Throughout the period you knew Harry Thaw, did his acts and appearance impress you as rational or irrational?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"Irrational," declared the witness.

Miss Fletcher told of seeing Thaw at his mother's home in 1903. Thaw said he had had a fearful experience that he believed he had a terrible disease of the eyes, and thought he was going to die—in fact, he wanted to die. He mentioned Evelyn Nesbit's name frequently, but his talk usually was too incoherent to follow. His eyes looked without seeing apparently.

On cross-examination, Miss Fletcher said that although a frequent guest at Thaw's, she had never known Harry to be placed under restraint in any way. Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the defendant, who reached the city last night at 7 o'clock from Pittsburgh, was at the courthouse early today, ready to take the stand when called. She plainly showed the evidences of her recent illness.

He Was Not Rational, Mr. Jerome wanted to know if the

DIG GRAVES IN THE NIGHT

Big Gang of Italians Employed in Boyertown Cemeteries.

Unidentified Dead Will be Buried in a Long Trench.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 17.—The uncommon sight of a gang of Italian laborers digging graves by the light of the moon for the burial of the dead of the Rhodes Opera house disaster, was witnessed in Union and Fairview cemeteries here last night. So many funerals are to be held today, tomorrow and Sunday that the borough authorities found it necessary to keep the men at work all night. Today found this part of the work in connection with Monday night's horror almost completed. A large number of funerals were held today and many sad scenes were enacted as one or two members of a family were laid to rest in the hurriedly prepared graves. The largest number of funerals will take place tomorrow. The coroner today placed the number of dead at 173. The unidentified dead will be buried in a trench 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and 6 feet deep. Each of the thirty unidentified bodies will be placed in a separate coffin and each coffin will be separated from the others by a brick wall. The bodies will be placed in a semi-circle and at some future time a monument containing the names of the missing persons known to have been in the opera house when the fire started, and whose bodies have not been identified, will be erected on the plot. After all of the bodies have been buried memorial services will be held. It is probable the funeral will not be held until some time next week after Coroner Surawicz gets through with the identification of the victims. He will conduct a rigid investigation, but will be hampered somewhat in fixing the responsibility because the borough has no laws regulating the use of public halls.

WOULD IMPEACH LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Socialist Introduces Resolution in British Columbia Legislature.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 17.—Following the opening of the legislature with the usual ceremonies yesterday by Lieutenant Governor Dunsmuir, H. W. Northwale, Socialist member from Nanaimo, endeavored to introduce a resolution calling for the impeachment of the Lieutenant governor for having disallowed the anti-Japanese legislation of the last session. The speaker ruled that the motion was not sufficiently urgent to be taken up at the opening session of the house, preceding the usual formal motions to which the opening day is usually devoted. The resolution stated that it was shown at the recent inquiry that Lieutenant Governor Dunsmuir, in his private capacity, had contracted with the Canadian-Nippon company of Vancouver to procure 500 Japanese for work in his mines, while publicly he

JUMPS TO HER DEATH

Mrs. Herbert Sears of Boston Ends Life in New York.

Leaps From the Thirteenth Floor of the St. Regis Hotel.

New York, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Herbert M. Sears, member of a wealthy Boston family and a guest at the Hotel St. Regis, committed suicide today by jumping from a thirteenth story window.

Mrs. Sears was a frequent visitor at the St. Regis for several years. She always came to the hotel accompanied only by a maid and frequently remained there several days. Her actions were described by the hotel people as erratic and the maid always maintained a close watch over her mistress.

The body of Mrs. Sears fell on the roof of a four-story building adjoining the St. Regis, and the fall was heard by the residents of that building. Mrs. Sears left a note to her husband in her room in the hotel.

Boston, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Robert M. Sears was the wife of a prominent broker of this city, the brother of Richard D. Sears, former national tennis champion and twin brother of Philip S. Sears, also prominent in financial circles here. Friends here say that Mrs. Sears had been suffering for some time from melancholia. Mrs. Sears was Miss Caroline Bartlett, daughter of Francis Bartlett, a lawyer of this city and she was about 42 years of age.

VALUABLE GEMS ARE RECOVERED

Woman Gets Back $12,000 Necklace From Clothes Renovators.

New York, Jan. 17.—Mrs. William D. Little has recovered a $12,000 pearl necklace in a manner little short of miraculous. A fortnight ago Mr. and Mrs. Little went to the opera. In leaving the opera house the necklace, a wedding gift to Mrs. Little from her husband, became unhooked and taking it off she thrust it into the pocket of her opera cloak. A day or two later Mrs. Little gave the cloak to her maid, having no further use for it. The maid, not being able to wear the cloak, sold it to an establishment where women's cast off clothes are dealt in. That was two weeks ago. A day or two ago the woman who runs the clothes shop got the cloak out of a basket, where it had been thrown with other garments, for the purpose of renovating it. In the pocket she found the string of pearls. She thought at first they were imitation and when a jeweler next door told her the value of the necklace she nearly fainted. Consultation of the books of the shop showed the name of the maid from whom the cloak had been purchased and the jewels were returned to Mrs. Little, who, believing them safely locked up in her jewel safe had not missed them.

BLIND BOOK AGENT SHOT

Found Lying in Pool of Blood in Kansas City Doorway.

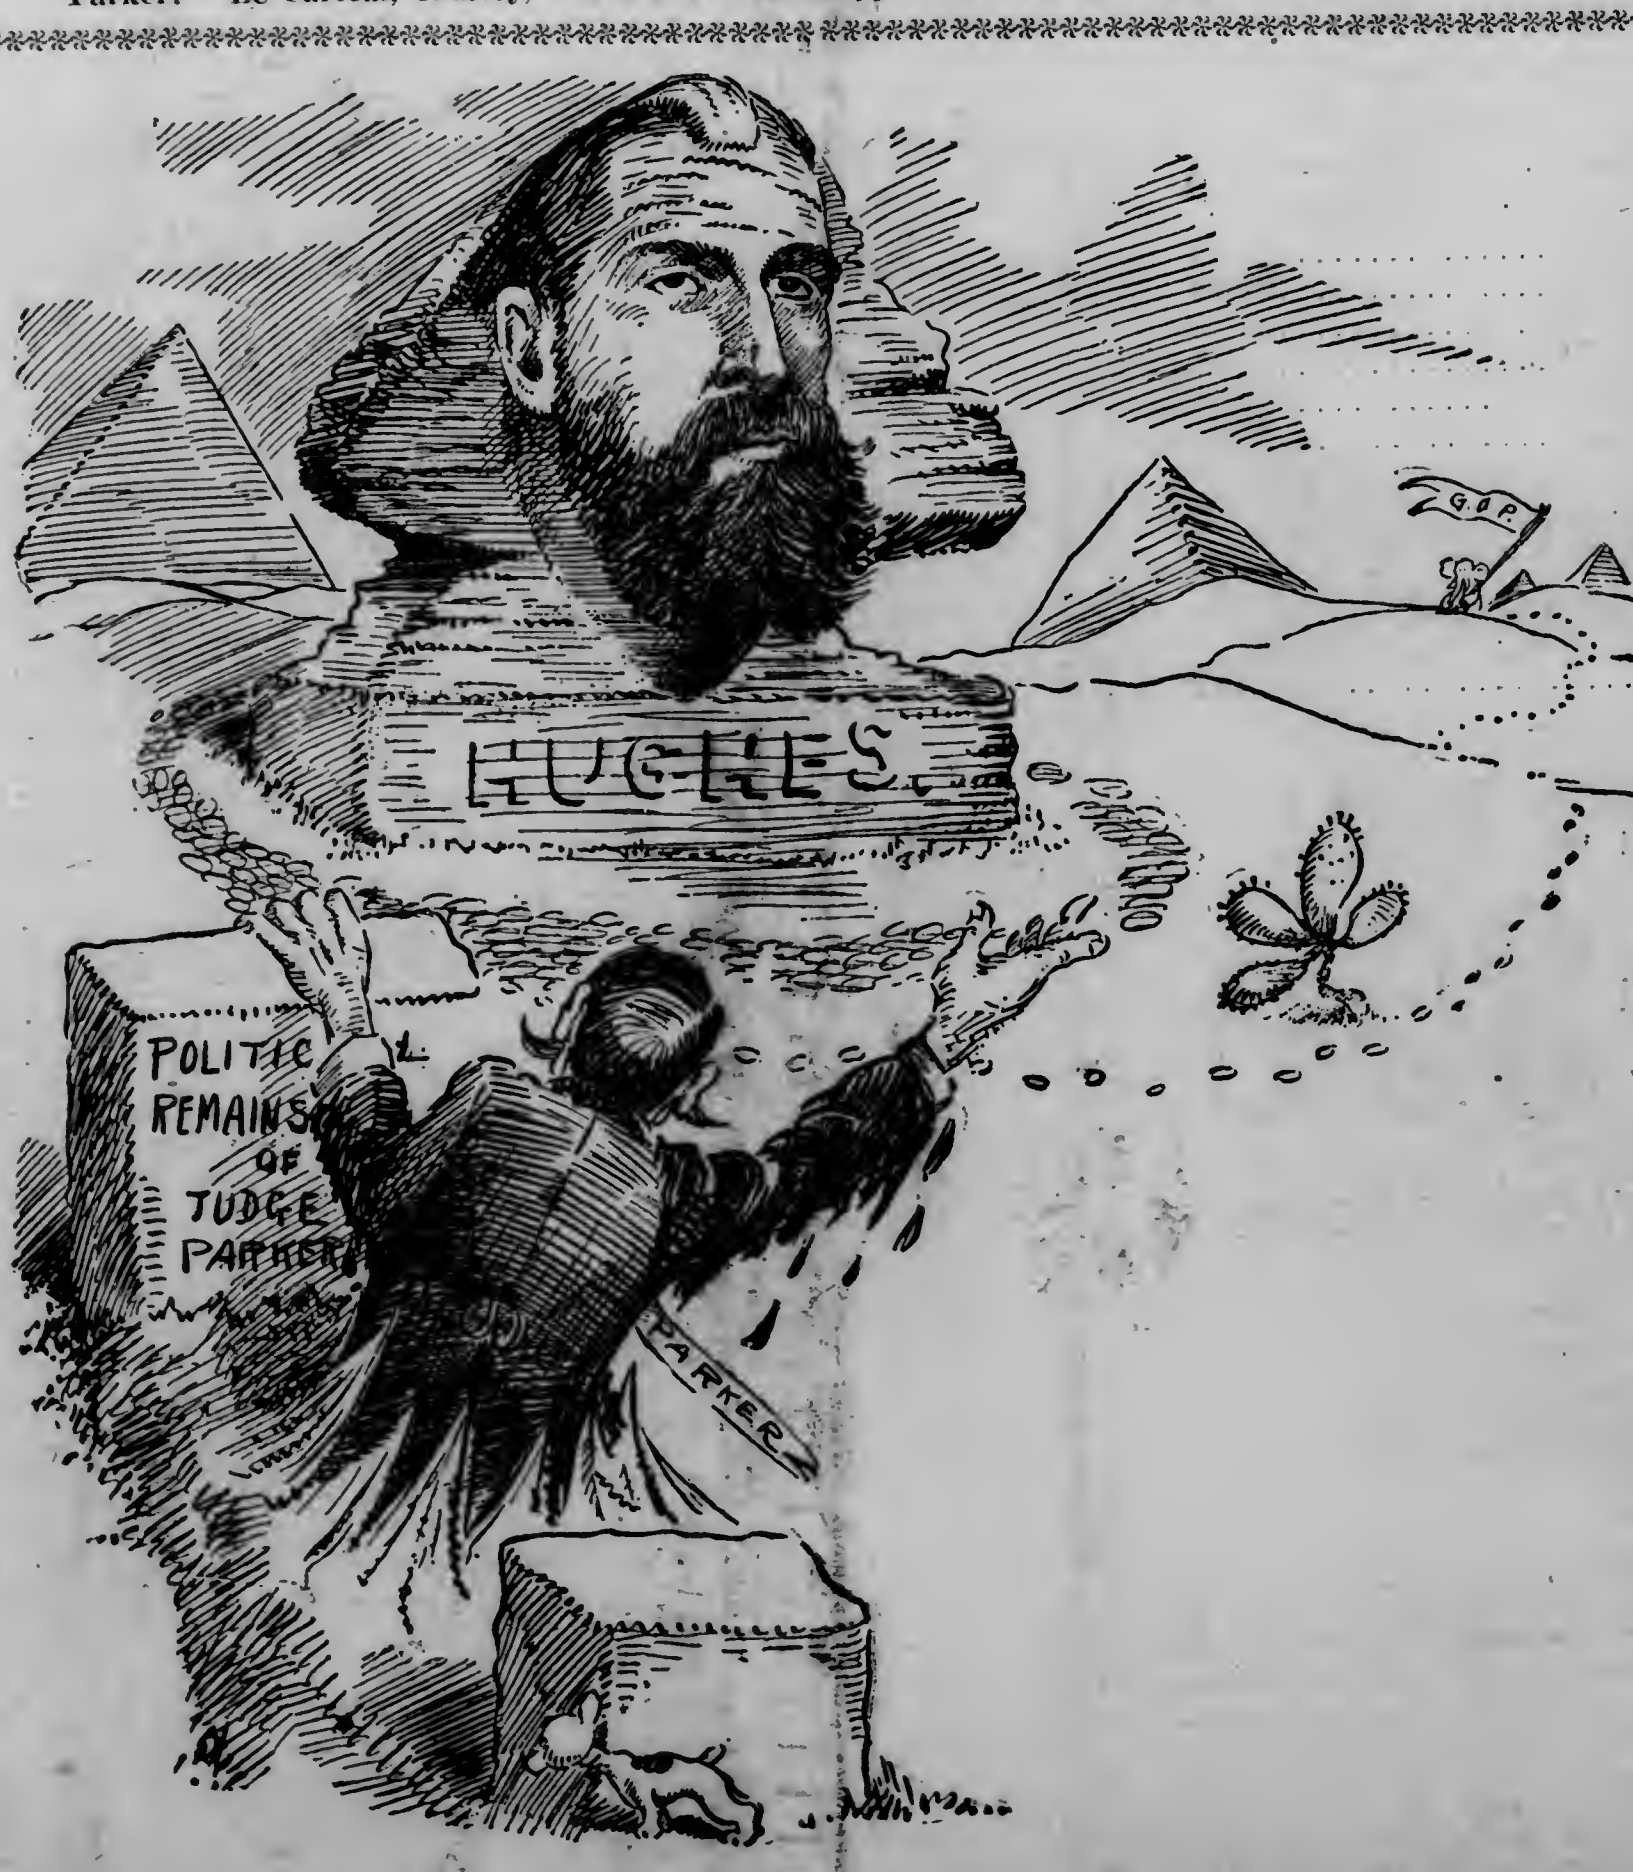

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—T. A. McMillen of Lewisville, Ohio, a blind book agent was found early today lying in a pool of his own blood in a hallway at 661 Delaware street. He had been shot twice and robbed. At the hospital it was said McMillen, although seriously wounded probably would recover. McMillen said he believed he had been shot by a woman and Stella Arwood, in the hallway of whose place he was found, was arrested. She denied the shooting, but was held for investigation. McMillen is employed by a Chicago house. He has been traveling in Kansas.

CONCERNING WOMAN

Rev. J. W. Powell continued his series of Browning lectures at the library this morning before a larger audience than has yet been gathered for these lectures. The subject of the talk was "The Men of Browning." Mr. Powell said in part: The more we study Browning the more we will come to realize that he felt that the ultimate study in all life was and is the soul of man. In all his writings his study of nature, of history or whatever else is subordinated to the study of the growth of a human soul. One of the most interesting features of his methods in his art is the marvelous sympathy he displays, entering into keenest understanding of all sorts of characters. He has conceived in sympathy the most despicable characters of history. He has conceived the most diverse and degraded of characters. He has said something in behalf of every one of them. He sets himself to find the clew to the character which justifies itself to itself. The sympathy with which he understands these various phases of human development is wonderful. He never mistakes bad for good, light for darkness or good for evil. This sympathy with the character, that might by others be considered entirely bad is shown by every truly great writer. Therefore, compels your sympathy and understanding for "Becky Sharp."

The scope of Browning's art is so great that it is almost impossible to classify his characters by types or groups. A remarkable individuality is preserved from Galiban to the noble old pope of "The Ring and the Book." Mr. Powell spoke in detail of many of the men characters of Browning's poems. "In the character of the Pope," he said in conclusion, "we have perhaps the highest character of a ripened character which Browning gives us. It is possible that flaws might be drawn out of the kindly old man we find a strength in the presence of all danger, a kindness in severity, a justice that holds all truth in its place that is truly admirable. The character in its spirit of love and goodness is a sort of anchor for the human soul. The sum of all of his idea for manliness is knightliness, which includes courage, integrity and a chivalry that is always at the service of any helplessness. The quality however, that underlies the poet's beautiful characters both men and women is spirituality. It is the quality which perceives in life something greater than just what we see, the quality that sees the life we live as merely a segment of an infinite circle, that makes the ideal, hopes and ambitions of those that have to do with the infinite."

DEACONESS HOME.

Possibility of Establishing One in Duluth Is Discussed.

At a large reception held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Congdon of 1509 East Superior street, deaconess work and its possibilities in connection with the church in Northern Minnesota were discussed at length. The principal speaker of the afternoon was Miss Betina Fowler of Philadelphia, field secretary of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church. It has been felt for some time that the work in Duluth and the surrounding country was large enough to demand the service of three or four deaconesses. At present there is but one deaconess engaged in the work of the Methodist church. There are Methodists of many nationalities throughout this surrounding country, and the residing elder of the district, Rev. E. C. Clemans, feels that a better and greater work would be possible with more helpers to be sent out to the church communities in need of help. It is hoped that a deaconess home may be provided for Duluth, where the deaconesses can remain when not actively engaged in work outside the city, and where a training school for workers would also be established. There was much interest shown in the meeting.

The fact that we would rather count dollars than garments makes this Pre-Inventory Sale a great value-giving event. And you will be surprised when you come, to learn how much merchandise a few dollars will buy.

Small lots, odd sizes and rapidly disappearing goods make it next to impossible to give price quotations, but it suffices to say that an investigation of the values offered will prove both interesting and profitable.

North Butte and Greene-Cananea Lead the Market.

The Entire List Shows Advances at the Close.

Greene-Cananea was the big feature of the copper stock market today, the issue bulging from $7.50 to $8, with a very heavy demand. The volume of trading was large and held up until the close, which was $8.75 bid and $8.87½ asked.

An amalgamated was a little steadier at the close, which was about unchanged from yesterday. A rumor was floating around during the day that Amalgamated was going to take over North Butte and Greene-Cananea, but it was not given great credence. Amalgamated opened at $51, went off to $49.50, rallied to $51.37½ and closed at $51.37½ bid and $51.50 asked. Anaconda opened at $32.87½, went off to $32.12½ and closed at $33 bid. FATE RESTS WITH JURY*Italian Miner is Charged With Stabbing Friend After Card Game.*Men Who Were Boyhood Friends in Italy, Quarreled.

Charged with a murderous assault on Thomas Calosne, with a knife at Mountain Iron, some weeks ago, Joseph Passuzzo, an Italian miner was placed on trial in the district court yesterday afternoon. The jury retired to consider the evidence at noon today.

Passuzzo was indicted by the grand jury in November, but owing to a slight flaw in the indictment he was held until the January grand jury met and returned another indictment charging assault in the second degree.

According to the information of the state Passuzzo in a quarrel over a deck of cards stabbed Calosne in a serious manner.

Passuzzo claims that while he was playing cards with his cousin Calosne and some companions entered the room and asked to sit in the game. The defendant claims that Calosne became angry over the play and threw his cards on the floor and that when he Passuzzo remonstrated with him, Calosne aimed a blow at the defendant's head with a beer bottle.

According to Passuzzo he went to his trunk to get a revolver to protect himself, but the others took the weapon away from him and he was put out of the room. He claims that he did not have a knife and did not see anybody else in the room have a knife. The defendant claims that he and Calosne were boys together in Italy and had always been good friends up to the time of the row.

Passuzzo is defended by N. H. Wilson.

FARMER LAID TRAP For Automoblist to Kill Calf and Collected $500.

New York, Jan. 17.—Aaron Banks, a Pinebrook, N. J., farmer, near whose home many automobiles passed, stationed his two sons, James and Jethro, in a clump of bushes at the roadside with a four-week-old calf; across the highway the calf's mother was tethered in full view. He told his two sons to turn the calf loose at the moment an automobile approached.

Banks, with a double-barreled shotgun, hid himself further down the road. James was the first to see the car struggling to reach its bawling mother, nearly pulled Jethro's arms from their sockets. Finally James yelled:

"Here comes one going like the dickens; let her loose."

Jethro dropped the rope, the calf rushed toward its mooring ma.

The trap was timed to the fraction of a second, the chauffeur did not time to avoid a collision, the big car hurled the calf in the air; it fell lifeless.

The chauffeur halted only to look after the calf had been hurt. Banks stepped from behind the tree and covered the two men and two women in the car with his shotgun.

"That was a Guernsey calf; none better bred in the state," yelled Banks in affected fury.

"You killed it; hand over $500 or I shoot."

He got the $500.

When the automobilists had passed on Banks called his boys with the remark:

"Well, kids, we'll skin the calf and eat it ourselves. I intended selling it to the butcher for $5 if I hadn't thought of this scheme."

INJURED BY EXPLOSION*Two Men May Die as Result of Discharge of Dynamite.*Charged Hole Set Off Accidentally at Sewer Excavation.

John Chino and Gust Erickson are suffering from injuries, which will probably prove fatal, and Peter Johnson and Erik Mollen received numerous cuts and bruises, as the result of an explosion of dynamite shortly before 5 o'clock last night at Thirty-first avenue east and London road, where excavations are being made for a sewer.

The men are at St. Mary's hospital, where it was stated this afternoon that Erickson was in the most serious condition, with Chino a little better and the two other men out of danger. Johnson is a member of the contracting firm of Johnson & Nordgren, which has charge of the work, and the other three men are laborers.

The men were employed on the excavations for a sewer on Greyson road, with an outlet at Thirty-first avenue east. The condition of the ground requires the use of dynamite in blasting and Chino and Erickson were experienced in the work. They had just charged one hole and completed drilling another, when the accident occurred.

As Chino remarked that the hole, which they had just been drilling, was deep enough, he lifted the drill and let it fall again. The presumption is that the concussion set off the charge in the hole about two feet away.

The explosion was terrific. Erickson and Chino, who were standing nearest the hole, received the full effect of the charge of rock and were thrown to the ground by a shower of debris. Johnson and Mollen were standing nearby and they were also hurled to the ground and cut and bruised by the flying fragments. The timber protection about the blast had not been set when the charge was exploded and pieces of rock were sent in all directions for several hundred feet and other workmen had narrow escapes.

When the other workmen recovered from the shock, they rushed to the assistance of the injured men. Erickson, Chino and Johnson were unconscious, while Mollen was only momentarily stunned. Chino and Erickson were badly cut about the head and face, their clothing torn and their bodies lacerated.

An ambulance was called and the injured men taken to St. Mary's hospital, where a staff of physicians gave them attention. It was feared for a time that Erickson and Chino could not live through the night, but they rallied, and this morning Chino was very much improved, although little hope could be given out for Erickson.

Johnson regained consciousness shortly after he was taken to the hospital, and although the shock may keep him there for several days he is in no danger. Mollen was only slightly injured, and will probably be released today.

Chino is about 27 years old, and lived with his wife and child at 1102 West Third street. Erickson is 26 years old and lived on West First street. Mollen boarded at the Belmont hotel, and Johnson lived with his family at 4514 Cambridge street.

A Cure for Malaria. "I have found a cure for the malarial fever," says R. M. James, of Louisville, S. C. "It is called Bitter, and comes in 60-cent bottles at all drug stores. It is a powerful and a bitter tonic, and almost no time; and it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission. This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all cases of malaria, kidney complaints and the malarial fever. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores."

Stole False Teeth. The gold fillings, moulds and false teeth in the show case of Lee & Turner, dentists, evidently looked good to some unknown thief Wednesday night. The case was found broken open yesterday and the dental supplies missing. The robbery was evidently committed during the night.

GRADE PUPILS PUBLISH PAPER

"The Lakeside School Narrator" Makes Its First Appearance.

The bright youngsters in the Lakeside school have butted into the journalistic field with the "Lakeside School Narrator," the first copy of which has just been issued.

The board of editors is composed of Russell Jones, Editor-in-Chief, Charles Little, Eugene Wilkinson, Rhodie Sargent, Margaret McDermid, and George Watts, with Charles Little acting as business manager.

The object of the paper is announced as follows:

First, the desire to enhance the interest in our school work, thereby rendering it less monotonous to teachers and pupils; and also to help improve the quality of our school work by supplying a medium for the expression of the best thoughts of the pupils, especially those in the higher grades, thus encouraging them to strive for perfection in their writings.

There are a few of the local hits contained in the paper.

"Little Jack Henderson was given a piece of candy by his mother and shortly afterwards came back to her for another piece. She asked, 'Why, Jack, where is the piece I just gave you?' It just fell down my neck, he answered."

"Gastreaud Hanson had been hearing her parents talking of a wedding which evidently proved very interesting to her. Finally she said, 'Mamma, why didn't you take me to your wedding?'"

"When Marguerite Morrison was a few years younger than she is today, she had a passing fancy for passing up her father's razor. Upon being discovered with it in her hand, he scolded her roundly for her carelessness in handling such a dangerous weapon. When he was busy through Marguerite turned to him and sweetly remarked, 'Tell me another story, papa.'"

PAY BIG OPTION FOR LAND LEASE

Ten Thousand Dollars for Exploring on Cuyuna Range.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—It became known here, today, that Dec. 24, the Northwestern Improvement Company paid $10,000 to the Minnesota Park Region Land company of Brainerd for the privilege of exploring fifteen miles of the Cuyuna range, and in developing the iron deposits along the line of this road, last summer paid $10,000 for the same privilege.

The company has a smoky chimney can place helplessness as an excuse.

More Aid is Necessary. If any fuel is to be burned without smoke it must be supplied with the correct amount of air, says Mr. Breckenridge. A torch smokes because the large round wind brings up air, especially in the center, to which air cannot be supplied. If the air supply through the center tube of our student lamp is shut off, a smoking flame results. The candle with the small wick is an advance over the candle supplied with the large wick. The flame from the flat wick has an extended surface for air supply, while the circular burner not only has maximum surface for air supply, but the air coming up through the center of the tube is heated, making it still better suited to aid combustion and burn a large amount of oil.

Philosophy of Lamps. Thus it is that we have successfully solved the problem of burning a large oil supply without smoke. If we try to increase the oil consumption and turn up our lamps too high, they smoke and because they are in the room with us we immediately turn them down.

Furnaces burning coal sometimes smoke just because they are forced too hard, and because the top of the chimney is not in our room but in the public's air we do not turn them down, but let them smoke.

Makes a Monkey of Himself. One of our competitors is persistently copying our advertisements. At present he is offering to mail his calendars, free, to camp clerks and loggers. We have mailed our calendars, free, for the past twelve years, and we are doing so again this year. Ours are worth the postage. Send us your name and address, with the 5 cents postage required, and we will mail you one of our 32 by 26 1908 calendars, free.

CHICAGO MAY BE SMOKELESS

More Air in Coal Furnace Will Solve the Problem.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—A smokeless Chicago is entirely possible, even where soft coal is burned in boilers. L. P. Breckenridge of the University of Illinois experiment station in a bulletin just issued on "How to Burn Illinois Coal Without Smoke," declares that there should be little difficulty in designing, constructing and operating ordinary conditions of service will be smokeless.

Mr. Breckenridge believes that in the past too much dependence has been placed upon the fireman. The plants that smoke least are mechanically operated, and the present knowledge of necessary equipment and apparatus is so exact that all the appliances are available. No man with a smoky chimney can place helplessness as an excuse.

Wood, who built and manned for a number of years the first hotel in Hillsboro, May 29, 1854.

Mrs. Wood descended from English ancestry, her parents first settling in Tennessee. Her father, Richard, was a brickmaker, and built the first brick house in Knoxville. He dropped dead from heart disease. His mother died at the age of 110. The day before she walked five miles, knitting all the way, at his own her custom. Mrs. Wood weighed about 130 pounds, and was 5 feet 3 inches tall.

On the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Wood was made the occasion for a gathering of relatives and friends from all parts of the Northwest, and in 1905 several great-great-grandchildren were present, the oldest living grandchild is Mrs. Bullock, 56 years of age. At a public gathering at Portland, a year ago was crowned "queen mother of Oregon."

VAN DYCK SOLD FOR 20 CENTS.

Portrait of Artist's Sister Raked From Junk Heap.

Broussais, Jan. 17.—A remarkable find is reported from a little Flemish village called Westminister, in the shape of an authentic canvas by Anton Van Dyck. It is a portrait of Van Dyck's sister, who was a nun in the Convent of Waasminster. The painting was made in the convent and had disappeared. Recently some old stuff remaining from the old convent was being sold by auction, and one lot was sold for 8 cents. It was discovered later that among these unimportant paintings was lying near by intact.

WIND HELPS FIRE ALONG

Hawley Visited by Blaze That Destroys Much Property.

Citizens Fight Hard to Save the Clay County Town.

Hawley, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A defective stove in the Masonic hall, above the store of J. L. Johnson & Co., here, started one of the worst fires experienced in Clay county in years. The fire broke out Wednesday, about 5 o'clock. The flames were fanned by a strong wind from the northwest, and the building was burned with most of the contents. The building, belonging to Christ Thiel, and occupied by N. J. Thiel & Sons, as a hardware store, caught fire from the Johnson & Co. building, and burned with most of its stock, in spite of the best efforts of citizens to save it.

Adjoining this building was a feed-mill belonging to T. B. C. Evans, and this was also burned, with its contents. The harness shop of George Shippey, near by, was saved. A small warehouse, near the Northern Pacific tracks, caught fire from cinders carried by the wind, and was burned, with its contents of wood and coal. All were frame buildings.

DON'T FEAR SMALLPOX.

Two Towns in Martin County Where Disease Fairly Runs Riot.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Smallpox is running fairly in two towns in Martin county.

Inspector Harry Sinks has just returned from Monterey and Triumph, two small towns in Martin county, where he has been investigating an epidemic of smallpox.

In the two towns 15 cases of smallpox were located, and according to statement of the inspector, they were given no attention whatever by the local boards of health. Many of those with the disease were found to be attending to their duties, and as to the sick, no quarantines regulations were being observed. The town butcher, with his face and body showing every indication of the disease in an advanced stage, was seen by the inspector, who was found in his shop and making deliveries as usual, and the daily hauling passengers between the railroad station and the local hotels, and driving traveling men wherever they desired.

Without delay the complete isolation of the two towns was ordered by the inspector. Since then, however, the two towns of health to get busy with the delay, the embargo was lifted.

Hayward of Lathrop, who found not only a quantity of venison and the hides of deer which had been killed illegally at the Givens establishment, but also two deer hounds. That Givens has been violating the law for a long period was proven by the fact that one of the deer hides brought into court had been taken from the animal some time in September, when its coat was thin.

DAKOTAS

MARTIN BURKE IS DEAD OF WOUNDS

Nevertheless the Coroner's Jury Cannot Fix the Blame.

Lakota, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery surrounding the death of Martin Burke, who died last Saturday at Tolna from a severe and mysterious beating he received Nov. 7, will probably never be explained as Coroner Lohrbauer and a jury have been unable to unravel the case.

Many persons are inclined to the belief that Burke was murdered, while others are as equally certain that his injuries were received accidentally. While Burke was conscious most of the time after being injured, he was unable to cast light upon the manner in which he was hurt. He was driving home from Tolna on the night in question and had gone about two and one-half miles when the supposed assault took place. He fell out of the buggy unconscious, but revived shortly and made his way to his home.

From the first, foul play was suspected, as it was claimed that Martin Burke was by no means popular with some of his neighbors, but no evidence whatever was adduced at the inquest to connect anyone with the affair. Those upon whom slight suspicion had been cast by rumor, proved complete alibis.

J. ADAM IS IN TROUBLE

Bede Has Two Hot Post-office Fights on His Hands.

Aitkin and Princeton Appointments Are Causing Him Worry.

The postoffice fight in his district this winter are likely to add some gray hairs to the head of Congressman J. Adam Bede.

The warmest fight is at Aitkin. Capt. R. M. Shook, who four years ago was elected county chairman, is the present postmaster. Shortly after Bede's election the postoffice became vacant and Capt. Shook asked for the appointment. A. L. Hamilton, editor of the Aitkin Republican, was also a candidate for the office. He had been a prominent Republican supporter, and the congressman did not like the idea of turning either man down. He, unfortunately for himself, let the matter drag along until both sides became embroiled in a merry fight. Petitions were circulated, and no little and feeling developed. Finally Bede, it is claimed, intimated that if Mr. Hamilton would withdraw his name he would be considered for the reversion of the land office. He did so, but lost out on the land office appointment. Capt. Shook's term has now expired, and he seeks reappointment. J. L. Hollister, editor of the Aitkin Age, is also a candidate for the office, and the congressman sees an opportunity to square himself with the Aitkin newspapers by handing the post to Mr. Hollister. It is probable that this will be done, and that Capt. Shook will be turned down.

At Princeton there is another hot fight. William Cardor is the present man down. He is a Democrat, appointed four years ago. He seeks reappointment, and is backed with a big petition, being especially popular in Princeton. L. S. Briggs, a prominent politician and a former Bede chairman, also seeks the office. Smith of this city, and agent for the time there is a war of petitions and counter petitions.

Two other postoffice appointments have recently been settled by Mr. Bede. Ralph M. Pope has been appointed at Mora, and Pay Carver, editor of the Duluth Times, has been appointed at Duluth.

BIG FIRE AT PORTER. Porter, Minn., Jan. 17.—The store building and the hardware and furniture stock owned by J. A. Jacobson were destroyed by fire. The loss is $10,000. There is $800 insurance. Only the prompt action of the fire department saved the house portion of the town from destruction.

The rule for old people is one Cascaret daily. The bowels, like other muscles, grow less active with age. They need help.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural.

It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. And most of them need daily. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels.

The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at sixty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. And there is no matter of choice here. The only such tonic is Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50 cents, 25 cents and 10 Cents per Box.

See Moore's Hinged Top The Real Handy Way to Broil

Broiled meat is healthy. It's the only way in which all the juice and flavor of meat can be retained. But broiling is troublesome when you have the ordinary range in your kitchen. With Moore's Range at your service, broiling is the easiest and cleanest as well as the quickest method of serving meat. Simply pull on the chain and up goes the front section of the top and there you have the entire fire as a broiling surface. Then you stand in front of the fire instead of over it, thus saving blistered hands and face. There is no smoke, as the cold air rushing in drives the smoke up the chimney. Neither do you have to wait for a bed of coals before broiling your meat. Any kind of a fire will do. For broasting bread Moore's Hinged Top is a delight to every housewife. Then coal can be spread evenly over the entire fire surface, thus causing a more even distribution of heat over the oven; also it's a great aid to fire building; no dirty hands from having to poke kindling through the top or else taking off all the front lids, thus taking time and spreading soot over the polished range top. ## PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Tessman Says Election
Conditions Look Better Than Primaries Did.

Famous Star Chamber Session is Hurting Haven's Campaign.

"Things look better to me for the general election than they did for the primaries," said Emil Tessman, the morning, in speaking of the campaign, which is already beginning to show every promise of being a hot political fight.

"I believe I stand a better show of being elected now than I did of being nominated."

The workers on both sides are losing no time. Ward meetings are being held every night in the present campaign, and if anything the attendance is larger and the enthusiasm greater than it was before the primaries.

It cannot be denied that the star chamber session which nominated Haven is hurting him in the present campaign, and on all sides his workers are being asked by what right he can be called the Republican nominee.

He is the nominee of the committee of forty," was the answer of one old line Republican, when approached with a request to vote for Mr. Haven. He is largely for the sake of overcoming this feeling the Haven workers are planning to publish the names of the members of a committee which will endorse their candidate and lend him their moral support. The committee is now being arranged. C. E. Adams, Mr. Haven's manager, stated this morning that the committee was not yet complete, and was not ready for publication. Great care is being taken in choosing the members of this committee. The object is to secure men who will prop up Mr. Haven's campaign by their names and prove that he is the choice of the whole party and not of a few active politicians as so many Republicans suspect.

The first ward Haven workers held a meeting in the tool house on Eighth avenue last evening and listened to talks by Mr. Haven, John G. Rose, A. G. McKnight, W. A. Hickman, John R. West, E. J. Kenney, George Schulerberg and Watson S. Moore.

A most enthusiastic Tessman meeting was held out in the enemy's camp at 280 West First street, last evening, and Mr. Tessman was enthusiastically endorsed.

The West End Democratic club will meet this evening at Sloan's hall, in the West end, and it is expected that the members will endorse Mr. Tessman for mayor.

OPERATIONS SUSPENDED

Many of the Independent
Mines Are Closed Temporarily.

New Orders Are Expected Later in the Year.

Half of the mines of the Republic Iron & Steel company have closed down because of the decrease in the demand of finished steel products. An official of the company, when seen today, stated that present indications pointed to a continuance of the decreased demand for finished products until long into the present year, with a consequent closing of part of the independent mines.

Another official of an independent mining company, whose mines are always closed during the winter months, made the statement that the business was unusually dull at the present time, there being but a slight demand for ore for finished steel products.

Some of the independent mines have closed down for the same reason. Last year at this time a great bulk of the orders for the year were in. At the present time many of the mines have not received sufficient orders to warrant them in keeping open.

According to the official of the Republic mines, the business was heavy up to the first of November. Since then the demand for steel products has shown a great falling off. This is accounted for by the decreased demand for steel rails for new railroad work, for steel structural work and for varied commercial operations where steel is used.

The decreased orders are not confined to the independent mines, the United States Steel corporation also feeling the decreased demand for finished steel products to some extent.

Many of the foremen at the lower end of the lakes have found it expedient to discontinue work. Much of the ore taken down the lakes this fall was for 1907 business. Old orders kept the furnaces busy until the 1907 contracts were filled. When the mines came to look for new business, the greatly decreased demand for steel for commercial operations was encountered. At the present time roads and other interests are not making large contracts for new orders, but are going ahead on old orders.

Mining and iron men in general look for a resumption of orders before the close of the present year, but predict that the business will come late in the year. Business will have to adapt itself to new conditions before new orders for finished products will be received.

WITNESS IS BOUGHT OFF

Ernest McDonnell Gets Sixty Days for Contempt of Court.

He and Walter Russell
Failed to Push Grand Larceny Case.

That Walter Russell, complaining witness against Marie Moore, charged with grand larceny in municipal court last night, was bought off by friends of the woman, was the statement made to Judge Cutting this morning by Ernest McDonnell, who pleaded guilty to contempt of court in failing to appear at the time, and drew a sentence of 60 days and costs of sixty days.

McDonnell was arrested about 7 o'clock last night on the Bowery by Sergeant Wilcox. He was trying to sell a pair of shoes to a second hand dealer and his actions were suspicious, so the officer took him in. Lieut. Frits, who was on duty at the station as one of the men who had disregarded a subpoena last spring, and he was charged with contempt of court on a warrant issued at the time of the incident.

Early last May, Walter Russell made complaint against Marie Moore, charging with grand larceny in municipal court, him of $25 in a house on St. Croix avenue. The woman was arrested and held in her examination set for May 11. When it was called, neither Russell nor McDonnell, who had been subpoenaed, appeared. In two days the police failed to find either them, and was necessary to dismiss the charge of grand larceny against the woman. She pleaded guilty to residing in a house of ill fame, paid a fine of $5 and costs and was advised to get out of town.

McDonnell said this morning that friends of the woman approached Russell and told him that if he would buy the shoes, she would leave the city. McDonnell went with him and drifted back this week, thinking that the whole affair had blown over. McDonnell doesn't know who put up the money to get Wilson away, and the police believe a friend of the woman was responsible and that he probably left the city when she did.

DEATH LIST A BIG ONE

Nearly 200 Wolves Were Killed in St. Louis County Last Year.

County and State Paid
gating $2,758.

Wolf bounties amounting to $2,758 were paid by St. Louis county and the state of Minnesota in 1907, as compared with $2,657 in 1906. This means that last year there were 150 wolves killed within the borders of St. Louis county. In 1906 there were 136 full grown wolves and two wolf pups killed in the county. Last year there were seven wolf pups killed.

The palm for the largest number of wolves killed last year goes to N. D. Fairbanks of Bloodwood, who for the past two years has made a business of killing the animals for their bounty, during the winter seasons. In 1906 Mr. Fairbanks killed twelve wolves and received bounties aggregating $130. In 1907 he killed fifteen wolves and received bounties aggregating $225.

The largest number of wolf pelts presented at any one time in 1907, for the bounty belonged to Mr. Fairbanks, who, on May 1, last, collected $21 on eight pelts. This year, fourteen pelts were brought in by one man at one time, although the bounties were divided among four hunters.

Warrants for wolf bounties to the number of 142 were issued during 1907 by the county auditor, according to his statement, which The Herald will very shortly publish in full.

The increase in the number of wolves killed last year as compared with the previous year is taken to indicate that there are more people engaged in the business of eliminating the wolves in the Northern wilds than formerly, also that the methods employed to slay the animals are meeting with greater success.

The winter of 1906 was not as favorable for the killing of wolves as this winter for the reason that the snow was deep and the wolves were unable to run down and kill many deer this winter they are having a hard time to get any prey owing to the lack of deep snow, and are more venturesome about going near the settlements. Wolf hunters find that the wolves are more easily caught with poisoned bait this winter than last.

It is claimed that the larger portion of the 150 wolves killed last year met death by the poisoned bait route.

RAILROADS BIG PRICES EXPECTED

The Lack of Snow Will Curtail Forest Output.

Railroads May Have to Pay Fancy Prices for Ties.

Railroad purchasing agents, and purchasers of other forest products, who are holding off with their orders for ties, posts, poles, pulp wood, etc., in the hopes of getting lower prices later in the season, on account of the money stringency, will be very badly fooled, according to present indications, thanks to the fact that there is so little snow for hauling in the woods of Northern Minnesota.

It is claimed that it already is a practical certainty that the output of products along this line will be curtailed 25 to 35 per cent this winter owing to the lack of snow, and unless there is a decided change for the better within the next few days, the consequences will be likely to run as high as 5 per cent under what was expected at the beginning of the season. All this will mean a shortage in the supply and a consequent increase in price all along the line.

This holds true not only of Northern Minnesota, but of Wisconsin and Michigan as well, so there will be a shortage of these two states as well as Minnesota. When the change for the worse in the money market came, it is said purchasing agents, particularly purchasing agents of western railroads, figured that they would be able to buy ties, etc., much cheaper this year than they did last, and agreed among themselves to place no orders for forest products until they got the prices they wanted them, figuring that the dealers, especially the small dealers, would become discouraged, and thus be put in a position to sell their output at a price lower than they really sought to receive.

This plan might have worked out to a certain extent if it had not been for unusual weather conditions and a lack of snow, but as it is the chances are very good that purchasing agents will be compelled to recommend purchases at figures even above those paid last winter, which were entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of the dealer.

Some of the large logging camps are able to get their logs to the railroads by manufacturing ice roads, but this is not practicable with the hundreds of smaller dealers, upon whom the railroads depend principally for their ties, and many of the biggest logging companies are not able to make enough ice roads to afford them material relief.

Owing to the fact that last fall was an exceedingly dry one, water is a scarcity in the logging districts, and even in the swampy regions much difficulty is experienced in finding enough water for making ice roads, and where they are made the loads hauled are only one-third to one-quarter the size they would be under normal conditions. Some of the camps employ crews of men, often forty or fifty in number, to do nothing but shovel snow in the ruts and keep the roads in condition for hauling, but even under circumstances such as these only small loads can be hauled.

Where there is no water and practically no snow, logging operations, so far as the small dealers are concerned, are at a standstill, with big and little dealers alike. There is no prospect of snow just now, and unless a much warmer day comes, there is likely to be a rush of buying orders that will clean up the market and send prices skyward, for the demand for all kinds of forest products, and more particularly for pulpwood and ties, is virtually just as heavy as it was last year.

CREATE NEW POSITION.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 17.—The office of acting road foreman on the Minnesota & International railroad has been created, corresponding to the position of traveling engineer on the Northern Pacific. C. A. Emerson, formerly traveling engineer on the Lake Superior division of the latter road, has been assigned to the duties of the new position and has arrived from Duluth. He will make his headquarters at Brainerd.

Appeals From the Award.

W. E. McCord has taken an appeal from the award of the appraisers in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the Great Northern Railway company to secure as part of its right of way along the bay front, some property owned by the applicant. The award was $3,250 for about an acre near the center of a 59-acre tract owned by Mr. McCord in the vicinity of the old McCord mill site.

Will Appeal Coal Cases.

City Attorney McIntosh is preparing appeals to the supreme court in the cases brought by the city to enforce the collection of taxes on the coal stored at the docks of the Pittsburgh and Hanna coal companies last spring. The coal was assessed to the companies, but they claimed that it was owned by the railroad for the latter. On the ruling of the supreme court depends the action of the city on a request from the Northwestern Coal company to have taken off its assessment several thousand dollars representing the value of coal said to belong to railroads.

Appraisers Begin Work.
W. D. Pence, chief engineer for the state public utility commission, was in the city yesterday and conferred with the city officials and representatives of the Water, Light & Power company relative to the appraisal of the company's plant, preparatory to a hearing on a complaint by the city that the rates charged are excessive. It is expected that several experts will be sent to Superior by the state commission to examine the workings of the plant in every detail. The hearing is expected to take place next month. It is possible that a continuance will be necessary if the experts do not complete their work in time for the hearing.

Clantice Gets His Freedom.

Joseph Clantice, accused of stealing a coat valued at $50 was acquitted by a jury in the superior court yesterday afternoon. As soon as he was released Clantice hurried to the police station and held conference with George Stevens, who is being held for trial as a habitual criminal. The police ordered him to keep away from the station.

He was seized with the California gold fever and it was supposed that he had gone to that state, but although his family tried for years to locate him no trace of him was found. A few years ago his brother, Charles, who resides at Webster, saw the name of Thomas Bates in a roster of the California soldiers in the Civil war. After much correspondence he traced his brother to the state soldiers' home in Trenton, N. J. Bates then received a reply from the brother he had heard nothing of in fifty-six years. He is now on his way to see the brother and will offer him a home and a share of his own comfortable fortune.

VERDICT IS DIRECTED*Drayton Bank Wins Case Against J. S. Rich of Duluth.*Question Involved May Cause an Appeal to Higher Court.

In the case of the Citizens' Bank of Drayton against J. S. Rich, a merchant, who broke down doing business on the board of trade, in this city, which has been on trial since yesterday, Judge Ensign, this morning, directed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the bank.

The action is one in which the bank sought to recover $18,000, principal and interest, of a draft which Mr. Rich is claimed to have accepted in April, 1907. It was alleged that at the time of his acceptance of the draft, there was attached to it a bill of lading for a carload of flour. The draft was due thirty days from the acceptance.

It is alleged that after the draft had been accepted, and the bank had paid the milling company at Drayton the face of the same, less the discount, the discovery was made that the bill of lading attached to the draft accepted by Mr. Rich was a forgery.

During the trial Mr. Rich sought to show, in his defense, that the consideration for the acceptance of the draft had failed, and that he was not obligated to pay for it.

The court held that the failure of the consideration could not be shown as between drawer and drawee to defeat the recovery of a bona fide payee for value received. The court permitted all the evidence to be introduced before directing the verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

It is understood that this question has never been passed on by the supreme court of Minnesota, and that the defendant is likely to carry the matter up for a decision.

The Citizens' bank of Drayton was represented by Synnolds & McClean, and Mr. Rich was represented by H. H. Spencer.

In Judge Dibble's room testimony is still being introduced in the personal injury case of Frank Norton against C. J. Extraculo, the box manufacturer. Norton claims that while he was in the employ of the defendant and had his hand in the dovetailing machine, the belt, for some unaccountable reason, suddenly slipped from a "dead pulley" to the "live pulley," and the machine started, catching and mangle his hand and arm. The defense claims that the machine had been in motion, that Norton shut off the power, but that before the machine stopped running he carelessly stuck his hand into it and was injured.

FRANCE MAY HAVE BACKED WRONG HORSE.

Paris, Jan. 17.—In the face of the growing fanaticism of the Moors in favor of Mulai Hadid, the position of France in Morocco is increasingly difficult. Apprehensions are cropping up that perhaps France may have been backing the wrong horse and that it would be better to accept Mulai Hadid if he does not repudiate the Algeiras act. At any rate the government is now marking time pending developments. Active French support of Abd-el-Aziz, which at present could only injure his cause with the Moors in the interior, will now be withdrawn and a position of nominal neutrality will be assumed.

A DAY OF NEW FUNERALS BANKS CHARGE

Sixty More Persons Laid at Rest at Boyertown.

One Cortège Follows Another From the Various Churches.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 18.—This was another day of funerals in Boyertown, the scene of last Monday's theater fire in which 173 persons lost their lives. It was an extremely sad day, even to simply to see the ruins of the opera house. About sixty funerals took place, and so great was the demand for undertakers and hearse drivers that additional vehicles had to be pressed into service from neighboring places. A sufficient number of men were on hand to look after the interments and mourners to conduct the funeral services.

One Funeral After Another. Many of the dead were taken to the churches, where services were held. The churches were crowded and as soon as one funeral service was over, another party of mourners would enter the edifice. The great feast for which the Pennsylvania Germans are noted as giving on funeral occasions were dispensed with in every household which lost a member in the fire. One of the saddest funerals of the day was that of the six Meyer girls, three of them sisters and the other three cousins. There were several double funerals of husband and wife, and among others buried, Dr. Frank Brunner, former state auditor and one of the best known men in Berks county.

HELD AS SLAVE BY THE CHINESE

Police Rescue American Girl Who Has Forgotten Parents.

Pittsburg, Jan. 18.—Florence Livingston, 16 years old, is in the hands of the police, having been captured in a raid on a house occupied by Lee Ping, in the Chinese quarter. The girl says she was kidnapped from her parents in Cincinnati when she was 9 years old and since that time has been held by the Chinese as a slave, frequently passing from one Chinaman to another, in different parts of the country. She says she was not allowed to write to her friends and finally forgot even the name of the street on which she lived. She could tell the police nothing about her parents. She now speaks Chinese fluently.

THE RED CROSS WANTS FUNDS

Edward R. Johnstone to Conduct Campaign for Membership.

New York, Jan. 18.—It has been determined by the American National Red Cross to enter at once into a general campaign for increased membership, both annually and life. At a recent meeting of the executive board in Washington, Edward R. Johnstone was appointed to the position of national registrar. His duties will include the promotion of publicity as to the work, purposes and needs of the national, state and local societies, and more particularly the gaining of a membership. Mr. Johnstone has been editor-in-chief of the Minneapolis Times, and of the Cleveland Leader, and managing editor of other important newspapers in New York and outside; was a correspondent for the Associated Press throughout the Spanish war and recently went to China in charge of a cargo of flour, provided by America, and shipped on the United States transport, its purpose being the relief of famine-stricken residents in Kiang Su. In regard to his own duties, and the purposes of the American National Red Cross, Mr. Johnstone said:

"While it must not be supposed that the society is anything but powerful and effective, it is none the less true that compared with similar societies in other great powers, it has neither the membership nor the reserve fund to which it is entitled. For example, Japan has a total fund of more than $3,000,000; Prussia nearly as much; France nearly $4,000,000; Italy $1,500,000, and Austria nearly $2,500,000. Switzerland, where the Red Cross originally started, has about $100,000 in its available funds—while the American National Red Cross can count less than $20,000 in its reserve. I believe, and the executives of the Red Cross in Washington believe, that conditions need only to be changed to the American people to secure a membership in this country that shall eventually exceed a million, while the fund itself would be at hand for succor in cases of local calamities too great for local relief will far transcend the needful drafts thereupon."

LIBERALS SUFFER REVERSES. Newton Abbott, Eng., Jan. 18.—The Liberals today suffered a reverse by the election of Capt. Morrison-Bell, the Unionist candidate for parliament in the Ashburton division of Devon. The defeated Liberal candidate is C. R. Buxton. The result was a surprise.

Affairs of Sovereign Bank of Canada in Other Hands.

Business Will be Conducted by the Bankers' Association.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 18.—When customers of the head office in Toronto and seventy-five branches throughout Canada called at the Sovereign bank of Canada today they found other banks in possession as a result of a transference of all business of the Sovereign bank to the Bankers Association of Canada, consequent upon the decision of the Sovereign bank to go into liquidation. There will be no interruption to business so far as the Sovereign bank's customers and depositors are concerned. The branches of the bank have been assigned to different banks, each of which will take charge of the accounts in the particular branch with which it is engaged. The customers will present their checks or pass books as usual, and they may either get the cash or a certificate of deposit from the particular bank that is in charge. The only point in which serious difficulties may be created is in the case of borrowers who have been extended a line of credit by the bank. The present condition of the financial market may render it extremely difficult for some firms to place their money, but it is busy with the names of several that may be forced to assign.

Situation Discussed. From early last evening until the early hours of this morning, meetings were held at all the banks to discuss the situation created by the liquidation of the Sovereign bank. The officials of those banks which are interested in the financing of the various branches of the Sovereign bank made arrangements for today in order to follow the announcement that the Sovereign bank was going into liquidation. The heaviest shareholders are the Dresdner bank of Berlin, Germany, $1,000,000; Thomas W. Joyce and W. A. Bierck of New York, $250,000 each, and William Van Vleck of New York $200,000.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—It is announced in connection with the liquidation of the Sovereign bank that the Montreal branch and its business has been taken over by the Bank of Montreal, and that the main office in Montreal has been taken over by the Bank of English North America.

The depositors will be paid in full, but nothing definite can be said in regard to the shareholders.

IS CHARGED WITH PERJURY

Witness in the Druce Case Arrested by the Police.

London, Jan. 18.—The Druce case promises to bring in the spring an aftermath of sensational charges of perjury against several persons who were connected with the hearings. A witness in the case, who calls herself Miss Robinson, was arrested last night and brought up in a police court today. The chief inspector of Scotland Yard asserted that instead of being a spinster, the daughter of a Virginia planter, she was in reality the daughter of a London policeman. On the stand this woman testified that she had been brought from America by Charles Dickens to act as secretary to the duke of Portland and T. C. Druce. The inspector declares that Miss Robinson spent her earlier years here and that she married a butcher, with whom she went to New Zealand. The prosecutor said he expected to prove that Miss Robinson's entire story was a tissue of falsehoods. It was difficult to believe, he continued, that she had so detailed and elaborate had been prepared without assistance, and he hoped to be able to ascertain whence this assistance came. The prisoner was remanded.

POPE PIUS' HEALTH IS MUCH BETTER.

Rome, Jan. 18.—Pope Pius was visited this morning by his private physician, Dr. Pezenci, who found him in better health; but the physician insisted that the pope continue to rest. Because of this, the audiences arranged for today were suspended and the pope only received the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry del Val and Mgr. Biletti, major domo of the Vatican. The reception took place in Pope Pius' bedroom.

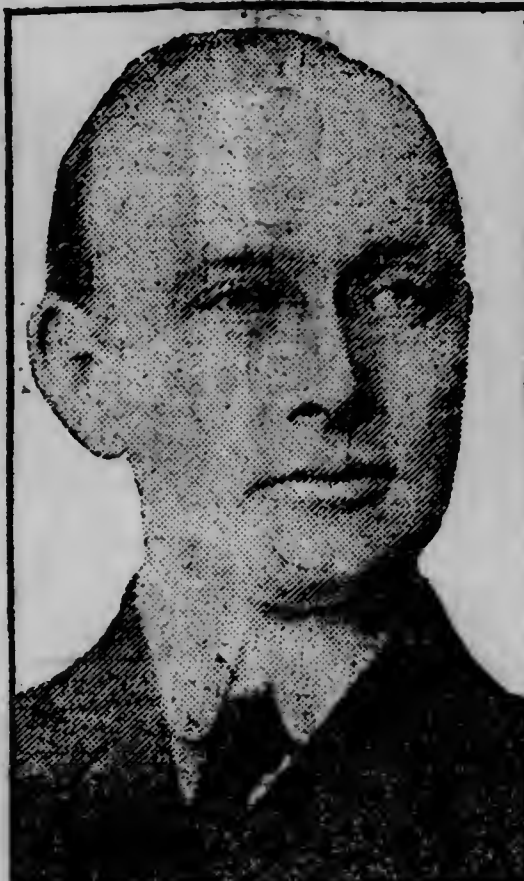

KILLED BY WOOD ALCOHOL. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 18.—John Hart, of the cruiser St. Louis, died here Thursday from the effects of wood alcohol, surreptitiously taken. He is the third victim in a week to succumb to the poisonous drink. Two other sailors are totally blind from the same cause and five others may never again be fit for service. Harry Wilson and James T. Hayes are the other two blue jackets who are dead from the drink.

TIMES NOT SOLD YET. London, Jan. 18.—Apparently a hitch has occurred in the reorganization of the Times which on Jan. 6, it was announced, had passed from the control of the Times newspaper company, to a company with C. Arthur Pearson as managing director. A paragraph appears in the Times this morning, declaring that no sale has been effected, and that the previous statement only referred to the negotiations that were in progress.

JUDGE AND LEADING ATTORNEYS IN TRIAL OF WALSH

JOHN S. MILLER, Chief Counsel for the Defense.

FLETCHER DOBYNS, Prosecuting Attorney.

ALBERT B. ANDERSON, Trial Justice, Who Presided.

WALSH FOUND GUILTY OF MISAPPROPRIATING FUNDS OF CHICAGO NATIONAL BANK

Jury Returns Verdict After Being Out Since Thursday.

Defendant Found Guilty on 54 Out of 182 Counts.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—John R. Walsh, president of the defunct Chicago National bank was today found guilty of misappropriating the funds of that institution. The jury, which had been considering the case since Thursday afternoon, reached an agreement shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, but the verdict was not announced until after court reconvened at 10 o'clock. The penalty under the law for the crime of which Walsh was convicted is imprisonment for a period of not less than five years. It does not permit of the substitution of a fine for the prison term.

He was found guilty on fifty-four counts, 182 counts. Demurrers were sustained as to thirty-two counts, which left 150 upon which the jurors were required to pass. The verdict of the court was read by the clerk of the court at 10:17. Immediately after the reading of the verdict, attorneys for Walsh asked that the jury be polled. This was done.

Juror Bursts Into Tears. Walsh was present in the court room and received the verdict with little show of emotion. On the contrary, one of the jurors, Elbert Palmer of Harvard, Ill., burst into tears as he took his seat in the jury box and was so overcome during the proceedings that he was scarcely able to answer the clerk when asked if the finding represented his view as to the guilt of the defendant.

As the clerk read off the names, the jurors in turn answered his question in the affirmative. When it came Palmer's turn to respond he arose with his head bowed, swayed as though about to fall, and muttered something behind his hand. Not until the question had been repeated a third time did the juror control his feelings sufficiently to reply.

Motion for New Trial. Formal motion for a new trial was made by Attorney John S. Miller, and Judge Anderson set the hearing of the arguments for Jan. 28. Walsh was allowed to remain at liberty on the same bond, $50,000, which had been given after his indictment by the federal grand jury.

The charge against Walsh grew out of the closing, in 1905, of the Chicago National bank, of which Walsh was president.

DENIAL BY JAPANESE

That Their War Vessels Are Cruising Toward America.

All Vessels on Home Station, Excepting Those at China.

Tokio, Jan. 18.—Reports attributing sinister designs to the Japanese naval administration in connection with the Pacific squadron are absolutely unfounded. Vice Admiral Saito, minister of the navy, in an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press today, said:

"We have no secrets from Americans concerning the distribution of our fleet. Daily reports are handed the naval attaches, showing the whereabouts of every vessel, which can easily be ascertained."

"In view of the sensational reports emanating from various quarters, I desire emphatically to say that no vessel of the Japanese fleet is any nearer the Pacific coast of America than Yokosuka. Every one of the battleships is now on the home station, either at Yokosuka, Kure or Sasebo, and the entire flotilla of torpedo boats and submarines are at the same stations."

Some Vessels at Chinese Ports.

"The only Japanese war vessels now outside of home waters are one cruiser and three destroyers, which are at Hankow, Fuchow, Amoy and Ningpo, two at Shanghai and three small ships at Korea."

A training ship squadron, consisting of three old cruisers, will sail on Jan. 25. One of these vessels is going in the direction of Colombo, in Ceylon, via Manila, where she will call on a friendly visit.

"Any statement made differing from this is absolutely without foundation." Vice Admiral Saito was evidently surprised that any idea prevailed abroad that Japanese war vessels were cruising in the direction of America. Commander John A. Dougherty, the American naval attaché, when he was shown Vice Admiral Saito's statement, said:

"I can positively confirm the statement of the minister of the navy if my own knowledge of the Japanese naval situation is correct."

"There is no vessel absent from home waters except those on the regular Chinese stations and a few vessels at Korea."

MOTHER SAVES HER CHILDREN

A South St. Paul Woman Proves Herself a Heroine.

St. Paul, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A South St. Paul mother proved a heroine Friday evening, when she rescued her five small children from a burning house.

Mrs. Elmer Dazelle was preparing supper when a gasoline stove exploded. It is thought from a leak, hurrying into an adjoining room, she carried two of her children outside the house. Meanwhile the flames had spread and were playing havoc in the room where the remaining three children were. Rushing into the room and seizing them as best she could, she carried them to safety.

The house and furniture were destroyed. The loss is about $1,500.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Fatal Accident Occurs Near Druid Hill Park, Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—George L. Billups, proprietor of Billups hotel, Park Heights and Heyward avenues, and his wife were instantly killed today by being thrown from an automobile at Park Heights avenue and the Pimlico road entrance to Druid Hill park.

Leo H. Shoad of Elk Ridge, Howard county, the owner and driver of the machine, was hurt internally, but not fatally. Mr. Shoad said he had stopped at Billups hotel, and was taking Mr. and Mrs. Billups out automobile driving. He was going south on Park Heights avenue, when Mr. Billups asked him to speed his machine, he said. In turning the curve at the Pimlico road entrance to the park, his machine skidded and upset. Mrs. Billups landed between the two trolley car tracks, and Mr. Billups on one of the tracks. The automobile was completely wrecked.

CASTRO ANNULS ANOTHER CONTRACT.

Caracas, Venezuela, Wednesday, Jan. 15, via Willemstad, Curaçao, Jan. 15.—President Castro has annulled the contract made by the government with the Venezuelan Salt monopoly, limited, an English corporation with a capital of $400,000. A representative of the company has protested to the British legation against the action, and also the decree annulling the match monopoly issued a few days ago. This company also opened the match business. The British legation is awaiting instructions from the home office.

ESCAPE WAS MIRACULOUS

Forty Miners Run Seven Miles in Race With Death.

Battle Five Hours With Fire in Pennsylvania Mine.

Monongahela, Pa., Jan. 18.—Miraculously escaping death by suffocation or being blown to pieces by an explosion, forty miners employed in the Caisgang mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke company, made their way through the dark headings for a distance of seven miles and finally reached the open air. Without lights to guide them, and given up as dead, the men battled for five hours with fire, and when they reached the surface their faces were blackened, their clothes torn and all were severely bruised from stumbling in their flight for safety. Fortunately, the mine contained very little gas or another mine disaster would have been recorded in West Virginia.

Mine Filled By "Blow Out." The mine was fired some time during the day by a "blow out" shot, and when the fire was discovered at 9 o'clock last night by the forty men, all escape to the surface through the Monongahela entry was cut off. Momentarily expecting an explosion with its horrible coal and timber splinters, the miners struck, for the entry at Chaperel, seven miles away. In their frenzy they stumbled and fell, but only to jump up again and continue their mad rush for safety.

The experience was the most frightful a body of real miners has ever had. When the men reached the surface at 2 a. m. today a majority of them were sobbing like children.

A large force of men are today bracing the part of the mine which caught fire, and it is believed the damage will be small.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson of Minnesota, in the opinion of C. L. Stacy and S. G. Fairbank, business men of Minneapolis, if nominated by the Democrats for the presidency, would not only carry his native state of Minnesota, but would also carry North and South Dakota.

Both Mr. Stacy and Mr. Fairbank are Republicans, but they say that 90 per cent of the Scandinavian vote in Minnesota and elsewhere is Republican, and that notwithstanding this fact, the Scandinavians, who are clamoring to support Johnson, are being considered one of their own, although born in this country. "I am a Republican," said Mr. Fairbank, "and am not a politician in any sense, but I do know that Governor Johnson is popular here and I think he would defeat any candidate who opposed him."

With the aid of the nominee of the Democrats and Taft the standard bearer of the Republicans, Minnesota, in my opinion, would give an old-time Republican plurality.

BIRD SMART SET WEEK

Annual Poultry Show Will Be Held This Month.

The Duluth Poultry association has issued the premium list and announcement of its twelfth annual show, which will open in Old Fellows' hall, Monday, Jan. 27, and close Saturday, Feb. 1. The booklets are being sent all over the Northwest, and the officers of the association are confident that the number of exhibitors will be the largest of any year. The show of the Duluth association has come to be recognized as a standard institution for the display of their fancy poultry by owners of the birds throughout the Northwest, and each year its scope extends to take in greater territory and new specimens.

George D. Holden of Owatonna, Minn., has again been secured to judge the show, and his presence insures satisfaction among the competitors. Judge Holden is known as one of the best judges of poultry in the United States. He has been president of the American Poultry association, has made a study of poultry, and is well versed in everything connected with it, and his rulings in Duluth have always proved satisfactory.

It is expected birds will be received this year from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Winona, Eau Claire and other points, which have sent entries in former years, besides the numerous towns in Northern Minnesota, which always contributes large numbers. Several of the smaller Wisconsin towns will also enter the exhibition.

The cash premiums to be awarded total about $700, prizes to be awarded in cash, and the prizes in kind, such as chickens, ducks, geese, and turkeys, will be awarded. For pens of four females and one male in each variety, three prizes of $1, $2 and $3 will be awarded. The same rules and regulations will govern the pidgeon as the poultry department. The pidgeons will be entered in pairs first prize pair to be given bird card and $1; second prize pair, red card and 50 cents, and third prize pair, white card. The best display will receive $2, second $1, and third a card. No entrance fee will be charged for pet stock, when entered for exhibition only, but they must be exhibited in attractive and suitable cages. Entries for competition will close Jan. 27, the first day, and all stock must be in the show room by noon of the next day. An effort will be made to have all entries in two days before the show opens, and that is urged on prospective exhibitors. Entry blanks are being sent out by Secretary Greenfield. Birds competing must be strictly the property of the exhibitor, and in cases of doubt an oath will be required. The association will furnish coops, feeders, waterers, and other necessities during the show, and during the show the specimens are under full control of the superintendent. The "Quartette Cup" and "Trio Cup" will be awarded as usual. The officers of the Duluth association are: President, W. L. Windom; vice president, Porter B. Maxwell; secretary, J. B. Greenfield; assistant secretary, J. B. Wier; treasurer, J. W. Nelson. H. A. Nelson will be superintendent of the show. The executive committee consists of Theodore Hollister, H. A. Nelson, R. R. Forward, Fred Myers and L. A. Larson.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SAVES THE LIFE OF MAN.

Fall River, Mass., Jan. 13.—That George H. Allen is alive today is due to the fact that there was a wireless telegraph installation on the sound steamer Plymouth. While the steamer was on its way here from New York a wireless message was received to the effect that Allen was aboard and that he had left letters in New York saying that he was going to kill himself. A search of the steamer was made and Allen was located in a state room with a bottle of poison, which he was about to drink. He was restrained and brought here.

Want Court Ruling on Assessment for Trunk Sewer.

Board's Right to Assess for Direct Benefits Doubtful.

Whether the property receiving direct sewage benefits from an outlet sewer shall be assessed proportionately for such benefits, or whether the cost of the sewer shall be assessed on all property in the district, receiving outlet benefits, is the question, which the courts will be called upon to decide through an appeal from the assessment for the construction of the outlet sewer on Grand street, Grand avenue and Forty-ninth avenue west, from Center avenue to the bay.

The appeal will be filed by the appellants in a few days. Richardson & Day acting for a number of clients, whose interests in the city are at stake, are caring for by them. The members of the board of public works and other city officials are just as willing to bring such an appeal taken as are the property owners. The question is whether the board of public works has the right to assess under similar conditions. The amount involved is only about $200, distributed over a large expanse of territory, to be affected by the sewer. The appeal would remove from each lot assessment would be small, but the principle involved makes the appeal desirable.

Under a provision of the charter, the city council is authorized to order the construction of outlet sewers, which sewer is to be assessed by the city. This sewer is in question. The sewer is constructed under that provision. Its course is laid out by a city engineer, and the assessment is made by the city engineer. The sewer is to be assessed by the city engineer.

IS BURIED WITH PYTHIAN HONORS

The funeral of Arthur Rose, late of the city fire department, who was accidentally killed while going to a fire last Tuesday evening, was held in Elks' hall this afternoon, under the auspices of North Star lodge, No. 30, Knights of Pythias, in which the deceased was an exalted.

The ceremony was conducted according to the ritual of the order, and was a large and impressive, being witnessed by a large congregation of the friends of the deceased.

The pall bearers were members of the class in which the deceased was taking his rank in the organization. He was to have had the rank of knight conferred on him next Tuesday evening.

The remains were escorted from the hall by a large delegation of members of the city fire department.

The burial occurred at Forest Hill cemetery.

Arthur Rose will be remembered as the assistant lighthouse keeper at the Duluth ship canal, who during the last few days of Nov. 23 and 24, 1905, was marooned in the lighthouse at the outer end of the Duluth ship canal.

The heavy seas washed the top of the pier and the passage-way to the lighthouse out, and the fixed light station to the outer end became flooded so that means of communication were shut off and the sea subsided. Mr. Rose witnessed the wreck of the Mataafa at anchor during the storm.

For a time during the storm fears were entertained for his safety, as the lighthouse was washed clear over the lighthouse station.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing to Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more one takes it, the better it is. It is a natural and simple absorbent of the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and bowels, and carries them out of the system.

CLUB FALLS INTO LINE

West End Democrats Endorse Emil Tesson for Mayor.

Alderman Haven's Friends Busy Explaining Star Chamber Session.

The West End Democratic club fell into line last evening and gave Emil Tesson an unqualified endorsement for mayor. Frank Schaffer was also endorsed for alderman in the Seventh ward.

The club showed by its action that it bore no malice as a result of the riot fight. During the primaries the club supported Mayor Quinn and John Johnson, but last evening Tesson was endorsed, and the club swung into line for Schaffer.

Mr. Tesson and his manager, "Billy" Smith, were present at the meeting. Mr. Tesson made a brief talk. He said that labor bore no ill will to the club, and that it stood in favor of his opponent, and now that the primaries were over, he wanted the club to support him. He stated that he was willing to stand on his record in the council, and that if elected he would give the city a businesslike administration, showing favors to none.

Mr. Tesson was followed by Alderman Schaffer, Andrew Nelson, Bert Foster, city attorney, and his assistant, T. J. McKen. Several members of the club also spoke, and the best of good feeling seemed to prevail.

Following the meeting the Sixth ward members perfected an organization to take an active part in the campaign.

Alderman Haven's friends are busy explaining that there is nothing to the reference in The Herald to the "star chamber" and that Alderman Haven is unquestionably the choice of the entire Republican party, in spite of the denials, however, there are a number of Republicans in the city who cannot quite get over the memory of the two o'clock session in securing the nomination of Alderman Schaffer.

DR. BRACKEN RETURNING

Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, who has been absent for a few weeks ago, will return to Duluth tomorrow.

Dr. Bracken is coming to Duluth Monday and will appear at the council meeting Tuesday night. What his intentions are, nobody knows. Dr. Murray, health commissioner, said that he had no knowledge of the intentions of the secretary of the state board, although he admits that the visit will be made. He says possibly the doctor is coming to study conditions and the council resolution, by so those who have watched the developments, it looks as though the St. Paul man intended to explode a few bombs in the dignified atmosphere of the council.

It is whispered that Dr. Bracken has approached Attorney General Young on the question of handling the disrespectful Duluth council. A prolongation of the whisper brings report that the attorney general has informed Dr. Bracken that the state board of health has full and complete power over the city of Duluth and every other city in the state, and is empowered to enforce its own regulations, regardless of any local rules which may be made by the city council.

There's a question in the minds of Duluth people as to whether the council should exercise that power, in case the local regulations provide for a more drastic quarantine than that of the state board.

In case Dr. Bracken doesn't try to point out to the aldermen the error of their ways, using the attorney general's decision as an excuse, it is hardly possible that he comes to provide the "shotgun" quarantine, which he provided in the case of the council should disregard the opinion of the state board of health and in case the council should disregard the opinion of the state board of health and in case the council should disregard the opinion of the state board of health.

Dr. Bracken said that he would give the city a businesslike administration, showing favors to none.

CHANGES OF REGULATIONS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—Following the adjournment of the annual convention of the Lake Carriers' association, the executive committee was in session here yesterday, winding up the routine business of the session. The committee of engineers to go to Washington, Feb. 6 and 7, to confer with the board of supervising inspectors of steam vessels regarding changes in the regulations governing boats on the great lakes, was announced as follows:

Frank B. Smith of Cleveland, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh Steamship company; J. F. Mitchell of Cleveland, chief engineer of the Glouchester fleet; Thomas Durkin of Cleveland, fleet engineer; and J. F. Fox of Buffalo (Anchor line); J. F. Hayes of Duluth (Wolvin fleet); A. Arnold, Marine City (Pickands-Mather fleet).

During the Detroit convention, a resolution was adopted asking the government to fix an age limit for the life-saving service, with partial salary after retirement.

President D. G. Keefe of the International Longshoremen, addressing the labor committee of the Lake Carriers' association, said that under no circumstances would the longshoremen consider a proposition to reduce wages, though they were willing to go into conference to correct any hardships to owner or worker, if any were found in the existing contract.

Members of the labor committee of the Lumber Carriers' association, and delegates from the International Longshoremen will meet in Chicago, June 30, in an effort to make a wage agreement for the coming season.

IT OUGHT TO BE IN THE PAPER

For Fourteen Years I Have Waited for Something of "This Kind. I Saw, I Went. Am Glad I Did."

These Are the Words as Said by William Scheel, of Alexandria, Minn.

For fourteen long years there has never been a day that I was free from pain of the leg. I had a large ulcerated and inflamed sore leg. I had not been able to get a good night's rest for years. Had been treated by the best doctors throughout the land. Was in a hospital for a time, where they wanted to operate on me and take my leg off. About that time, I read of Dr. Rea's wonderful cures. I wrote to some of them. Found that they were bona fide, and went to see him, and made arrangements to be treated. The sore on my leg was about six inches long. Extended all around my leg. I thank the good Lord that I saw him, and I trust that others will see him as I did.

Other cures made by Dr. Rea:

C. Christensen, Northwood, N. D. Cured of cancer of the hip.

Morris Peterson, Duluth, Minn. Cured of catarrhal deafness.

Louis Hedlin, Albany, Minn. Cured of chronic rheumatism.

Francis Ward, Royaltown, Minn. Cured of blood and stomach trouble.

Mrs. Fred Lepoleo (daughter), Chaska, Minn. Cured of catarrhal deafness.

And many others too numerous to mention. It is claimed by Dr. Rea's friends that he can tell the name of any disease, and where located in five minutes. This being the case, he is not liable to doctor them for the wrong ailment. Dr. Rea treats mostly deep-seated and lingering diseases, those diseases that are ordinarily considered incurable. He has been educated in the principal hospitals in this country and in Europe, holds diplomas from several of the best medical colleges in the world, and very few doctors are better experienced than he. Dr. Rea comes to Duluth, St. Louis Hotel, Saturday, January 25, Superior, Superior Hotel, Friday, Jan. 24th. At each place one-day only, from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Consultations and examinations to those interested, $1.00.

LABOR STRIKE OR NO STRIKE

Much Doubt as to Future Action of Boiler-makers.

Lumberjacks Display a Strong Inclination to Hold Their Jobs.

Tonight will decide whether or not the boiler-makers in the several shops that have declared for the open shop will declare a strike to have the union recognized. There is a variance of opinion as to what action will likely be taken, and the men themselves do not seem to know. They say they will all depend on the way the necessary work is done. The employers, naturally, are of the opinion that there will be no strike. They are firm in their belief that the boiler-makers will continue at their work under new conditions. No attempt is being made to reduce wages, or to lengthen hours, but labor leaders say this will come later, if the men fail to stand by the union now. The action of the union probably will depend somewhat upon the advice of organized labor leaders who are now active in the cause of the building trades, and the latter, in their anxiety to prevent the open shop obtaining the slightest foothold, will, it is reported, advise in favor of a strike, the employers, say they will have no trouble getting enough men to do the necessary work. The fact of the fact that work is light in several railroad shops now, in the Milwaukee shops at Proctor, for example, half the crew has been laid off. As all the men employed in the Proctor shops are non-union, it is only natural to suppose that they will take advantage of any opportunity that offers for them to work in Duluth. The labor element maintains that the merchants of the city are suffering a big loss of business on account of the lock-out in the building trades.

This has been rather a quiet week in the lock-out situation. There is apparently have been no developments of importance on either side. Practically all the contractors are carrying on some work in the building line, and many of them are employing non-union labor. Such contractors as have joined the open shop movement from the start are still working full union crews. George B. Howley, president of the International Brotherhood of Labor, and personal representative of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, are in the city, and are expected to return here early in the week, and has not yet returned. He probably will be in the city Monday.

Even busy dodging between Duluth and St. Paul, official duties of the state, but while he does not slight his work there, his heart is in the labor fight in Duluth, and he is anxious to see the situation in the building trades. Although he is now a state official, he seems just as much interested in the cause as he ever did.

It has been expected from the first that the labor trouble would result in a change of the state as any other one of the three. If the contest should center among these three, it would be a very friendly one all the way through. Peace is supposed to reign in state party politics, and the building trade fight of much bitterness is looked for.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That The Herald may be able to correct the mis-statements published in various newspapers which The Herald has been getting along without any suffering. The mild winter and the consequent saving in the matter of living expenses.

President Gompers is keeping in touch with the local situation through reports of Mr. Howley and Mr. McGowan, and is maintaining interest in the Duluth fight. He is said to be well satisfied with the manner in which affairs are being handled, and has little chance of his making a personal visit here, for some time at least. There are valuable officers at Washington that require his personal attention, while his lieutenants, being better acquainted with the local situation, probably are even better able to conduct affairs locally than he would be.

The supply of common labor still exceeds the demand. Orders for men for the woods and railroad work are the same day as received. It is an easy matter for the local employment agent to fill all the orders they get, which was not true of the situation last summer and fall. The men are sticking to their jobs remarkably well. It is an odd fact that the lower wages are, the longer men are content to remain in one position. This holds particularly true of woods work. The explanation, however, is simple enough. Low wages in the woods mean a scarcity of labor, and high wages mean just the reverse. Last winter, when the lumberjacks were receiving $40 and $45 a month, they were very aware that work was so plentiful that they could quit on very favorable conditions the next day and get another job. Thus they were very independent and caused the loggers a lot of trouble. This winter low wages prevail, and jobs are a scarce article. If the lumberjack quits one camp he knows very well that he runs a good chance of going all winter without finding another job, and so he is careful to keep what he has got. This greatly simplifies matters for the loggers.

FARGO CONTRACTOR GETS SAUK CENTER CONTRACT

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—James H. Sarsaparilla has been awarded the contract for constructing the new waterworks system at Sauk Center, Minn. The contract involves about $21,000. The bids were competitive and were decided by Oscar Clausen of St. Paul, the engineer in charge of the plans.

The work will be commenced as early as possible next spring and pushed to completion at once.

TAFT STILL IN THE LEAD

Sentiment in Minnesota Seems to Favor His Candidacy.

La Follette's Boom Carefully Fostered—Bede Will Have Fight.

The La Follette boom is being well engineered in Minnesota, and is said to be gaining considerable headway, although earlier in the game it was not thought the Wisconsin senator had much show in the race for the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket, so far as this state was concerned. It is claimed that Taft sentiment is still in the lead in Minnesota, but that La Follette is making strong gains, while Hughes also has a strong following.

Fairbanks also has a few adherents, although he is only stands fourth in this state. Local political leaders say they do not feel like making a prediction to the effect that the Minnesota delegation will present a solid front for one man at the national convention. A split delegation is considered quite possible in Duluth very little La Follette sentiment is apparent.

The main interest still centers in the national election, and the selecting of delegates to attend the national Republican convention, although there is, of course, some talk relative to state politics. A full state ticket is to be elected this year, and more or less attention is being paid to the candidates, most of whom are merely prospective.

In case of a strike, the employers, say they will have no trouble getting enough men to do the necessary work. The fact of the fact that work is light in several railroad shops now, in the Milwaukee shops at Proctor, for example, half the crew has been laid off. As all the men employed in the Proctor shops are non-union, it is only natural to suppose that they will take advantage of any opportunity that offers for them to work in Duluth. Nasal Catarrh and Grip.
Mrs. J. B. Allen, Petoskey, Mich., writes:
"Both my husband and myself were seriously ill with a grippe. One day I saw an advertisement of Peruna in a paper and asked him to get me a bottle. He had no faith in it, but got the medicine. I took it and immediately began to improve. For a long time I could not per-

Who can withstand the dreadful hand of grip that periodically clutches thousands in its remorseless grasp?

Can any one hide from its terror?

Can any one afford to ignore its consequences?

A remedy to allay its ferocity during its attack.

A remedy to mitigate damages to the system.

Can anything more be done?

Is not Peruna, the renowned catarrh medicine, such a remedy?

Many thousands of people think so.

Grip Entirely Relieved.
Rev. George B. Troutman, Mt. Washington, Mo., writes:
"My wife and I are strong believers in Peruna. I was cured of a bad case of catarrh when nothing else that I tried had any effect. My wife was cured from a severe case of grippe, and we feel that the least we can do is to gratefully acknowledge the merit of Peruna."

Grip With Other Symptoms.
Mr. E. B. Stiglitz, Noyah, Texas, writes:
"I take pleasure in testifying that Peruna quickly helped me in a severe attack of the grip, accompanied by pain in the kidneys."

A Tonic After La Grippe.
"I often joked about the Peruna and called it 'good blitters,' but I have now learned that it is a good medicine. I give this testimonial for the benefit of other sufferers."

A Tonic After La Grippe.
Mrs. Charles E. Wells, Sr., South St., Delaware, Ohio, writes:
"After a severe case of la grippe I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

A MOVE TO BAR PUBLIC

During Evelyn's Testimony is Made in Thaw Case.

Judge Will Decide on Reassembling Court Monday.

New York, Jan. 18.—A series of surprises brought the Thaw trial near a crisis yesterday.

Both Evelyn Thaw, the wife, and Mrs. William Thaw, the mother of the defendant, were on the stand, and just as the former was about to relate anew the story of her life as she told it to Thaw in Paris in 1903, District Attorney Jerome suggested that in the interest of public morals all persons save those immediately interested in the case should be excluded from the courtroom during the recital of what he termed a "horrible tale."

The notice included the reporters of newspapers as well as the public generally. Attorney Martin W. Littleton of the defense joined in the suggestion to shield the young woman from hundreds of curious eyes and said that as far as the constitutional right to an open hearing was concerned, he was ready to waive that point in any ironical manner the court might suggest. Proceedings were suspended until next Monday morning, when Justice Dowling, who is presiding, will announce his decision.

Should Have Been Made at First Trial.
The district attorney's suggestion was a distinct surprise and called forth the remark from Justice Dowling that it would have come with greater force at the first hearing of the case. When Mr. Jerome arose it was generally believed that he was about to contend against the admissibility of young Mrs. Thaw's testimony on the ground that it could not have any effect on the mind of the man who subsequently became her husband, inasmuch as the homicide did not occur until three years thereafter.

Mr. Jerome had previously objected to Mrs. Evelyn Thaw detailing conversations she had with Thaw three years prior to the tragedy, but Justice Dowling overruled, she was ever ready with her response.

MAJORITY OF COUNTIES

Columbus, Jan. 18.—The controlling committee in fifty out of eighty-eight counties of Ohio have decided to hold primaries to select delegates to the coming state convention under the call of the Republican state committee. These counties have 491 out of a total of 815 votes in the state convention.

Senator Foraker has said he would not be bound by the conditions of the committee's call.

AT THE LYCEUM

Mrs. Patrick Campbell Will Give Her Two Heaviest Bills in Duluth--The Mack-Leones Return to the Lyceum.

No little satisfaction has been expressed by prominent theater-goers of this city that Mrs. Patrick Campbell has chosen "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" for her appearance in this city. It is not only her greatest role, from a popular point of view, but the greatest of Pinner's serious dramas. "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" has been played in this country by Mrs. Kendall and Olga Netherstone, but Mrs. Campbell was the creator of the title role, and in Europe no one has ever been able to threaten her supremacy in that character.

It was the play that Mrs. Campbell chose for the opening night on her present American tour. The New York Sun sums up its impression of that night as follows: "It seems almost superfluous to say that the play remains one of the best of that class of stage fiction, which treats of wives pursued by their past sins, and that the leading role fits Mrs. Campbell better than almost any other that she attempts. The part gives free scope to her nervous temperament, and she is particularly successful in reflecting the complex feeling of the strange woman. The strength of Mrs. Campbell's performance depends mainly upon its realism, and few times last evening did one realize that after all she was only acting. It is interesting to note that the leading man of Mrs. Campbell's company, Ben Webster, was also in the original cast of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," on the memorable night in London in 1893 which brought fame alike to Mrs. Campbell and Pinner. Mrs. Campbell will appear in Duluth Saturday, Jan. 25, matinee and night, playing "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" in the afternoon, and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbensmith" in the evening.

"CHRISTOPHER JR."

Rejuvenated Mack Leone Company Will Open in John Drew's Success.

"Christopher, Jr.", the comedy with which the Mack-Leone players will reopen their season at the Lyceum, on Monday, Jan. 20, was one of John Drew's old Empire theater successes. It belongs to that class of comedies that was written some ten or twelve years ago, when they did not believe that a comedy was complete unless it also had some form of dramatic plot. Christopher, Jr., is the story of father and son, the son wishing to follow out a career of trade as his father before him and the father insisting that the son map out for himself a professional career. After a heated quarrel the son is driven from home, and in the course of events arrives at Bombay, India, where his father has a large mercantile business. He secures a position in this office, under an assumed name, and there unearths the information that the most trusted representative of his father's business has been systematically stealing from the firm for over ten years. He stays there long enough to prove his efficiency in commercial life, wins the girl he loves and all ends happily.

RENA WASHBURN,
At the Bijou Next Week.

All of the new people whom Mr. Mack brought back from New York will be seen in good parts, with which to make their introductory bow to Duluth, while the old favorites will be well cast.

The scenic effects are as usual very elaborate when necessary, the third and fourth acts of the play showing the interior of Mal Hindway's bungalow in Bombay, being particularly effective.

The searchlight will shine as usual, and the prices have not been changed.

Lyceum Notes.

Since Ralph Stuart's success as the Indian hero "Strongheart," he has been the recipient of so many valuable Indian curios that the library of his country home is beginning to take on the semblance of a museum. "Strongheart" will be at the Lyceum soon.

During the year's engagement at the Knickerbocker theater, New York city, last season, "The Red Mill" played to a gross business of $735,000, and was witnessed by nearly one million people. It will be seen in Duluth soon.

Suburban real estate is the subject which Edgar Smith has taken for the story of "Dream City." An enterprising real estate agent invades a little village and dazzles the natives with wild stories of the wealth they will gain by selling their property, to be cut up into building lots. This particularly interests Wilhelm Dinglebender, owner of a large but unproductive truck farm, who has a burning desire to possess great wealth. The first act ends with the farmer falling asleep over the plans for the future city.

The second act sees the city a reality as Dinglebender pictures it in his dream. Everybody is bountifully supplied with money and incident follows incident in mirthful succession. "Dream City" is a Lyceum booking.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

Pat White and His Gaiety Girls Will Furnish the Entertainment for a Week, Giving Burlesque and Vaudeville.

Pat White, whose antics have amused patrons of burlesque for many seasons, will bring his Gaiety Girls to the Metropolitan next week for an engagement of seven nights and the usual matinees.

White has an India-rubber face and a line of talk that are convincing, or at least they were last season, and the advance agent says that this season's show is 99 per cent better.

Although Pat White's light shines the brightest, he has not surrounded himself with a bunch of slow-burners, from all reports. His organization made a distinct hit while at the Star theater in St. Paul this week, and St. Paul is said to be rather critical about burlesque shows at times. The burlesques were written especially for the company and are called "A Grand Stand Play" and "The Down and Out Drug Store." Both of them have been provided with some tuneful musical numbers, with which the feminine members of the company do good work.

The vaudeville features include Zalma Sommers, singing and dancing comedienne; Jennings and Webb, artists; the Four Terrors, direct from Europe, in a novelty contortion and dancing act; Watson and Bert, comedians, and the Marvelous Malvern troupe, five in number, acrobats, who are making their first American appearance this season.

AT THE BIJOU

The Pacheco Family of Acrobats Will Head Next Week's Bill--Some Attractive Musical Turns Are Also Included.

This week's attractive list of vaudevillians are all distinguished artists in their respective lines. The bills are steadily growing more varied and more attractive.

Heading the coming week's bill will be the famous Pacheco family of acrobats. This act is European in every detail. Their hair-raising acrobatic feats are original. The act is described by the Eastern press as standing in a class by itself.

A musical act the public have been waiting for will be Bill A. Bell and Rena Washburn, who present a musical travesty entitled, "The Johnnie and The Chorus Girl," which is full of brilliant comedy. The singing, dancing and musical selections are of a high standard.

The O'Neill Trio of harmony singers and expert dancers will be seen as "The College Boys." They have new material, much fun melody and are introducing a minstrel finish with skilled ability upon tambourines and bones, playing all the best of new ragtime selections, while their trio singing is harmony itself.

The Great Ranf will introduce his latest novelty entitled, "Pink Tea on the Wire," which is one of the best of the best wire walkers before the public. He is cleverly assisted by Mlle. Rauf.

Two very funny comedians will be Leonard and Ward, who will be seen in character comedy chaos. The way they handle the English language is enough to make the Century dictionary any day up and quiver.

Isadore Silver, the popular singer will sing his latest success entitled, "Don't Worry," which is one of the best of the illustrated songs. The moving pictures will be "The Enchanted Glasses," "Was Scenes at Casa Blanca," and the laughable comedy pictures entitled "A Too Devoted Wife." Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30.

A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday and performances Sunday afternoon and night.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"House of a Thousand Candles" a Failure at Daly's ---"Funabashi," the New Musical Comedy, Seems to Have Caught On.

New York, Jan. 18.--"The House of a Thousand Candles" hardly made the favorable impression which was hoped for by the friends of James H. Hackett and E. M. Holland, one manager and the other star of the George Middleton dramatization of Meredith Nicholson's mystery novel, which was put on view at Daly's.

To counteract a rooted prejudice of the critics against melodrama, the manager, frankly presented it as a melodrama, hoping thus to take a shaft out of their quiver. But the device failed. The majority of the papers scored "The House of a Thousand Candles" on general principles.

It marks one of the many failures of the season, although perhaps a mere touch in the right places here and there would have changed its destiny. Times are ripe for good melodrama, frankly melodrama, not near-melodrama. This was abundantly indicated by the warm applause bestowed upon those scenes which were thrilling and unexpected. It was not till the action became self-contradictory that the interest waned. At the end of the second act the audience called out the star time after time, and Mr. Holland made a little speech that went straight to the hearts of those who remembered him for twenty years or more, playing every kind of part. The actor is now verging on the shady side of life, and apparently the warmth of his reception touched him sensibly. There wasn't a soul in the house but wished him success, and did what could be done to applaud "The House of a Thousand Candles" to success.

Hackett has had his share of bad luck this season. He expected everything of "John Gladys's Honor." The play was a substantial hit in London, and it experienced no untoward symptoms in its short preliminary tour that could not be explained away on the theory of hard times, that has driven so many good attractions to the wall. But it was overwhelmed with an avalanche of censure and criticism by the morning papers. Only set up the cry that a play abounds in tragic moments and situations, that it lacks the conventional happy ending, and the public imagines that it is to be made the victim of a dolorous experiment, and the death knell of the play has been rung. "John Gladys's Honor" was retired after two weeks. "The House of a Thousand Candles" was brought in to fill the gap. I hope I may prove a bad prophet, but there are abundant indications that the second Hackett enterprise will go by the board. These failures are costly and often ruinous. By great good luck "The Witching Hour" is firmly established at the Hackett theater, and furnished the one bright ray in the clouded horizon. What Hackett will do next is yet a matter of speculation.

"Funabashi" is a musical comedy with a conventional plot and a familiar background and more or less familiar characters, but exceedingly bright in spots and excellently produced and played at the Casino where it succeeded. MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL.

To the gentle sex the coming of Mrs. Patrick Campbell to Duluth, Saturday, Jan. 25, means something more than the performance of a modern dramatic masterpiece by the foremost English emotional actress of the day. It means a study of the last word, as the French put it, or more correctly, perhaps, of the word yet to be spoken in the world of fashion and dress.

Mrs. Campbell is known in court circles and in the ultra-fashionable salons of London as the best dressed woman in England, as a designer of styles in which even the Paris creators are often followers and as an artist who brings beauty, taste and appropriateness together as few have ever done in the art loved by all woman-kind. Whether on the stage or off, Mrs. Campbell's gowns reflect either the character which she is playing or the social function which she is attending. They even can be said to mirror her moods. Her tall, slim figure with its graceful Burne-Jones lines, lends itself to the draperies of which she is so fond. Many of Mrs. Campbell's stage gowns show a fondness for clinging scarfs. Her hats are invariably picturesque part of the designs. It is perhaps superfluous to add that Mrs. Campbell owns a splendid collection of jewels in various artistic settings. It is a notable fact, however, that the English actress never wears anything on the stage for the purpose of display and uses her notable string of great pearls, her diamond star and dazzling rings only when they become a part of the costume which the character demands. Among the rings which are sometimes seen before the footlights is a beautiful pearl surrounded by a circle of emeralds which in turn are surrounded by an edge of deep green colored gold from which are attached three tiny pendants, little flowers each with a jewel in the center.

Coleraine Will Go After National Event Next Year.

Itasca Club Makes Plans
ruary 9.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Itasca Ski club has begun energetically making preparations for its annual tournament to be held in Coleraine on Sunday, Feb. 9. A new ski hill is to take the place of the old one used for the past two winters. The new one is on the shore of Trout lake and faces the two towns of the Western Mesaba across Island Point bay. The length of the slide will be about 200 feet. The tower will be seventy feet high above the bump and the hill will descend for another 150 feet below it. The incline has been so arranged as to yield a maximum distance for its height and the hill promises to be one of the best in the country.

It is proposed to have some social features in connection with the tournament. On Feb. 8, there will be a dance in the auditorium of the high school. After the tournament there will be a big banquet in the evening in honor of the visitors, and the prizes will be then awarded.

The Itasca Ski club has reason to be proud of its local riders as it has some of the best in America. Of late, the team captain, Olof Jansson, has won the American championship. Ole Mangseth holds the record for the longest standing jump. Ole Westgaard, was the winner of the first national championship in this country and Julius Kuistad, in the Isopanning tournament has taken the ladies' cup for the most graceful rider.

A strong effort will be made by the local club to secure the 1909 national tournament for Coleraine. The natural advantages offered are unexcelled by any place in the country and the interest of Coleraine and the surrounding towns is centered in the thrilling sport. Also the hotel service has been recently improved and enlarged and in this respect the visitors will be better taken care of than at any former tournament held here.

AMATEURS
TAKE HOLD

Hockey By Home Boys, Popular in the Copper Country.

Hancock Leads League and Will Play Outside Teams.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The amateur game of hockey is flourishing in the Copper country better than even the promoters thought it would. The public is showing a lively interest in the teams made up of Copper country boys only, who are not playing for the money that is in it, but for the love of the game, and through the rivalry between the various towns represented in the Copper Country Hockey association, Houghton, Hancock, Laurium and Red Jacket.

As has been the case the past four or five years, the Hancock amateurs are proving themselves vastly the superiors of any of the other teams of the district, and it is expected that it will be that team that will invade the dominions of other amateur teams of the north. According to the heads of the league and the team managers, it is not impossible that before the end of the month one or two of the strongest teams of the association will go to Duluth, and possibly Minneapolis and St. Paul. Trips are also planned to the two Soos, American and Canadian, where semi-professional hockey is flourishing. That Hancock will be one of the teams chosen, and Laurium the other, cannot be disputed, as Hancock leads the league at present, not having lost a game, and Laurium is in second place, with two lost.

At the Michigan Soo, Jones and Hamilton of last year's international league team have banded about themselves several old professionals and the best amateur players of the town. They started out to trim the intermediates of the Canadian Soo, and lost two games in succession, the only ones played so far. For this reason they were not included in the league organized in Northern Ontario, and known as the North Shore intermediate Hockey league. The league consists of the best hockey teams of Soo, Ont., Thessalon, Bruce Mines and Blind River. There has been a great deal of talk at the Soo lately of incorporating with the Copper country teams into a league, but it will not be carried through this year, although next season it is expected and planned that a three division league will be first suggested in Duluth, with Duluth Superior, Twin City, Copper Country and Soo teams, will be organized.

FIFTY RINKS

Fifteenth Annual Bonspiel Will Open on Monday Morning.

Curlers Coming From Many Cities in Northwest and Canada.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock J. H. Blackwood, the manager, will make the drawing for the Duluth Curling club trophy event, and will start the rinks on the fifteenth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association. From that time until next Saturday night the Duluth curling rink will be filled with curlers and the stones will slide back and forth in continuous competition for the prizes, which will go with success.

Tonight the curlers will begin to arrive. Tomorrow they will troop in by the score, and when the first drawings are made Monday morning it is expected there will be fully 500 of the best exponents of the game in the Northwest on the ground, ready to take part in the contests. The entries of about 50 rinks have already been received and that number will be swelled by several before the play begins.

The curling rink has been prepared for the reception of the visitors. The rink proper, the curlers' rooms, smoking rooms and observation rooms have been decorated with bunting, flags, curlers' trophies, and they present a pretty appearance. The hospitality of the club and all citizens of Duluth will be extended to the visitors and their stay made as pleasant as possible. From the outlook today, with the entry list swelled to the largest figure in the history of the association, the bonspiel will be the greatest success of the kind ever held in the Duluth rink.

The skating rink has been transformed into a curling rink and the ice there is now in just as good condition for curling as that in the space always used by the curlers. In all, the rink has ten sheets of ice, all in the best of condition and the space insures an efficient handling of the bonspiel.

Under the drawing arrangements the ten rinks will be in constant use during the bonspiel. The manager of the bonspiel, J. H. Blackwood, will make a drawing Monday morning for the first event, and each event will follow in order, enough rinks to be placed on the ice when the preceding event is played down sufficiently to keep all sheets in use. There will probably be one round of an event played in the morning, two in the afternoon and two in the evening and if it is found necessary, the games will be extended into the night. All rinks will be on duty at all times, as they may be called upon to go on any moment, and failure to do so will result in forfeiture of points, or the game.

From as far east as Seaford, Ont., on the other side of the border, and as far west as Brandon, Man., rinks are coming to go after the prizes. On the America side there will be rinks from several towns in North Dakota and Wisconsin, and probably one or two from Michigan, with Duluth, West Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis and several smaller Minnesota towns contributing their representatives.

Nearly all of the old-timers will be on hand with their rinks, men who are popular with the curlers, both on account of their personality and their skill. Bob Dunbar, winner of the Soo and Duluth Curling club trophies last year, will again be up from St. Paul, and if the work of himself and his men is as good this year as last, it is feared that some of the prizes will again go toward the Sault Ste. Marie, W. A. Carson of Winnipeg, winner of the St. Paul Jobbers trophy last year, will also be here again. He is one of the most popular skips attending the bonspiels, and is sure of a warm welcome from Duluthians. Roushon of Winnipeg, who usually has one of the strong rinks, is also coming, and the famous Dr. Ament rink of Seaford, Ont., is entered for the first time.

The prizes, which are on exhibition at the Henriksen jewelry store, are attracting attention. They are more lavish, if anything, than ever before, and represent between $2,000 and $3,000 in cost. The events this year are the same as last, with the exception of the Duluth Merchants' event, which replaces the J. E. Myers' event. Last year the different events were won by the following skips: Soo event, R. H. Dunbar, St. Paul; Four City event, Alex Macrae, Duluth; International, A. K. Smith, Superior; J. E. Myers' event, D. W. Stocking, Duluth; St. Paul Jobbers' event, W. A. Carson, Winnipeg; Duluth event, R. H. Dunbar, St. Paul.

Entries for the bonspiel will close Monday morning at 9 o'clock, so that play may be started by 10 o'clock. Tonight the Duluth club will entertain two rinks from West Duluth and two from Superior, at a social affair in the curlers' rooms, and it will be followed by games. Tomorrow afternoon members of the Duluth club, and such visitors as are in the city, will make a trip to the ski hill at Chester creek, where the Duluth Ski club is holding a special tournament for the entertainment of the curlers. The best riders of the city will be entered, and the exhibition will be a good entertainment feature.

NEW PLAN OF TOURNAMENT

National Golf Association to Consider Suggestion for Play.

New York, Jan. 18.—At the fourteenth annual meeting of the United States Golf association, which was held at Delmonico's last night, the course for the three national competitions were chosen, and officers were elector for the ensuing year. A new method of playing the men's amateur national championship was suggested, and referred to the executive committee, which has power to adopt the new idea. The new plan is as follows:

First day—Monday—18-hole medal play round, 64 to qualify. Tuesday—18-hole medal play round, the thirty-two players with the lowest scores for thirty-six holes to qualify for the championship. Tuesday afternoon—18-hole match play round, sixteen to survive. Wednesday—36-hole match play rounds, eight to survive, and on the three remaining days match play rounds of thirty-six holes each.

The men's national amateur championship will be played this year on the links of the Garden City club. The women's championship is to be decided over the course of the Chevy Chase club, Washington, D. C., and the open championship will take place at the Mopla club, Brookline, Mass. The following officers were elected unanimously: President, Daniel Chauncey, Garden City Golf club; secretary, William Fellows, Moran, Baltusrol Golf club.

George Sutton Defeated in Second Match at New York.

New York, Jan. 18.—George Slosson of this city scored another victory over George Sutton, the world's champion 15.2 ball line billiardist, last night. The local man won by 400 to 275. The winner's best runs were 50, 48 and 39, with an average of 16 16-24, while Sutton made runs of 52, 47 and 31, his average being 11 9-24.

Harvard Would Have Number of Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 18.—It was announced yesterday that the faculty of Harvard on Jan. 7 voted to send to the president and fellows of Harvard college, the committee on athletic sports and to each of the colleges represented in the association of colleges of New England the following expression of opinion:

"That, in the opinion of this faculty, the number of intercollegiate contests should be largely reduced."

New York, Jan. 18.—At a meeting last night of the executive and advisory committees of the inter-collegiate American Amateur Athletic association, resolutions were adopted to bring about an international collegiate athletic meet in England this year.

A letter from Lord Desborough, as well as communications from the treasurers of the Oxford and Cambridge Athletic club, were received, giving promise of considering the propositions.

WINTER SPORTS IN DULUTH

LITTLE JIM, WHO MAY APPEAR ON THE ICE TRACK.

The success of the tournament of the Duluth Ski club last Sunday on the hill at Chester creek gave that branch of sport in Duluth new impetus for the season of 1908. Although the lack of snow makes skiing rather uncertain and necessitates the hauling of snow to the slide, in order that the riders may be able to use it, more enthusiasm is being shown this year than ever before.

From now on the slide will be in frequent use by the riders, who will compete in the big national tournament to be held on Chester hill Feb. 11 and 12. The national tournament will introduce ski riding to many people who have never seen the sport. It is expected the crowd will be the largest ever gathered together for a winter sporting event in the Northwest and many people will see the riders for the first time.

Skiing is a spectacular sport for spectators and riders alike. It is securing a firmer hold each year in Duluth and at other Northwest points and promises to endure. The Duluth Ski club is flourishing this year. Its efforts to increase its membership have brought in a large number of new members. The club now is a representative body of Duluth citizens. It owns its own grounds at Chester hill, has a commodious club house and has every prospect of a successful year. The ski slide at Chester hill is the largest in the United States and the results of the tournament next month will show broken records in all events.

The lack of snow, which affects the ski club adversely, is a boon to the small boy and the adult skating enthusiast. In the open rinks and on the bay, the ice is firm, smooth and free from snow and conditions are as such as to make the best sport. Every afternoon certain points on the bay are crowded with enthusiastic skaters. The public rink at Twelfth avenue east and London road continues to draw large crowds afternoon and evening, and the rink at Athletic park is well patronized.

Little Jim, who is shown in the accompanying cut to a sulky, may appear on the ice track at the foot of Twelfth avenue west this year, despite the sentiment manifested against him by Duluth horsemen. He was purchased from Frank Arndley by Frank Preker and is one of the speediest little pacers in the Northwest. He is now under suspension by the National Trotting association, but will very likely be reinstated by spring and will appear on the track next summer. In the meantime, Bobby Cherry, his trainer, is taking good care of him and some much race and he is arranged before the winter racing season is brought to a close.

CHAMPIONS OF ALL CLASSES

Stars of the Mat to be Gathered Together at Tampa.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Chicago wrestling promoters are actively engaged in the task of securing talent for the biggest wrestling tournament ever attempted in America. The tournament will be pulled off Feb. 8 to 15. All of the star mat artists now in the country will appear in the contests.

The project is being promoted by the actual work of matching the athletes in the hands of Joe Coffey, state Lewis, Doc Messinger and Jack Curley. Barnes represents the Florida State Amateur Fair association. The purse and expense money offered is $15,000. Joe Coffey is in charge of the entries. It is the intention of the promoters to establish undisputed champions of all classes.

Among the wrestlers who have signed their intention of competing are: George Rothner, lightweight champion of America; Fred Bell, light heavyweight champion; Fred Stuh, the "Belgian Lion"; Leo Fardello, William Led by the New York critic, Gym Bagley, who, by the way, is a skating enthusiast. In the open rinks and on the bay, the ice is firm, smooth and free from snow and conditions are as such as to make the best sport. Every afternoon certain points on the bay are crowded with enthusiastic skaters. The public rink at Twelfth avenue east and London road continues to draw large crowds afternoon and evening, and the rink at Athletic park is well patronized.

When the white spirit of George Dixon inhabited the black frame, he was an outcast and a beggar. It was his own fault, but what's the use of springing that on a man when he's down and out? When the greatest featherweight champion the world ever knew was tramping the streets of New York with a dinky battered derby pulled down over his eyes and the collar of his shabby coat turned up around his ears, there was nobody to pass him two bits for a meal. When his once perfect frame was weakened and shattered by whisky and exposure to the elements, no kind-hearted friends stand up around his ears, there was nobody to pass him two bits for a meal. When his once perfect frame was weakened and shattered by whisky and exposure to the elements, no kind-hearted friends stand up around his ears, there was nobody to pass him two bits for a meal.

George Dixon died, the innkeeper frame represented the memory of great deeds. The "friends" who refused to care for the broken spirit, took the dead body in charge and buried it. Men who would have turned Dixon down if he had asked for a dollar a few weeks before, turned up 200 coins over the florist's counter for mocking offerings to the dead fighter. "Friends" bobbed up all over the country to say good words for the dead fighter, and from the show of respect, one would think that the living George Dixon would want for nothing in the world.

Now they are talking thousands of dollars for a monument to go over his grave as an expression of middle sentiment. The thousands they figure on spending would have made George Dixon a man instead of a corpse. A plain white stone will do George Dixon dead, justice, for the memory of his square career in the ring will live among followers of pugilism forever. As one writer suggests, the sentiment of the gloves might be carried out to the end, where the monument to be inscribed with the words: "He asked for bread and received a stone."

One almost gasps to see that Packer McFarland, the Chicago boy, who is right in line for the lightweight championship, has been knocked from his very arrival. Whereas every other Western fighter who has gone to the center, from America to the East, has been met with respect and honor, Packer did him up to the complete satisfaction of his friends of the stockyards district, and now the New York writers admit that in the Irish lad Chicago may have produced another champion of all classes.

In the meantime Battling Nelson, once champion and more recently a candidate for membership in the Down and Out club, blossoms out as a candidate for the title again by walloping one Clifford boy in five rounds out in Utah. It looks as though a fight between Packer McFarland and Battling Nelson is the only thing in sight to settle the lightweight championship, which has been lost in the shuffle since Gus Gans passed it over to George Menzies. That Menzies never did have any right to it is shown by his defeat at the hands of Rudy Lincke, and if Gans resists the lure of the ring and the clink of the dollars, Packer and Nelson will be left to fight it out between themselves.

By reason of his shady deal with War Eagle, Policeman John Rooney will in the future be only a plain policeman. Chilly Shippy has ordered the cop to stick to his beat, and John has decided that a meal ticket gained by swinging a club was more secure than one which might be misused in the fortunes of the mat.

In the meantime, wrestling is under a cloud in Chicago, and will probably be for some time to come. The promoters, who were having on the Gracie-Hackenschmidt so for the Windy City, are placed in an embarrassing position. They are afraid it wouldn't pay, and may, accordingly, let it go to Kansas City by itself.

BANK TEAM IN THE LEAD

First National Bowlers Have Slight Lead Over Other Fives.

Sam Olsen Still Heads Individual Bowlers of League.

The end of the week, with fifteen games played, finds the First National bank team still in the lead in the Duluth Bowling league, with only one game advantage over the Fitwells and Oak Hills, who are tied for second place. The Big Duluths and Columbias also have a tie and the Baltimores are trailing and going badly.

In the grand average, the Fitwells lead with an average of 580 for the fifteen games and the Big Duluths and Oak Hills are not far behind. Sam Olsen still leads in individual scores and there is nobody threatening his position at the head of the list. His average still holds over the 260 mark, with fifteen games played, and Smith, his nearest competitor is nine points behind. Following are the averages:

Good Wrestling Bout.
One of the best exhibitions of the wrestling game ever seen in Duluth was given last evening before a packed house at the Metropolitan. When Maurice Harris and C. G. Sutter of Proctor went one hour and five minutes without a foul and it was called a draw. Both men were in great shape, with Harris having the advantage in offensive and Sutter a defensive play. Several times it was thought the bout would end down the Proctor boy, but Sutter squirmed out and continued to stand Harris off.

Go to St. Paul.
The Northern Hardware hockey team left this morning for St. Paul, where they will meet the Mic-Macs tonight. Monday night, they will play the Lake Shore at Minneapolis. John Steinback, right wing, will be out of tonight's game with an injured knee, but he will play Monday night.

DULUTH FIVE IS BEATEN

Nelson Dewey Wins by Narrow Margin of One Point.

CHOICE FOR OLYMPIAD

Probable Winners in Try-Out for the American Teams.

There was basketball in plenty at Superior last night, four games being played. In two games with teams coming from outside, the Superior fives were victorious, Nelson Dewey defeating Duluth Y. M. C. A. 35 to 33 and Blaine winning from Ashland, 59 to 35. In the other games, the Nelson Dewey second team defeated the Carpenter Alumni, 33 to 11 and Company 1 won from the Superior Y. M. C. A. 35 to 24.

The Nelson Dewey-Duluth game was the warmest of the lot. It was close all the way through and at no time up to the final whistle was blown was either team certain of victory. The Duluth team showed the most skill and ability in the game. Both teams showed roughing tendencies and the game wasn't as gentle as it might be, but there was no serious illegal play. The Duluth team didn't get away with their roughness as well as Superior and more fouls were called on them.

Duluth showed the same inaccuracy in basket-throwing which lost them the game with Blaine a week ago. Duluth lost on fouls and inability to throw the ball into the basket.

New York, Jan. 18.—Among athletes the Olympic tryout is the one important thing now. Every young fellow who has the idea stowed away in the back part of his head that he is of championship stuff, in any branch of the sport, will attempt to make the team, and there is every reason to believe that the United States will be represented in London next summer by the greatest body of amateur athletes that ever has been welded into a point winning team. That the splendid record made at Athens will be repeated no American athlete doubts.

While, of course, it is impossible at this time to pretend to pick the team, experts who are thoroughly acquainted with the work of the best athletes in the country have picked these as being particularly certain to be among the elect. 22-meter—Cartmel of Pennsylvania, and Kelly of Oregon.

PLAY BEMIDJI NEXT WEEK

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 18.—The management of the "Big Bemidji" basketball team has closed a deal whereby a game will be played in this city on Friday evening of next week with the strong Y. M. C. A. basketball team of Duluth.

"Big Bemidji" lost one game this winter, and that defeat was at the hands of the Grand Forks team last week. The status of the Duluth and Bemidji teams is about a "stand off," and the game that will be played here on Friday evening of next week promises to be the fastest and most hotly-contested game ever seen in this part of the state.

The management of the "Big Bemidji" team has made every effort to get a game here with the University of Minnesota basketball team, but although the "U" players have agreed to come here on two occasions, the management of the team in both in-

BERNHARDT, Duse, Mary Anderson, Ellen Terry, Mrs. Fiske, Modjeska—these six are among the most eminent actresses of the times who carved out their own fortunes.

All of them, with the exception of Mary Anderson, whose striking beauty and personal worth gained her fame at a bound, began pretty far down on the rungs of the histrionic ladder and were a pretty long time lifting themselves to the top.

As a member of her father's strolling company, Duse, a slip of a child, went barefooted from town to town, playing her first roles in tents, barns and the open air. Mrs. Fiske's mother was a daughter of strolling musicians, and Mrs. Fiske herself made her stage debut in a road company managed by her father. Ellen Terry as a child experienced the vicissitudes that come to a family of actors doing the English provinces; and when Modjeska, at the age of 17, married her guardian, she became a strolling player in his company. Bernhardt, like "Our Mary," was never a stroller, but none such ever had to fight harder to win recognition from critics and public.

Bernhardt forced on stage. Bernhardt was about 15 when a family council was held to decide her future. Two or three years previously she had been expelled, practically, from the convent where she was being educated on account of her ungovernable temper. Following this expulsion and the calling of the family council her temper had not been improved, and this circumstance made the family all the more anxious to arrive at a decision as to her future.

For a long time the problem was debated. Finally a young friend of the family volunteered to take charge of the youngster, whereupon one of and Samson. She was told by them and others that she had a pleasing voice, but that was the limit of their praise. And when she made her debut at the Comedie Francaise as Iphigenie, Sept. 1, 1892, that was the only praise given her. A few days later, when she essayed Henrietta in "Les Femmes Savantes," the critics were no more kinder, one declaring that "she was just as insignificant in this as in that of Iphigenie."

But her greatest blow came from the audience. Sarah distinctly heard various persons exclaim and laugh at her thin arms when she made her debut. In succeeding appearances her arms caused similar merriment. Naturally, knowledge of her poor beginning did not improve her temper, and one day, when Mme. Nathalie, the actress, in the lobby of the Comedie Francaise, pushed Sarah's sister, Regina, to one side, Sarah indignantly slapped the great lady in the face.

This was the real cause of Sarah's leaving the Francaise at the threshold of her career. A short time after the incident she was given the role of Desires in Bernhardt's play of that name. Mme. Nathalie, in revenge, had the part taken from her, and in a huff Bernhardt resigned and did not play again in the Francaise until the management sent for her to come back. That was twelve years later, when, despite her ungovernable bursts of temper, her thin arms and the coldness of the critics she had made a place for herself on the French stage. Meantime, her career was not that of a "divine Sarah."

Through the good offices of one of her godfather's friends she secured an engagement at the Gymnase. Montigny, the manager, however, doubtfully gave her the engagement, closing his letter with: "But she appears to have a vile temper." He made her understudy to Victoria Lafontaine; lix Duquesnel, was solely responsible for her.

Sarah's debut at the Odéon was received as only as were her first efforts at the Francaise and the Gymnase. Indeed, so flat was her failure that Chilly growled out as Bernhardt passed by him: "They are no good, these grand folk." There is not even pluck about them."

Steadfast to her promise to Duquesnel, she did not fly into a rage this time. Instead, for the first time after a failure, she went hard at work, determined to recoup herself in the opinion of her managers and the public. To this end she willingly took any part on a moment's notice; she even condescended to play fairy in pieces a machine, and her desire to recoup knowledge of the meagre details of stage business grew to be well nigh insatiable. It was this Arthur, who years before had refused to give her one word of praise, as the greatest of Donna Sois. Two years later, as Phedre, she was given a great opportunity in London. Since then her fame has been international.

Duse, the Barefooted Stroller. Unlike Bernhardt, Eleonora Duse came of a family of actor folk. Her father and mother were strolling players; her paternal grandfather was Luigi Duse, founder of the Garibaldi theater at Padua, and founder, also, of a still famous troupe of Venetian dialect comedians.

No eminent actress of today has suffered greater hardships than Duse. As a mere child she followed her father from town to town, tramping barefooted along the dusty roads and playing in his company in tents, barns, and the open air. She had scant clothing, her food was black bread and wine, and very little of that. So poor were her parents that once, when her mother was ill and in a hospital little Eleonora went to go to the hospital every day to do what was left of the afternoon's food for her mother. But despite this rough usage she thrived physically and mentally, too, so that when she was 12 she was playing well the parts of Francesca da Rimini in "Paola and Francesco," and Caterina in "Angelo, the Tyrant of Padua," in obscure theaters. She worked day and night, was often weak from lack of food, and her small wages were the most important item in the income of her mother's household.

Thus she slaved, for four years as the leading lady in wandering companies. At last she found herself in Verona, famed as the city of Romeo and Juliet; and, here, in the open air theater of the city she played for the first time the part of Juliet. With what little money she had managed to save for herself she bought roses and with these she covered herself. The subtle audience understood her suggestion that she was interpreting the character of Juliet as some one who had died before her time, like the fast withering roses that surrounded her, and the reception they gave her was truly tumultuous.

Though she had won fame in Verona she had not won fame in Italy. She went to Dalmatia, where she was as successful in the minor theater as she had been in the great. Her first good fortune came when she met Cesare Rossi, father of the great tragedian. He saw great possibilities in her, trained her for a brief period and together they toured in South America, their second tour through Brazil and the Argentine Republic, netting half a million francs.

Not until she had attained her 24th year was Duse's tragic genius heralded throughout Italy.

For some time she had been under study to Pezzana, the great tragic actress, at the famous Florentine theater in Naples. Pezzana being taken ill suddenly, Duse went on in her place, and, in January of the following year she received her first regular engagement, playing Evadne, Bianca, Julia and Lucrezia. So original and striking were her interpretations and her beauty so heralded that managers from all over her Mary confided her ambition and was given the rather unusual advice to begin at the top. The spring of the following year Mary took ten lessons in acting. This was her sole preparation for her stage career, besides her dreaming of roses. Then she sought an engagement.

This she finally secured from the late Barney Macaulay in the chief city of Louisville. Her debut was made on the night of Nov. 25, 1875; it had been announced for some days that a "young lady of Louisville" would make her first appearance in Juliet. Tall and lithe, with a beautiful and radiant face and a wonderful display of natural talent, she was enthusiastically received by the audience.

In January of the following year she received her first regular engagement, playing Evadne, Bianca, Julia and Lucrezia. So original and striking were her interpretations and her beauty so heralded that managers from all over the country began to take an interest in her, and she was soon starring all over the South with phenomenal success. Then she came to New York, where she won immediate popularity in "The Lady of Lyons." Abroad she likewise secured instant recognition. Indeed, every one of the eleven years that Mary Anderson passed on the stage was a triumph—truly, a unique record in the history of the stage.

Three Decades of Playing Before Fame. Mrs. Fiske was 2 years old when she made her stage debut as the Duke of York in "Richard III." This was in Little Rock, Ark. Twenty-nine years later, in New York, she was recognized as one of the greatest American portrayers of realistic parts, in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles."

Mrs. Fiske, like Duse, took to the stage as a matter of course. Her maternal grandfather, an English musician named Madden, on coming to this country organized his family into a concert company known as the Madden family, and toured the country. Mrs. Fiske's mother married Thomas Davy, who managed a theater in New Orleans and several companies that traveled through the South. It was in one of her father's road companies that little Minnie Madden began her stage career. Two years later she played with Laura Keane in "Hunted Down." At 10 she made her first appearance in New York, with J. B. Booth, Agnes Booth and John McCullough in a noteworthy revival of "King John." When she was twelve she was Francis in "Richard III" and Louise in "The Two Orphans." Meantime she had taken old women's parts with pronounced success, had played child parts with Barry Sullivan and was the original Little Fritz with J. K. Emmett at Wallack's and Niblo's.

By the time she was 14 she had played scores of parts, and betimes had been to school in various cities. By that time, too, she had won a wide popularity, not only with the public, but among theatrical folk as well, and it was rather natural that a play should be written expressly for her. This was "Foggy Fanny," which was produced for the first time at the Park theater, New York, May 20, 1882. This production marked the beginning of Mrs. Fiske's stellar career, and a star she has been ever since, with the exception of the four years immediately following her marriage to Harrison Grey Fiske in 1890, when she retired from the stage.

Mrs. Fiske marked her return to the stage by playing Nora in "A Doll's House." The critics praised her, but she had to wait for three years to be hailed as a great actress of realistic parts. This acclaim was hers when she essayed Tess, and then it was that she realized her great ambition. Modjeska Famous After Coming Here. Not until she had come to this country in search of freedom did Modjeska secure eminence as a tragedienne.

Her histrionic career began in Poland, her native land, sixteen years before she made her American debut in San Francisco. The daughter of a musician named Opila, her life from the start was closely bound up with thoughts of the stage. She dreamed continually of acting, and when she was 14 wrote and acted all the parts of a drama. At 17 she became the wife of a theatrical manager named Modjeska, later shortened to Modjeska. A few weeks later she was a member of her husband's strolling company, and before his death had gained something of a reputation in the provincial towns of Poland.

In 1875, when she was 32 years old, she gave up all thoughts of making a great reputation for herself in her native land, and, with her second husband, Count Bozenta Chlapowski, and other Polish seekers of liberty, came to this country and founded a Polish colony in California.

Like many another enthusiasts' colony planted in American soil this one failed of success almost from the start. Then Modjeska determined to return to the stage, but this time in America. To that end she began the study of English and a few months later made her debut in San Francisco as Adrienne Lecouvreur in the play of that name. Despite her strong foreign accent, the coast critics hailed her as a great actress. Encouraged by her reception she took the play to New York, where she repeated her San Francisco success. Three years later she was seen in London as Camille. Since then her rank has been that of one of the foremost tragediennes known to the English speaking stage. Her second husband, in 1880-81 is memorable. In the wonderful tribute to Lester Wallack, given at the Metropolitan, she was the original Ophelia, one of her most famous parts. The remarkable testimonial given her in New York two years ago marked her retirement from the stage.

Miss Terry's Nineteen Years of Preparation. Ellen Terry undoubtedly the most eminent actress on the English speaking stage today, has lately told her Sarah's aunts, more noted for frank speech than tact, exclaimed: "A nice offer, indeed! And you have never even taken the trouble of looking at the girl. But she is hideous!" Instantly Sarah was all temper. "I hideous," she shrieked, jumping at her aunt. "I, with eyes like mine, hair like mine! Do you know, old crows, that I shall have conquered the world the day you are a withered and bald-headed monkey? And it won't take long!"

All were aghast except the child's mother, she clasped her hands. "I have it," she exclaimed joyfully. "We will make an actress of her! Isn't she acting a play all day long? That is just what we want her to do!"

And so, though Sarah longed to be a nun, it was decided, amid general relief, to put her on the stage. The first step in this direction was to get her into the Conservatoire. On a day in 1859 she was taken by her petite dame before the jury of that school, a tall, thin, and ugly little girl without. Yet so pleasing was her voice that she had recited only a line or two of Fontaine's "Fable of the Two Pigeons," when Director Auber interrupted:

"You recited prettily," he said, "you will be admitted."

The latter is to be closed and operated on other than copper ore. It has declined shipments of a conveyor belt for the mine. It is no longer appears to be a competitor of the big company.

At Bingham the Utah Consols is reported to be closing its mining operations. The closing of the Utah properties whose shipments have been cut will be closed today. The same conditions prevail.

The Penalty for Disobedience.

Chubby asked his mamma dear
Might be a-asking go;
Mamma shook her head and said,
"The ice is thin; no, no."
But when some company came to call
Upon his ma that night,
Chubby got his skates and ran Away with all his might.
Straight to the river Chubby went,
(His folks thought him in bed)
Put on his skates and stopped upon
The shining ice, and said:

"See what the ice is smooth and thin!"
But scarcely had he spoke,
When crack, crack, crack beneath his feet.
The ice was thin—and broke!

And through its fragile surface fell
Poor Chubby all a-right.
And when at last he got on shore
He was a sorry sight.

And how he ran, a-shivering so,
He thought he'd break in two.
But when his ma had done with him
He was warm through and through.

And never more will Chubby dare
To disobey her;
It is no fun to get half-drowned,
And frozen for it, you see!

NONSENSE JINGLES.

Old Lady Slim,
And old Man Pat,
Put on her bonnet,
And put on his hat,
Then forth they sallied
From out the door,
And none of their neighbors
Have seen them more.

HOW PERRY BECAME A HERO.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

Perry Adams sat in his room pouring over a big book. Every little while he would jot down some passage from the book on a bit of old wrapping paper with a stub of lead pencil. And as he worked he shivered, for it was zero weather without and extremely cold within. There was no artificial heat of any kind in the room, which was almost bare of furniture and showed that the occupants of the house, of which this room was a part, were very poor.

Occasionally Perry would warm his benumbed fingers over the little coal oil lamp which sputtered and smoked on the table in front of him. He was wrapped in a bed quilt against the drafts that came in round the rattling window and beneath the ill-fitting door which led out of doors.

Just as the clock was on the point of striking 8 a door which opened and a pale, sad-faced woman came in, speaking gently to Perry.

"Son, here's a cup of hot tea. It will warm you up a bit as you work. I wish we could afford to keep a fire in the kitchen, for then you could go in there and study of nights. But coal is so dear that we can scarcely afford to have enough to keep the stove warm during the day."

"How did you make the tea, mother dear?" Perry asked, taking the cup of steaming beverage and drinking it off.

"Over my lamp, dear," replied the mother. "I held a tin cup of water over the lamp flame till it boiled. Then I dropped in a pinch of tea. Is it nice and hot, dear?"

Perry rose from his chair, though it was somewhat of an effort to do so, wrapped as he was from neck to toe, and put his arms about the pale little mother. "Yes, mother mine, the tea is excellent," he said in a loving voice. "And you're the best mother in the world. Now you'll catch cold if you remain up without fire, so go to bed and keep warm."

"The fire is all out in the kitchen, isn't it?" "Yes, an hour ago, and you could put your hand on the stove. But I've been sitting beside it doing some mending. I have fixed up your coat—damned the broken places and cleaned the collar."

"Ah, little mother," said Perry tenderly, "you are always doing something for me. When shall I ever be able to do half as much for you?"

"All I ask is that we may some day be able for you to go to college, where you may be able to pursue your favorite study of electricity. I ask for nothing for myself—only for health to watch over my boy and to minister to his wants. It is hard for me to see you working day after day, month after month and year after year, for our support when you should be in school doing yours for the real work of life. And I feel that I am so helpless in the matter." The loving mother's eyes were a bit misty as she said this to her boy, and Perry, kissing her, assured her that she was first in his mind and heart and the study of electricity only secondary. "Of course, mother mine," he went on to say, "I'd love to make a thorough study of electricity, for I really believe that I might make some wonderful discoveries some day. But—there's an ocean of time. I'm but 16 years old. If I manage to keep the position I now have in Mr. Green's store, we'll be able to lay away a few dollars each month. After we've played the miser for a few years we'll have enough to enable me to go to college. And you shall go with me. We'll take a little cottage—maybe one with a few spare rooms to let out to other students and thereby help out with the rent. Oh, I've thought it all out, mother dear, and all we must do is to be patient and wait—wait—"

"Oh, you dear, courageous boy," said Perry's mother, kissing him and compelling him to be seated at his desk again. "And now I shall go to bed, for you have only an hour to study. I must not keep you talking when you should be alone with your books."

But just as Mrs. Adams was about to retire to her bedroom a quick knock was heard on the door and she started to see who was demanding admittance at so late an hour. A neighbor's child stood there stilling frightened sob. "Oh, Mrs. Adams, please may Perry go for the doctor?"

doctor? Ma says brother has the croup an' may die. She says to hurry, please."

Perry was out of his quilt and into his hat and overcoat like a flash. As his house was almost a mile from the town where he must go for the doctor, he decided to run with all possible speed and borrow a neighbor's horse to ride on the errand. This he did, and was soon galloping at a brisk trot toward the town. A railroad cut, some 60 feet deep, lay between him and town, and was spanned by means of a bridge. Perry was hearing the croup most tension, dashed past him, dragging a buggy which held only one occupant. In an instant Perry saw that the horse was running away and that the driver had lost one of the reins, which was loosely whipping the ground beside the running animal. About an eighth of a mile further on the road turned abruptly to the right, following the line of the railroad cut for a quarter of a mile before reaching the bridge. Perry's heart stopped as he thought of the danger of the rider in that hurry. Suppose the horse should go straight ahead instead of taking the turn to the right! Within 200 feet horse and man would go over the level edge of the cut, landing on the tracks 60 feet below.

Perry's horse had been left behind by the running animal, but now his rider laid whip and hand, strong heel to him, urging him to run. On and on, faster and yet faster ran Perry's horse.

And then it was that Perry and the man in the buggy had the opportunity to look at each other. The man had quickly jumped from the buggy and was holding his horse's bit. "Why, upon my soul, my rescuer is none other than Perry Adams! Wait a bit, my boy, this animal quiet down, and then I'll get hold of that right hand of yours and tell you what I think of a boy who would risk his life as you have risked yours to save that of a fellow-creature."

"Why, Doctor Downs!" cried Perry, himself a bit out of breath and glad of a chance to drop off his horse for a minute. "Well, since I've found you here, I'll not have to go into town. The Browns' baby has the croup, and I was coming to fetch you to do what you can for it."

"We'll fix these lines, Perry, and together we'll return to the Browns. I have a lot to say to you, boy, and I'm blamed if I can find words enough to express my gratitude."

"That's all right, Doctor," said Perry. "I understand how you feel, as we'll let the matter pass. I only did what any one with a heart in his breast would have done. You owe me nothing, Doctor."

But Dr. Downs felt differently about the matter, and one day a few weeks later he walked into Perry's home with some very startling and splendid news. After he had talked to Perry for half an hour he took his leave, grasping the boy's hands and saying earnestly: "And may the best luck in the world be yours, my boy. You are not only a hero, but as fine a specimen of young manhood, of honor and industry as I ever saw in all my life. Good-by and good luck."

Perry ran into the kitchen, where his mother was preparing supper. "Mother mine, we are to pack and go to D—, where we'll take the little cottage near to the college, for I've been declared one of those 'bright young men' who are going to be great. You see, the railroad fence along that part of the cut had been blown down by the blizzard, and there was nothing between the Doctor and the ditch. But, mother dear, what are you crying for? I feel like laughing and laughing, and then falling on my knees and thanking God for the good fortune that has befallen me."

"I'm crying for joy, my dear, heroic son," said Mrs. Adams. "But, like you, I feel like falling on my knees. Come, let's give thanks to our Creator together, son."

How Doggie Heard.

Tabby, soft and gray and purry,
Was the family cat;
Tabby blinked before the fire
On a warm fur mat.

One fine day a doggie passing
Saw an open door;
In he walked, though not invited,
And thought he'd explore.

The interior of the domain,
"Hark!" he said, "what's that?
Sure as I have ears to warn me
I did hear a cat!"

And the way that little doggie
Got him out the door,
Tail a-standing straight behind him,
Was a caution, sure.

But old Tabby sat and shimmered,
(And, 'twixt you and me,
It was doggie's nose that told him,
Not his ears, you see!)

Something Worth Knowing.

Alcohol is a poison. It is claimed by some that it is a food. If so, it is a deadly food. The daily regular use of alcohol, even in moderation, will lead to chronic alcoholism. One is poisoned rapidly by the constant use of beer than by drinking wine, gin, whiskey and brandy, for there is a smaller per cent. of alcohol in beer than in the other intoxicants named.

Alcohol is one of the most common causes of insanity, epilepsy, paralysis, diseases of the liver, kidneys and stomach, and dropsy and interstices.

A father and mother who drink alcoholic beverages will have weak children born to them, often dying in infancy. And if they grow up they are liable to become victims to nerve disorders, such as St. Vitus' dance and epilepsy.

DULUTH STREET RAILWAY WILL ERECT SHELTERS AT THE TRANSFER POINTS

Small Sheds to Protect Patrons From Wind and Rain.

With a view of providing shelter to patrons waiting for cars and who might otherwise have to stand in the wind or rain, the Duluth Street Railway company has erected at the southeast corner of Fourth street and Twenty-fourth avenue east, a neat "shelter" which, if it meets with the appreciation of the public, may be adopted for numerous corners throughout the city on the street railway lines.

The company makes no attempt to designate the structure as a "station," in fact, it is not intended for that purpose. The "shelter" is meant for exactly what the name implies.

The plans for the structure were made by local architects at the request of the company, and the idea of establishing a shelter at the corner mentioned was taken up with the representatives of the property interests there. The company secured the consent of the agents to place the shelter on the corner, just off the street, although it will have to be moved on notice of the owners.

The "shelter" comprises four partitions placed at right angles and covered with a circular roof. Seats are attached to the partitions, in each of the angles thus formed. The structure is well built and attractive in appearance. By reason of the partitions the patrons seeking shelter will be protected from the wind or rain to matter from which direction it may come. Ample seating capacity is provided for several persons.

While there are a few people who will probably take occasion to poke fun at the "shelters," the general public will, no doubt, appreciate the purpose for which they are intended. The structures are being constructed at the company's barn by its own carpenters and without expense to the city or to the patrons of the line. All that the company asks is that the people who appropriate a shelter from the wind and rain, when such is acceptable, assist in the matter of preventing irresponsible parties from defacing or damaging the structures.

FEMALE ESCORT WILL ASSIST IN MODERN SAMARITAN PRODUCTION

CRACK ESCORT OF APOLLO COUNCIL NO. 69, MODERN SAMARITANS, WHO CAME HERE TUESDAY.

The officers and crack escort of Apollo Council, No. 69, of St. Paul, Modern Samaritans, who have received several medals for their degree work, will give the exemplifications of the ritualistic work of the Samaritan order, Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at the Armory. The women comprising the escort, shown in the accompanying picture, are all members of the Beneficent Degree of the lodge. The party from St. Paul will arrive in the city Tuesday, at 2 p. m., and will hold a rehearsal at the Armory shortly afterwards. Their dramatic production of the lodge work, in which several hundred dollars' worth of costly robes, costumes and paraphernalia are used, will begin at 8 o'clock, and last an hour and a half. They will bring their own costumes, scenery and musicians.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

past year, these at Port Arthur and Hamilton, Ontario now has seven pits from furnaces. Two of these are at St. Mary, operated by the Consolidated Lake Superior's Algoma steel company, which in addition to ore from its own properties is importing raw material from the Siskiwit and American mines in Michigan. Blast furnaces on a large scale are produced at Toronto for the treatment of the massive deposits of iron ore in Ontario. The total production during the year was approximately 1,000,000 tons. Mining in the province is practically in its infancy. The Consolidated Lake Superior company's Helen mine at Michipicoten continues the principal producer, but considerable attention is now being paid to properties in the magnetic fields of Eastern and Northern Ontario, the most important of which are those at Algonquin, west of Port Arthur, and at Moose Mountain, north of Georgian Bay. The deposits in the latter locality are being developed by John W. Gates and associates, including among them Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, whose Canadian Northern railroad will haul the ore from the mines.

The Algonquin range lies in the Algoma district, north of the Vermilion range of Minnesota; a number of good deposits of magnetic ore have been located in the field, and as well much ore that is highly titaniferous. The prevalence of titanium is generally sufficient to be the basis of any deposit. One famous titaniferous lake will make just as good iron for practically every purpose as if there were none of the element there, but as a usual thing the iron founder scrupulously shuns it. An ore containing titanium requires more fuel to smelt. The percentage of the element apparently makes little difference. A grain of arsenic will embitter thousands of times its own bulk of water, and titanium is almost as effective with iron ore. No one of experience has been done with this ore, and while the chemist has made material progress, the problem has not yet reached a full and satisfactory solution.

There is recalled in this connection the extensive experimentation conducted by the late Sir James D. Macdonald, who some years ago by John T. Jones of Iron Mountain, with associates, was now constructing a coke furnace at the Menominee range metropolis for the treatment of low grade ores. Mr. Jones' lifetime has been spent in foundry work, and he is a metallurgist of wide experience. Eventually he reduced the proportion of titanium ore in the foundry mixture to a very small percentage, yet notwithstanding this double the ore was used, and the quality required to bring the ore to the smelting point. In the last test made but a single barrowful of ore, tinted with titanium was dumped into the furnace, and that was thrown to the top of the charge. Inasmuch as the charge required as much fuel to smelt as any of its predecessors containing even 99 per cent titanium ore, the experiments were dropped. A "wonderful practice and cheap" has not yet been found for titaniferous ores, but with the process of iron manufacture much improved during recent years there is not so much hesitancy under the ban because of the presence of the obnoxious element. Considerable American capital has been put into the Algonquin range, and eventually there will be a large development of the region.

Following an expenditure of $600,444 by the company in the same work at that port last winter, the No. 2 ore dock of the Chicago & North Western railroad's system at Ashland is to be rebuilt. The old pier has seen its best days. Moreover, it is now too small to satisfactorily accommodate the modern type of ore carrier. The dock is 1,404 feet long and 67 feet high from water line to dock. It has 24 pockets of a total storage capacity of 25,740 tons. At Marquette the old dock is being replaced by a new one. The new dock of the company was the commission. Originally of 100 pockets, the dock was built with finally 100 pockets. It had 20 pockets of a total capacity of 27,000 tons. The structure is 1,500 feet long and 67 feet high and 49 feet wide. It was one of the lines on the lakes at one time, but compared with the present-day ore dock it is little more than a pigmy.

During 1897, Receiver Grant of the Cripple Creek Homestead Mining & Milling company received rents and royalties from the Phoenix and Iron clad mill companies amounting to $3,832.21. Disbursements for the same year were $3,832.21. The balance of the property can be made profitable.

The Golden Cycle mine, Cripple Creek, is in an ore shoot on the 1,100-foot level, streaks of which carry $40,000 to $50,000 per ton. The cross vein values are much above previous averages.

The Stacey lease on the Moon, Anchor mine, Cripple Creek, yielded $30,000 profit during 1907.

The H. H. H. mine, located on the Bench Trail and Deane's mines, Central City, Colo., has been sold to A. H. Frost of San Diego, Cal. New machinery is being installed preparatory to sinking the shaft on the bench from 140 to 200 feet. Good concentrating ore has been found in this mine.

The Portland Gold Mining company's annual meeting will be held in Clayville, Wyo., Feb. 2, and that of the Leadville Mines company at the same place the day following.

O. H. Hinds of Lemars, Idaho, was elected president of the Gold & Silver Mines & Tunnel company, Cripple Creek, at the annual meeting, which was held at the Hotel Grand Central, Denver, Colo. Hinds was elected vice president, with C. G. Jackson secretary and H. L. Shinnock treasurer. The new management will actively develop the property.

The Newhouse tunnel, at a point about four miles from the portal and 1,000 feet below the surface, has been extended in connection with the Old Town mine, Idaho Spring district. The tunnel is one of the most important in Colorado.

The dump ore of the Jennie Sample mine, Cripple Creek, is yielding $14 a ton average value.

ore from the mine to the smelter means decreased cost of operation and a certain supply of ore, something that was not always assured. The company depended on the overtaxed facilities of the Copper Belt railroad. Blast No. 1 at the smelter has been blown in. The mine has increased its force from 180 to 225 men. In a month, it is stated 300 men will be employed at the mine and smelter.

The Eureka Tintic union has voted to accept the reduced scale which the local miners' association decided upon. To date the unions in Park City, Bingham and Eureka have accepted reductions. These are the three big camps of the state.

A deal has been closed by which a syndicate of local operators secured the Gold Standard group in Gold Circle district, fifty-four miles north of Goldconda. The ledge on the ground is reported to be twelve feet wide, and an average of the ore is said to carry 205 in gold and silver. There is also a streak of high grade gold.

luno company has sunk a shaft 1,000 feet deep and is now engaged in crosscutting from that point. A vein was cut, but offered little encouragement until the hanging wall was reached, when two feet of 5 per cent copper ore was cut. The company has encouraged the management to continue work on that level, and drifting will be done on the vein. The Butte & Baco Copper Mining company has followed the opinion on 300 Calumet and Moonlight mining claims to lapse because expiration has demonstrated that the claims are not worth the sum named in the option—$200,000. One of the company's two deep shafts is situated on the Calumet and the discovery of any ore in veins within the boundaries of the Calumet. A northeasterly crosscut from the 1,000-foot station encountered a good vein in some adjoining ground owned by the company, and it was showing good indications of commercial ore when the company was compelled to suspend work temporarily because of financial troubles in Pittsburgh. The company began removing its machinery and improvements from the Calumet and the owners of the property brought suit against the company to enjoin it. They pleaded the Butte & Baco is a trespasser on the ground and that the machinery—engine, boilers, etc.—belong to the ground. A temporary restraining order was issued, and the work of removal was stopped. The Butte & Baco people say the suit is only an attempt to force the company to make terms with the owners of the Calumet.

The estimated copper production of the Butte district during 1907 is 240,857,416 pounds, as against 342,685,819 pounds in 1906, a decrease of 101,807,233 pounds. Each month of the last year showed a decrease from the corresponding month of the preceding year, the big falling off came with the precipitous decline in the price of copper and the rapid curtailment of production by the Amalgamated Copper company, beginning in August. From a normal production of Butte of 30,000,000 pounds per month, the curtailment went to 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 pounds, all during the last month of the Amalgamated mines, with the exception of the Boston & Montana company, were closed entirely, and so were the mines of the North Butte and Butte Coalition company. The Clark mine reduced their production 50 per cent, and the only company operating in the Butte district that produced more copper than it did in 1906 was the Pittsburgh & Montana, a small concern with a daily output of about 150 tons of ore.

Four years ago when the shaft was three years old, repairs amounted to $20,000. The concrete was adopted and in six months the work was completed without a single interruption to the shaft. The surface of the rock below the overburden was sealed by a concrete lining. The concrete was poured in a series of lifts, each lift being 10 feet thick and 10 feet wide. Battle is experimenting with electric underground haulage. The second locomotive went into service this month. The results will govern the management not only in the extension of the system in the future, but also in its present operation. Electric haulage is important changes in these mines as a result of it. The haulage system is being built at Cole's crib. Work on this is suspended for the winter, but the electrical executives and engineers are not relaxed in their labors, so that when the spring comes the haulage system will be ready for use.

The Northwestern college. It has been donated for the year and will be found on file in the library. It is a very bright, interesting college paper and many interesting items will be found in its pages.

Although "studies" and "exams" form the principal topic of conversation at present the '09 class is finding time to plan for the annual "junior prom," which will be held on Friday, Jan. 31. The juniors are racking their brains in a vain endeavor to find a "terribly original" plan. They will find it necessary to "go some" to beat the place cards and menu the seniors originated for their last spread.

Session room 201 is being looked upon with suspicion of late. Miss Williams, who has been substituting during Miss McGofford's illness, was forced to give up owing to a very severe case of grip and now Mrs. Kline has the room in charge.

The janitors have been having an extra session in adding the students to arrange the stage for the musical. The choir seats have been raised, so the male voices in the rear, are, for the first time, in full view of the audience, much to the student's delight.

Senior athletes held stiff hockey practices under Capt. Palmer's keen eyes on Thursday and Friday afternoons in preparation for the game with the freshmen, which will be held today. The practice took place at the free rink and as there were many spectators, maidens fair and enthusiastic rooters to cheer the athletes, some wonderful feats were performed. Still more surprising events are looked for in the contest.

The Senior Zenith board held an exciting meeting on Thursday night. A "sample" copy for the cover chosen by the boys raised a storm of protest from the usually "quiet" girls, and babel reigned for a period of fifteen minutes. The cover was referred to Miss Carey, the art teacher, for approval and a delegation, consisting of every girl in the class carried it to the art room where the discussion was continued. When the girls returned to the meeting they found that it had adjourned and the boys had fled to the regions of perfect quiet.

The Dramatic club seems to be the only club in school doing active work these days. On Friday the regular meeting was held and after the meeting a pleasant program was held. A scene from "The Rivals" was presented. The play was shared equal honors in the comic scene, and Marjorie Shipper and Olive Kitterer gave their parts in real "head line" style.

LONGS DUMP HOLDINGS

The Bearish Raid on Wheat Starts in Chicago.

Flax is Lower at the Close in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 18.—The selling of long lines of wheat by big Chicago holders put wheat off in the American market today. The tone was easier during the entire session and toward the close the bearish feeling increased. Offerings were liberal. Duluth and Minneapolis showed a loss of more than 2 points from yesterday.

Considerable durum wheat was worked for export here.

Broomfield estimates the world's shipments of wheat for this week at 2,500,000 bush, of which quantity Europe is expected to take about 2,000,000 bush.

Is Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Bench.

AIDS ROBBERS WHILE ASLEEP

Somnambulistic Cashier Tells Burglars Combination of Safe.

Harper says the bank cashier walked in his sleep. He and Smith watched the bank for several nights according to their confession, and frequently witnessed Thomason enter, with the aid of his key, "they never dreamed that he was not in full possession of his senses, until they saw him under an electric light with his eyes closed."

Then the robbers say they conceived a plan to enter the bank with Thomason, and to gag him if he came out of his trance. They declare that Thomason gave them the combination to the safe, which they looted, and that they left, leaving Thomason asleep in the bank.

ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE.

Frank Constantine Jumps From High Gallery in Joliet Prison.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 20.—Frank J. Constantine, who is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary here for the murder of Mrs. Louis Gentry in Chicago, attempted to commit suicide Saturday night by leaping from the seventh gallery of the prison. He fell thirty feet to the stone floor of the cell house. He is unconscious and believed to be dying.

Constantine had been under special guard of late because of marked despondency. Saturday night, while the sentry was a few feet from him, he stepped from his cell to the balcony and suddenly vaulted the railing.

Mrs. Gentry was murdered in her apartments in La Salle avenue in January, 1907. Constantine was a boarder in the house. He fled to Europe but later returned to New York where he was arrested.

KING EDWARD WILL OPEN PARLIAMENT ON JAN. 29.

London, Jan. 20.—The third and what promises to be the most critical session of the parliament, controlled by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, will be formally opened on Jan. 29 by the king, with all the traditional pomp and ceremony that marks the brief annual visit of the monarch to St. James's Palace. His majesty will be accompanied on this occasion by Queen Alexandra, the prince and princess of Wales, and any other members of the royal family who happen to be in England at that time to greet them in the historic chamber will be assembled the usual gathering of dignitaries.

BELIEVE IN PLAIN TALK

Although Some Were Shocked by Papers at Purity Conference.

Omission of Meeting in 1908 Not on That Account, However.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 20.—Owing to unpleasant notoriety incurred by some of the papers read at the recent purity conference here, it is announced that no conference will be held this year and that papers to be read at the next conference will have to be submitted in advance so that all risque passages may be stricken out. The notice that this year's conference is to be omitted comes from the conference president, B. S. Steadwell of LaCrosse, Wis.

LaCrosse, Wis., Jan. 20.—B. S. Steadwell, president of the National Purity conference, denied today that there had been any agreement to censor the papers submitted at the next purity conference owing to unpleasant notoriety incurred by some of the papers read at the recent national convention at Battle Creek, Mich.

There has been discussion of the language used in some of the papers read at the LaCrosse convention in 1906 and the Battle Creek meeting in 1907, non-members of the conference in attendance upon its sessions frequently having been reported shocked by the manner in which the topics were treated. Within the conference, however, the officers believe that the results of impurity should be spoken of in such plain, blunt terms as will arouse the public and President Steadwell will not be in favor of a censorship.

Mr. Steadwell further stated that, instead of abandoning the conference for 1908 on account of the language in the papers read at the Battle Creek meeting, the agreement not to hold a national meeting this year was due to other causes. It is not likely that a national meeting will be held oftener than once in two years hereafter.

HUNGRY FOR WORK, NOT FOR EDIBLES

New Britain, Conn., Jan. 20.—Over 1,000 unemployed workmen paraded through the streets of this city today, the leader carrying a banner bearing the inscription "Parade of hungry people looking for work." It was explained by some of the leaders of the demonstration that "hungry" in this case meant that the men were hungry for something to do, not that they were suffering from the pangs of physical hunger. Poles, Germans, Lithuanians, French and Italians comprised the majority of the marchers.

Tells Again of Experiences With White When Young Girl.

The Electric Effect of Last Year's Story is Missing.

Judge Refuses to Exclude Public at Prosecutor's Request.

New York, Jan. 20.—Over the objection of District Attorney Jerome, who declared the recital, three years before the tragedy, could have had no effect upon the defendant's mental condition at the time he killed Stanford White, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw took the witness' stand at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, her husband, today, and told again the story of her alleged experiences as a girl of 16 in New York, of her meeting with Stanford White, of the house of the velvet swing and the mirrored room; also, she declared, exactly as she told it to Thaw in Paris in June, 1903, when he had asked her to become his wife. The story was told to a filled court room, Justice Bowdler overruling the motion of District Attorney Jerome to close the doors to all persons not officially connected with the case. Mr. Littleton, for the defense, refused to join in the motion, saying he preferred to leave the matter entirely to the discretion of the court.

Electric Effect Missing.
Young Mrs. Thaw's voice broke at one time during her recital, and the defendant also wept; but the electric effect of the testimony, as given last year, was missing. This was largely due to the course of the district attorney, who interposed an almost continuous string of objections, and was nearly always on his feet, standing just between the witness and the defendant.

The attitude of the prosecutor evoked a tone of defiance in the witness' voice, and this did not aid the story; but the jury and the court room listened intently.

There was no variance in the recital from last year's narrative, but it was shorter, at the instance both of the court and of the district attorney. Mr. Littleton resented Mr. Jerome's manner several times, and once protested against the prosecutor's attempting to lecture the witness.

New York, Jan. 20.—When the Thaw trial was resumed at 10:30 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was called to the stand to repeat her story of a year ago. District Attorney Conflict in High Circles Over Action of Daitchkoff.

Efforts Being Made to Restore Old Order of Things.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—The conflict which has arisen between the Russian ministry of foreign affairs and the admiralty regarding the alleged efforts of Commander Daitchkoff to secure permission to accompany the American battleship fleet, under Rear Admiral Evans, on its voyage to the Pacific has aroused much comment in the local press, partly owing to the impression that prevails here that this officer was the only one permitted to accompany the fleet, chiefly as an evidence of the discord existing between the two ministries. The publication of the correspondence in this affair is regarded at the foreign office as a grave indiscretion, tending to disclose the internal dissensions.

POLITICAL HARANGUE AT TEMPERANCE MEETING IS VERY SEVERELY CRITICISED

"Serious Breach of Etiquette," Says One of Speakers.

Pastor of Church Publicly Apologizes for Watson Moore's Talk.

Morning Paper Tries to Mislead by Its Scare Headlines.

A perfect storm of criticism and censure has fallen upon the head of Watson S. Moore, as a result of his political harangue at the Bethany church in the West end last evening, when he attempted to turn a temperance gathering into a political endorsement of Alderman R. D. Haven for mayor, and upon the News Tribune, which by its scare headlines this morning attempted to prove that all three temperance meetings had been political rallies for Mr. Haven, whereas the only political speech made was that by Mr. Moore.

Pastor Apologizes.
The responsibility for his remarks was publicly disclaimed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Carl G. Olson, who had the meeting in charge. Attorney Andrew Nelson, one of the other speakers at the gathering, and an ardent Tennessean supporter, stated to the Herald this morning that Mr. Moore's remarks were a serious breach of etiquette at the best, and Dr. Oredson, another speaker and a Haven man, was equally censorious.

Members of the audience severely criticised Mr. Moore, claiming that such an outburst did more to injure the cause of temperance and law enforcement than half a dozen meetings would counteract. Mr. Tennessean's friends in the audience were naturally indignant, although they held their peace, and even Mr. Haven's most ardent supporters deplored the attempt to make political capital for their candidate from a meeting, which had been advertised as a temperance gathering.

Mr. Nelson Angry.
"Mr. Moore's speech at the Bethany church last evening was, to my mind, a serious breach of etiquette, to say the least," said Attorney Andrew Nelson, this morning. Mr. Nelson, who is a Tennessean supporter, was one of the speakers on the program with Mr. Moore last evening, and his speech preceded Mr. Moore's talk. Mr. Moore admitted that the platitudes of the two men were almost identical, and that both cited laws stood for law enforcement, but

BLOW HOUSE TO PIECES

Fiendish Dynamite Plot Perpetrated Early Monday at Aurora.

Mining Captain Nicholas and Family Have Narrow Escape.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald).—A diabolical plot to blow up the home of Capt. Nicholas of the Mohawk mine and kill the mining man and his family, was attempted here shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, when dynamite was placed under their home and exploded. The captain and his family escaped death miraculously, but their home was blown to pieces. All of the furniture was ruined along with a chest containing $500 worth of crockery and other valuables. It is believed the perpetrators of the fiendish crime were the same parties who broke into the dry house at the Miller mine and stole a lot of clothing.

The affair has created intense indignation, and the authorities are sparing no effort to run down the villains who planned and executed the dastardly plot that might have killed the mining officer and his family. All suspects are being rounded up and held pending an examination. Rewards will be offered for the capture of the villains.

The Aurora mine is one of the properties owned by Pickands, Mather & Co., of Cleveland, and Charles H. Munger of Duluth is general manager of their interests on the Mesaba range.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE VISIT CONEY ISLAND.

New York, Jan. 20.—Bright sunshine and balmy breezes made Coney Island look, yesterday, almost as it does in the summer time. It is estimated that 20,000 people went to the island, and all the hotels, restaurants, small shows and dance halls did a rushing business. The streets were crowded, and scores of fakirs and vendors were out to sell to the crowds frankfurters, and the novelties, without which Coney Island would lose half its charm.

Father of Girl Objected to an Immediate Wedding.

"I'll Give Up Nellie," He Said on Leaving House.

Dead Body Found in the Morning Across the Street.

Disappointment over parental opposition to his suit for the hand of pretty Nellie Conings of 128 West Superior street, caused James Schildberger, aged 26 years, to commit suicide last night within a few steps of his sweetheart's home.

"It's just like a game of cards," said Schildberger when he left the Conings' home last evening, "and I have lost. I'll give up Nellie."

At 7:30 last evening, Schildberger left Miss Conings' home and early this morning a passing teamster found his frost-covered and bleeding body on a rocky pier at Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street.

Two bullet holes in the head and a revolver by his side told plainly a story of suicide. From the appearance of the remains, life had been extinct for some hours.

Staid old laborers and young shop girls, on their way to work, beheld the gruesome object on the cross, the girl shuddered and the laborers paused to investigate.

It was some time before the remains were identified, but finally Alfred Conings, a brother of the girl whom Schildberger had admired and envied, he could tell who the dead man was.

The news of Schildberger's tragical

TO DECORATE THE RADICALS

Emperor William to Take an Almost Unprecedented Action.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—Among the names of those gazetted for decoration on the anniversary of the first coronation of a king of Prussia as German emperor are several of the leading Radical members of parliament. The recognition of Radical politicians in this way is almost without precedent, and it is regarded as an indication that the government is planning to hold the Radicals to the coalition formed by Chancellor Von Buelow in 1906. The men to be honored include Herr Kaempf, second vice president of the Reichstag; Herr Munsterberg, brother of Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard university; Herr Gysse, a young member from Koenigsberg, who defeated the Socialists in a hard contest, and Prof. Gieckhoff Wiemer, who has come to the front recently as an energetic speaker in defense of the Reichstag coalition.

There is considerable dissatisfaction in the Radical constituencies over Chancellor Von Buelow's declaration concerning the Prussian election system. Meetings have been held in the provincial cities at which resolutions were passed against the Radicals supporting the chancellor in the imperial parliament so long as he refused to support the idea of election reforms in Prussia.

THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT May be Defeated When It Attempts to Pass Budget.

Tokyo, Jan. 20.—At the Daio club today sixty members of the lower house in the diet issued a manifesto which proclaimed unalterable opposition to the financial policy of the government. This is one of the significant developments of the present situation, because Marquis Katsura, the former premier, is recognized as the leading spirit of the Daio club, although he does not lay any claim to the position of leader. His action under the Daio club with the progressive party and practically unites the opposition, in which event the government would be defeated in its attempt to carry through the budget.

Up to the present moment it was generally believed that Marquis Katsura and the prime minister, Marquis Sano, had reached an agreement on the subject.

STRIPPING LAUNCHES

Boathouse Thieves at Work in the West End.

Engines Wrecked by Use of Hammers in Removing Parts.

Reports have reached the police at the beginning of their nefarious work by the boathouse thieves, who operate each year along the bay shore, and who have committed several serious depredations in recent years. Reports are made from day to day of small articles being stolen from boathouses and pieces of machinery and tools taken, but not until yesterday was a serious stripping of an engine discovered.

People walking along the shore in the vicinity of Twenty-first avenue west noticed several small brass screws and plates lying outside August Witt's boathouse. An investigation showed that thieves had entered the boathouse some time recently by crawling through the space between the bottom of the door and the ice, and had completely stripped and almost wrecked the engine.

Every piece of brass which could be removed by any means, whatever, had been taken. Where screw drivers would not suffice in the removal of pieces of the engine, a hammer was used with disastrous effect. Pieces of casting were knocked off, screws were scattered about the ice inside of the boathouse, and the appearance of the place indicated that the thieves had stopped at nothing to accomplish the object of their visit. The propeller wheel was removed from the boat and the damage in all will be over $100.

A. Blomqvist, who has his boat stored in a house near Witt's, reported the loss of a brace and a complete set of twenty-four bits. The tools were in the house Saturday afternoon, but yesterday afternoon, when he visited the place, they were gone. Other boat owners, who have launches stored along the shore in that vicinity, also report the loss of small articles, and it is evident the thieves had been at work systematically and with good effect before their work was discovered.

In some of the cases, it is believed boys are responsible for the destruction, as articles are taken which could be of no possible use to anyone. In other cases, where there is a rich haul of brass, the possibility of selling the material is a motive for robbery. Still other burglars are probably the work of other boat owners, who unscrupulously strip other boats for the purpose of retreating their own.

The boat owners are thoroughly aroused over the thefts and they are leaving nothing in the way of capturing the thieves. The police have been notified to watch for suspicious people in the vicinity of the boathouses, and the owners themselves are keeping a sharp lookout for the marauders. In some cases, articles are taken which are of little intrinsic value, yet hard to replace, and much annoyance is caused, where there is little actual property loss.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CITY ENGINEER

New Bridges Are Recommended in Many Parts of City.

Discusses the Proposed Viaduct to the Wholesale District.

Under the supervision of the city engineer's department, the city of Duluth did $427,290.92 worth of work in the way of municipal improvements during the year, 1907, according to the report of City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray, which will be presented to the council.

Street improvements comprised the largest part of the work, but there was unusual activity in the construction of waterworks, sewers and sidewalks, the following being the cost of work of each kind supervised by the engineer's department: Street improvements, $228,041.17; waterworks, $10,549; sewers, $35,432.95; sidewalks, $57,697.79.

Despite the unusually large amount of work, the expenses of the department were held within the appropriation. The amount received by the department from taxes for its maintenance was $15,550.56. There was a deficit of $122.48 in 1906, leaving $15,538.08 for the department in 1907. The expenses were $15,328.37, leaving $209.71 in the fund at the beginning of the present year.

Two contracts for street improvements were let during 1907, at a total cost of $58,555.58. Ten of them were completed and two are still in progress. In addition, four contracts, from which part of the work was extended into 1907, were completed, and $2,483.39 was expended on them.

There were twenty-one contracts for sanitary sewers let at an aggregate cost of $24,549.25. Twenty were completed, one is in progress and two were built by the owners. The total length of sewer work completed was 16,445 lineal feet, or 3.11 miles. The cost of the work done was $24,028.56.

Five storm sewers were constructed at a cost of $11,499.29. They consist of 4,941 lineal feet.

Under permits issued by the department, 6,751 lineal feet, or 1.27 miles of conduits for electric wires were laid during the year.

By city and private construction, 14.25 miles of plank sidewalk were laid at a cost of $29,551.41 and 3.70 miles of concrete walk at a cost of $49,715.30.

Paving During the Year.
The amount of paving laid during 1907 was greater than in any year in the city's history, with the exception of 1891 and 1902.

During 1907, 2,539 square yards, or 4.45 miles of pavement were laid, of which 44,312 square yards, or 2.46 miles were of macadam.

Tar macadam was used on Sixteenth avenue east, from London road to Sixth street, on Jefferson street, from Thirtieth avenue east to Twenty-second avenue east; on Ramsey and Oneonta streets, from Forty-sixth avenue west to Central avenue, and on Twenty-fourth avenue east, from Superior street to Sixth street.

Sandstone block was used on Fourth avenue west, from Michigan to First streets, and on Lake avenue, from Sutphin street to Second street. Plain macadam was used on Tenth street, and on Twenty-ninth avenue west, from Superior street to Helm avenue. Only one block of cedar block was laid, that on Fourth avenue west, between First and Second streets.

In discussing macadam pavements, Mr. McGilvray says that plain macadam requires a firm base, and in places, where clay is encountered, a layer of six or eight inches of macadam is likely to make a bad pavement.

He points out that the clay shifts, and that it is very likely to come in the pavement after a little use. He says it is the cheapest pavement, and if it does not wear, it is as good as some of the more expensive grades, no surprise should be occasioned.

Several important recommendations on bridges are made. He says the bridge over Fischer's creek, on Superior street, should be replaced immediately. It has been in use since 1892, and the heavy cars passing over it are a greater strain than it was designed to bear. He also suggests that a reinforced concrete bridge be constructed over Lester river, at London road. The present combination bridge has been condemned, and has not been in use for two years. All of the traffic is forced over the Grand avenue bridge, which has more of a strain on it than it should have.

At the corner of Lake and Commercial streets, he says, should be replaced, steel and concrete in all and the use of steel and concrete instead of wood in their construction is advised.

The sewer ejected at the Lake avenue sewer outlet is reported to be satisfactorily doing the work for which it was designed. The total cost for water used in connection with it for a year was $48.13, with which 61,000,000 gallons of sanitary and storm sewage was elevated three feet.

The table of public improvements up to the present shows that the following work has been done by the city: The figures being in miles: Streets graded, 117.1; streets graveled, 55.3; streets macadamized, 29.2; paved with cedar block, 20.23; paved with vitrified brick, 1.43; paved with asphalt, 1.41; paved with sandstone, 2.52; paved with tar macadam, 4.32; paved with concrete block, .071; storm sewers constructed, 13.13; sanitary sewers constructed, 62.54; plank sidewalk laid, 23.95; cement walk laid, 22.44.

Much of the cedar block pavement has been replaced and there are now in existence only eleven miles of that grade in the city, and that in poor condition. Much of the plank walk has also been replaced, some with new wooden walks, and other with concrete.

During the year, estimates on work amounting to $1,300,755.14 were sent to the council, the work done being about one-fourth of that.

In closing his report, Mr. McGilvray calls attention to the proposed viaduct scheme for the wholesale district.

He says:

"I believe the biggest question which confronts the city in the matter of traffic communication, at the present time, is that of safe arteries to travel between the central business portion of the city and the wholesale district located on South Fifth avenue west and Commerce street. At present all team traffic from this district has to cross the railroad tracks of the Northern Pacific, Omaha and Duluth & Iron Range railroads on Fifth avenue, where switching is being done at all times, making travel slow and extremely dangerous. It is obviously impossible to erect a viaduct over Fifth avenue south from Michigan street across the railroad track southwardly, as in order to reach the ground on an usual grade the structure would obstruct communication from the wholesale houses on Fifth avenue, which it would be intended to serve. Therefore this department, after consultation with the principal parties interested, south of the railroad tracks, has planned a viaduct connecting at Michigan street on the line of second avenue west prolonged across the tracks to Commerce street and ascending at said Commerce street by an easy grade, the southern end of the structure being on the level of Commerce street at a point where no buildings are interfered with."

"It is also planned, in connection with the bridge, that a viaduct be built over the railroad tracks, intersecting the line of the above proposed bridge easterly along its length to the southern end of the Lake avenue viaduct, thus making a complete line of communication between the Lake avenue wholesale district and the Fifth avenue south wholesale district, without being obliged, as at present, to go up town and around by either Superior or Michigan streets."

"It is also proposed to build an elevated sidewalk on Fifth avenue south across the tracks similar to the tenth avenue west elevated walk for the accommodation of foot passengers, with stairs at the Omaha depot and at Commerce street. There is no doubt that there is a great necessity for the above improvements right now, and that it will increase with the growth of the wholesale district of our city. I believe that the railroads could be made to pay for some part of the viaduct suggested."

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. I was cured by J. H. Walker, Sanbury, Ohio."

REALTY FIRM WINS ITS CASE

F. L. Schoening Must Pay
C. L. Rakowsky and Company $141.96.

C. L. Rakowsky & Co., a local real estate firm, was awarded $141.96 damages against Frederick L. Schoening, in a verdict returned in the district court this morning. The verdict represents the full amount sued for by the real estate concern, including interest.

It was alleged by the firm that Mr. Schoening owed them the commission for negotiating the sale of some real estate owned by him in Endion division. According to the testimony of the plaintiff, Mr. Schoening's property was listed with them to sell for $2,500. They advertised it and found a purchaser, but the owner refused to carry out the deal, demanding $3,000 for the property. It is alleged that Mr. Schoening afterward sold the property to the purchaser secured by the real estate agency, for the price at which it was listed, but refused to pay the agents the commission, claiming that they had nothing to do with the transaction.

The outcome of the suit is of considerable interest to the local real estate men, as establishing a precedent in the alleged action of some property owners in refusing to pay commissions on sales negotiated through the agencies, when the latter really secured the purchasers for the property.

CHILD LABOR LAWS Of Minnesota Bearing Fruit According to Showing.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fewer children under the age of 15 are being employed in the mercantile and industrial establishments of Minneapolis than last spring, the decrease being about 40 per cent. According to W. H. Williams, state commissioner of labor, the decrease is due to the effectiveness of the child labor and truancy laws and demonstrates the earnestness with which the school authorities have been working. In the fall of 1907, 25 permits were granted to children as against 129 in the spring, and the former forty-two were solely for the Christmas vacation. The number employed in factories was 103, to 25 in the spring, a decrease of 43 per cent.

The largest number employed in any one line was in the woodworking industries, in clothing saw mills, saw and door factories, furniture factories, copper shops, etc., in which employment was given in the fall to 632 persons.

George Fischer of East Fourth street had a narrow escape from bleeding to death on his claim beyond Woodland yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Fischer was at work on his claim shoeing a horse. In some manner the knife which he was wielding slipped and cut a huge gash in the fleshy part of his leg just above the knee. One of the large arteries was severed, and the loss of blood threatened to end his life.

The leg was tightly bound, however, with a cloth and the flow of blood partially stopped. The man employed on the claim then placed Mr. Fischer in a wagon and drove him the three miles to the end of the Woodland car line. On his arrival there Mr. Fischer was almost insensible from loss of blood, but managed to reach his home, where physicians were summoned and sewed up the wound. Mr. Fischer will probably recover, but he is still very weak.

WHITEROCK CONVICTED

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Grand Larceny in Second Degree.

Police Find Accused Has Criminal Record as Weisenfeldt.

Philip Whiterock, alias Philip Weisenfeldt, was convicted of grand larceny in the second degree in a verdict returned in the district court this noon. Whiterock, or Weisenfeldt as the police have discovered his real name to be, was accused of obtaining about $30 worth of clothing from the Oak Hill clothing company of this city, several weeks ago, on a worthless check drawn on a St. Paul bank.

Weisenfeldt was defended by William Marx. The trial was started Friday afternoon and was completed, this morning. Since the accused was arrested the police have been active in the matter of looking up his record and Chief Troyer, through correspondence, found that Whiterock was convicted on a burglary charge in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901, under his real name of Weisenfeldt, who was sent to the New York state prison for a term of one year and four months.

It was also learned that Weisenfeldt is wanted by the Chicago authorities on the charge of burglary and was found that he broke into a motor works establishment in that city some time ago and stole nine fur overcoats valued at $80 each.

Weisenfeldt's partner, Ward, alias Kennedy, alias Green recently pleaded guilty to the same charge and was sentenced to the option of a 90-day jail term on the other. The police discovered that Green has a criminal record as bad or worse than that of Weisenfeldt's. Among those attending Weisenfeldt's trial was a woman whom the accused claimed was his sister. His brother is also said to have been present at the trial, last Friday.

Weisenfeldt did not go on the stand in his own defense and the state was unable to introduce the facts secured by the police concerning his previous criminal record.

Locked in Saloon.
Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock Patrolman Bradley, while making his rounds, discovered a man in Gust Egdahl's saloon, 302 West Michigan street, looking out of the front window. When he challenged him the man said he did not know how he got in the saloon.

Bradley went to get the proprietor and while he was gone the captive made his escape by smashing the window with a bottle and jumping out. When the officer returned the unknown was in full flight.

Egdahl has missed nothing so far from his place. It is probably that the fellow was locked in the saloon at closing time Saturday night, and when he saw the policeman was afraid he would be taken for a burglar so got out as quickly as he could. Nothing is known of the man and so far he has not been located by the police.

Miss Gill wishes to state that her success in the past as teacher, and especially as pianist, is largely due to the teaching she received with Theodore Pessum of Duluth, with whom she had studied for one year and a half prior to his departure for Europe. She also wishes to thank the people of Duluth and Superior for all the kind congratulations and hearty support which she has received with her new venture, and hopes to show in the future through conscientious work that she fully deserves the confidence placed in her.

WAIT FOR WAGE CUT

Boilermakers Are Still at Work in Open Shops.

Will Take No Action
at the Present Time.

With the exception of the Gogebic shop, full crews of boilermakers are working at all the head of the Lakes shops, and so far as can be learned, no strike has been declared as a result of the union meeting Saturday evening, although it is said there will be developments of an important nature later in the week. Work is rather slack at all the shops now, and at the Gogebic the men have been not working regularly for the last two or three weeks.

Managers of the different shops in Duluth and Superior say that their old men reported for work this morning as usual, and that they had nothing whatever to say concerning the meeting Saturday night, or of the decision arrived at there. If the boilermakers are claimed to be working with the understanding that they are under the open shop, there was no necessity of not recognizing the union.

The meeting of the union Saturday is said to have been rather interesting. Some of the speakers favored calling an immediate strike, while others are reported to have taken a stand against any such action. The latter argued that as long as they were not called upon to forsake allegiance to the union, or sign any paper to the effect that they agreed to work under the open shop, there was no necessity of calling a strike. They are working along under exactly the same conditions as they were last year, and their union is just as strong, the only difference being that the bosses refuse to recognize it.

When they go to cutting wages, or lengthening hours, then there will be plenty of time to show our strength," said one. "It seems to me it would be foolish for us to force the issue, unless they try and compel us to desert the union and promise to recognize the non-union shop."

Those who attended the meeting have had little to say relative to what transpired there, but it is understood that no unanimous agreement was arrived at. It is expected that a special meeting of the organization will be called before the end of the present week to take up the matter again.

LOEB FAILS
To Land Presidency of Traction Company at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The business ambitions of William Loeb, Jr., secretary to President Roosevelt, were shattered Saturday when he failed to be elected president of the Washington Railway & Electric company. He will remain at the White House.

Loeb was elected a director on a compromise ticket and had been slated for President.

When the directors attempted to elect officers, there was a deadlock, and Loeb found local capital back of another man. After several hours' balloting, Allan McDermott, for a number of years president, was again placed at the head of the company.

CONCERNING A WOMAN.

The woman had been attending sales. In fact very shortly after Christmas she had tied her to the stove and purchased a suit at half price. She took plenty of time to decide about it, and she considered it from many standpoints. In fact, the saleswoman thought she never would decide. But she did, and then she threatened several times to cancel the order unless the suit had all the alterations made by 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. And the store apologized, and she stood on her dignity and eventually all troubles passed away, and the suit was sent home. At least she thought all troubles had passed away. But that just shows how forgetful human nature is. She had yet to wear the suit.

So, one afternoon when the sun was shining she garbed herself in the new confection. She tilted the glass to see the bottom of her skirt, and she tilted it back to the top of her head. And she pronounced the result good. Her hair was "done" just right, and she tilted her hat. In fact she went forth with that silk-lined feeling which sets one at peace with the world.

She called forth, but she had not sailed far before she met a friend. "Hello," said the friend, stopping to talk.

"Hello," said the girl in the new suit. "Is that your new suit?" inquired the friend.

"Um-hum," said the other, trying not to look self-conscious. "Green is a hard kind of color to wear, don't you think?" inquired the friend. "I don't think one ought to try to wear it unless one has a very fresh complexion," she added comfortingly.

"I don't think so, either," said the one with the new suit. "That's the reason I chose it," she said, faintly. But she wasn't feeling so very jaunty.

"Oh," said the friend, "isn't it a beautiful day?" "Yes, isn't it," agreed the new suited one.

She passed on. She took a glance at herself in the shop windows, and was partly reassured by what she saw, but she was still rather upset by the criticism. She met another friend.

"Hello," said the friend.

"How nice your new suit looks," said her friend.

"Oh, do you like it?" inquired the owner.

"Um-hum," said the friend. "You've had the skirt made pretty short," she continued, with a critical air. "I understand they aren't going to wear the skirt so short any more."

"Do you think it's too short?" anxiously inquired the one in green, displacing herself at the same time for not having a mind of her own.

"Oh, I don't know," said the friend, with an indifferent air. "But I don't think short skirts look well unless one has very small feet, with high heels."

"That's so," said the owner of the too short skirt, miserably thinking of her five and a half, and sometimes sixes. "But," she added, with the return of a little spirit, "there aren't many people with small feet and high heels. In fact I never saw any."

And she went on feeling rather dragged and haggard-looking, not at all at ease and fresh as when she started out.

"Lovely weather, isn't it," called her friend after her.

"Oh, I don't know," said the green suited one.

"She was feeling discontented and as her suit didn't fit. She met another friend.

"Hello," said the friend.

"Hello," said the one who wished she never had bought the suit.

"Turn around and let's see your suit," said the friend.

The girl turned. "It's a little mite too long waisted, isn't it?" said the friend. "But that's easily fixed. Just take it back and they'll fix it. They are always so busy at these half price sales, but you can get it done."

"I like it that way," snapped the criticized one. "And I don't think it's nice wearing the silk lined criso. What did you ever," inquired her friend of herself.

The one in green commended miserably in the shop windows, and was thought very kind of him to even look at her, let alone talk to a person who must look as she did.

"Do you think a person of my age should wear green?" she inquired of him.

"Sure," he said. "If a person of your age can look as nice as you do in it," it can easily be seen that she had met the right man.

"I didn't know but that maybe I was too old," said the girl, feeling better right at once. "You don't think I ought to seriously consider lace caps and bonnet strings, yet, do you?" she inquired.

"No, I don't think so," he said.

"How do you like my suit, anyway?" she asked right boldly.

"Why, I think," he began, "that it is altogether the most adorable."

But what's the use. She left him again withering the silk lined criso, starched and well groomed feeling with which she started.

TALENTED DAUGHTER
Of Mrs. Campbell to Appear
Here With Her.

Miss Stella Patrick Campbell—Stella for the mother and Patrick for the father—brings to her stage work all the fresh young enthusiasm of youth and the native genius of her mingled English-Italian ancestry. In her mother's side she comes from a distinguished Anglo-Italian family. She inherits from her father the blood of a line of noted soldiers. Miss Campbell, who has not yet attained the age of 21, made her professional debut in her mother's company late last fall in Ireland, playing the part of Eilean in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." She has the personal appearance and distinguishing beauty of her celebrated mother. She is tall, lithe, dark eyed, raven-haired and of olive complexion. She is passionately fond of outdoor amusements. She is an expert horsewoman, a tennis enthusiast, an adept with the oars and in a canoe, and dearly loves skating. Miss Campbell was born in London, but educated in Germany. She speaks fluently

STELLA PATRICK CAMPBELL.

French, Italian and German and has besides a perfect command of Spanish. She is devoted to Kipling and Robert Louis Stevenson, but above all, she is in love with her chosen profession. While she is only playing at present such minor parts as that of Eilean in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and the Italian girl in "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," she shows an unusual adaptability and cleverness which augurs well for her stage future. Upon the occasion of her recent appearance in New York, a prominent manager boldly declared that if he could secure a ten years' contract with her, he would make of her the most popular actress in the English-speaking world, combining the winning personality, and electrically drawing qualities of Maude Adams and Ethel Barrymore. Miss Campbell is a splendid example of the educated young Englishwoman of birth. She enters into both her work and amusements with an exuberance and zest born of high spirits and keen delight in the past year. She is a brilliant conversationalist, a charming companion, a finished pianist and has a deliciously naive sense of humor. She thinks there is no one like her mother and her brother, Allan Patrick Campbell, and her whole life is rounded up in the fulfillment of her happiness and enjoyment.

She is a tremendous social favorite in London, where she was last year welcomed at court, and she is gladly welcomed in the best houses wherever she has an opportunity to appear. In Ottawa recently she was entertained at the government house by Earl and Lady Grey, and was personally complimented by the governor-general and his wife during the performance of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" for her rendition of the role of the ingenious, convent-bred English girl.

During her present tour, Mrs. Campbell is to present a one-act Japanese play, "The Moon of Yamato," by the distinguished French dramatist, Baron D'Humieres. In this Miss Campbell is cast for the leading part and very high anticipations are formed of what she will accomplish in it. It will really be a first part of importance.

She is now in England, and from special Japanese drawings and the costumes for the piece bought in London and Paris, are now on the way to America.

THE EVIDENCE AGAINST JURORS IN WOOD CASE IS NOT VERY CONVINCING

Attorneys for the Alleged Boodlers Ask for Discharge of Clients.

Judge Morris is Rather Inclined to Grant Their Motions.

Out of Courtesy to Smith's Counsel, Motions Are Withdrawn.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven witnesses on the stand during Monday afternoon's session of the contempt proceedings of the government against the two jurors, and Sherman S. Smith, who are charged with improper conduct in discussing the mail fraud case of the government against the Wood brothers and others, during the progress of the trial of that case.

It was expected that the government would produce some new evidence against the accused parties other than that contained in the original affidavits of Postoffice Inspector Ketchum, Lawrence C. Ritchey, secret service man, and George J. Hammond, former government witness, but outside of the supplemental affidavits filed by Hammond, in which he says Smith asked him how the sum of $10,000 would look to him, nothing new developed.

Just before court adjourned last evening, Attorney C. A. Nye of Moorhead, special counsel for Mr. Benedict, made a statement to the court in which he asked for the discharge of his client, on the ground the government had failed to prove a case against him, unless the district attorney said that he intended to produce further evidence against him.

Judge Morris said that he felt inclined to grant the motion, and asked Mr. Hough, district attorney, if he had any further evidence against the accused.

Nothing Further Against Benedict. Mr. Hough suggested that there was nothing further that he intended to bring out against Mr. Benedict. He suggested, however, that if the government proved a prima facie case, that the defendant Benedict might desire to go on the stand in his own behalf.

"If the district attorney will consent I am willing," Mr. Benedict said, "to go on the stand right away," said Mr. Nye.

"It is not my intention to secure his discharge in order that he need not go on the stand. His wife is in a very bad state of mind," said Mr. Nye.

TANKS WERE SHIPPED AWAY

Man Arrested for Removing Them From Boyertown Ruins.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 21.—A mild sensation was created here last night when W. R. Javers of Quakertown, Pa., was arrested by the state police in connection with last week's fatal fire. He was taken into custody on a warrant sworn out by Coroner Strasser and accused of having been instrumental in the removal from the ruins of the theater of the two tanks used in operating the calcium lights at the entertainment. The coroner wants to learn whether the tanks were tampered with and evidence of criminal negligence removed. It is alleged that an order which was presented to have been written by the coroner was presented to those who had charge of the ruins requesting them to permit the tanks to be removed. The tanks so that they might be transferred to a place of safety. It is further alleged that the tanks were taken to the railroad station and shipped to Quakertown in the name of J. R. Ransom, owner. Two tanks were shipped to Boyertown the following day in the name of the same party. These are now at the station.

Javers was taken to the county jail at Reading at midnight and will be given a hearing before the inquest is held.

HARTJE MAKES APPEAL.

Wants to be Accorded Rights of a Common Felon.

Pittsburg, Kan., Jan. 21.—Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufacturer, driven to the last ditch in his suit against his wife for divorce, has turned pleader. His attorneys appeared before District Attorney Harry Goehring and demanded that they be accorded the rights of a common felon in the coming trial for conspiracy, and that he be given a full panel of venire men to select from.

GIRL ASSAULTED. Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 21.—Advices from Wellfleet state that the 15-year-old daughter of George Schickley, a farmer six miles from Wellfleet, while alone in the home, was visited by an unknown man, who criminally assaulted her, and then beat her over the head with a beer bottle. She regained consciousness and was able to give a description of the man. A posse is chasing him, and it is reported, is close to him near the town of Curtis. The girl, who was at first thought dying, may recover.

LIVED LIFE OF A SATYR

Experts Will Say Col. Snell Was Victim of Erotic Mania.

Was Not Capable of Distributing a $2,000,000 Estate.

Clinton, Ill., Jan. 21.—An array of medical experts almost as formidable as that which has been gathered for the trial will appear in Judge Cochran's court here next Monday to back up with scientific facts a plea which is said never before to have been made in court.

These experts, it is learned will swear that Col. "Tom" Snell was a victim of erotic mania. To substantiate this claim the experts will swear that the last five years of the aged millionaire's life prove him to have been nothing more nor less than a modern satyr.

Attorneys for Richard Snell, the son, who is contesting the will, declare the plea sufficient grounds for breaking the will—that no man with such an erotic mind would be capable of distributing a $2,000,000 estate.

"Yes, that is to be the plea when we take up our side of the case," admitted E. C. Sweeney, senior counsel for Richard Snell.

CHURCH MUSIC IS A DISGRACE

As at Present Rendered, Says Brooklyn Choir Master.

New York, Jan. 21.—That much of the present day church music has deteriorated until it is a disgrace is the opinion expressed by Prof. Tall Eben Morgan, choir leader at the Baptist Temple, Brooklyn, before a Methodist minister's meeting yesterday. Prof. Morgan made a plea for better music, and surprised the clergymen by declaring that "too often in evangelic churches the music, supposed to be sacred, is of the 'rag time' variety, and the 'worship' set to the music doggerel."

"The music has deteriorated and retrograded," he said, "and has lost its inspiring influence in many churches. Many of the old, so-called hymns are a disgrace to the church and to music. You wouldn't approach the mayor of this city with a two-step, rag-time measure of jingles. That's what much of the church music is composed of. You wouldn't walk into the presence of the governor of this state to the airs of the silly and unsacred music recently heard in our churches. Surely the church should be the last place for anything but the best in music."

Prof. Morgan illustrated his remarks by playing several airs on an organ, then he played the "Pilgrim Chorus" from Tannhauser.

"Now, gentlemen," he went on, "do you regard that music as sacred or profane?" Many of the clergymen declared that, despite the air being taken from an opera, it should be classed as sacred music.

JAP DIET OPENS. Tokio, Jan. 21.—The regular session of the Japanese diet opened today and the committees were appointed. The diet will sit on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Premier Saionji's address outlining the policy of the government will be made, it is expected, Jan. 23.

ICE DEALERS MUST SERVE SENTENCES.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 21.—The three ice dealers of Toledo, R. C. Lemon, R. O. Beard and J. A. Miller, who were sent to the workhouse as punishment for forming an ice trust, got very little consolation in the decision of the supreme court in their cases today. They were sentenced to the workhouse by Judge Kincaid as the result of their conviction and the court interferes with those sentences only so far as to hold that they should have been sentenced to the jail instead, and they are sent back to be resented. They got a year's sentence and a fine of $5,000.

PROTEST BY MERCHANTS

Over Arbitrary Increase of Freight Rates in Northwest

When They Remained the Same to Southwest Merchants.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Just why Chicago, Minneapolis and Northwest merchants should find their freight rates increased, under various pretexts, while at the same time no change in rates was made in St. Louis to the merchants of the Southwest, occupied the attention of Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty yesterday. The case, which is recorded as that of Wyman, Partridge & Co., Minneapolis, wholesale dry goods dealers, vs. the Boston and Maine, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley & Lackawanna, with the lake shipping lines, which either own or control, received its initial hearing. At the end of the day, Commissioner Prouty adjourned the hearing until March 4.

Rate, Jumped Twice. The basis of the complaint, which is being brought by Minneapolis and Chicago merchants with the support of the commercial associations of both cities, rises out of the increase in rail and water rates, inaugurated in March and July of last year. The old freight rate for rail and water routes was 39 cents. In March all routes joined in increasing the rate to Chicago and Minneapolis merchants to 61 cents, and followed in July with another announced increase of 1 cent.

To modify the shippers, the companies announced that the rate would include marine insurance on all goods in transit. But while they made this concession to Chicago merchants, as a basis of the extra 3 cents, they made the same concession to St. Louis merchants, with no increase in the freight rate. The hearing before the commissioner, on the charge that discrimination to individuals, and as between localities was being made by the transportation companies, resulted.

New York, Jan. 21.—Orders have been issued in a number of Roman Catholic churches in Greater New York directing the ushers who take up collections to discontinue giving change to those who wish to contribute. It has been the habit to give to those who asked for it on the ground that they did not have coins of the size they wished to put in the contribution box. The passers of the money would drop a lead half-dollar in the box and receive 25 cents change. Many churches have been thus victimized, one church having found twenty-two of the counterfeit coins in one Sunday's collections.

COUNT IS SUMMONED

To Appear in Court for Assaulting a Photographer.

Fiance of Gladys Vanderbilt is Again in the Limelight.

New York, Jan. 21.—As an outcome of a caning he is alleged to have given a too zealous photographer trying to get a snap shot of himself and his bride-to-be, County Szechenyi, who is to marry Miss Gladys Vanderbilt on Monday of next week, was yesterday served with a summons to appear in police court to answer to a charge of assault. Edmund T. Reilly, a professional photographer, is the complainant. In his affidavit Reilly sets forth that on the afternoon of Jan. 13, he was attempting to take a photograph of the count and his fiancée as they were emerging from the residence of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt on Fifth avenue. He alleges that he was struck over the head with a cane and that his hand was also injured. Reilly says that he hit back, striking the count twice. Magistrate Finn refused to issue a warrant in the case but instead gave Reilly a summons, which the latter served in person as the count was leaving the Vanderbilt house late yesterday. Through his attorney Morris Cuker, the count authorized the statement that he meant no discourtesy to the American press, as he understood that the complainant was a newspaper photographer. The count added that he would obey the summons, but at the same time denied that he had struck Reilly.

But Few Additional Details Are Drawn Out by Jerome.

New York, Jan. 21.—When District Attorney Jerome resumed his cross-examination of Evelyn Thaw at the trial of her husband today he reverted to her European travels with Thaw in 1903 and 1904. Mr. Jerome's manner was no less aggressive than yesterday. Mrs. Thaw seemed in rather a sullen mood and answered the prosecutor's questions curtly. She said she had shown Thaw in Paris fourteen letters Stanford White had written her subsequent to the events that followed their meeting.

"Where are these letters?" asked the district attorney.

"I don't know."

"When did you last see them?"

"I think it was in Mr. Hartridge's office."

"Did you write to Stanford White from Boulogne?"

THE UNEMPLOYED HOLD MEETINGS

Fifteen Thousand Persons Gather Outside of Berlin.

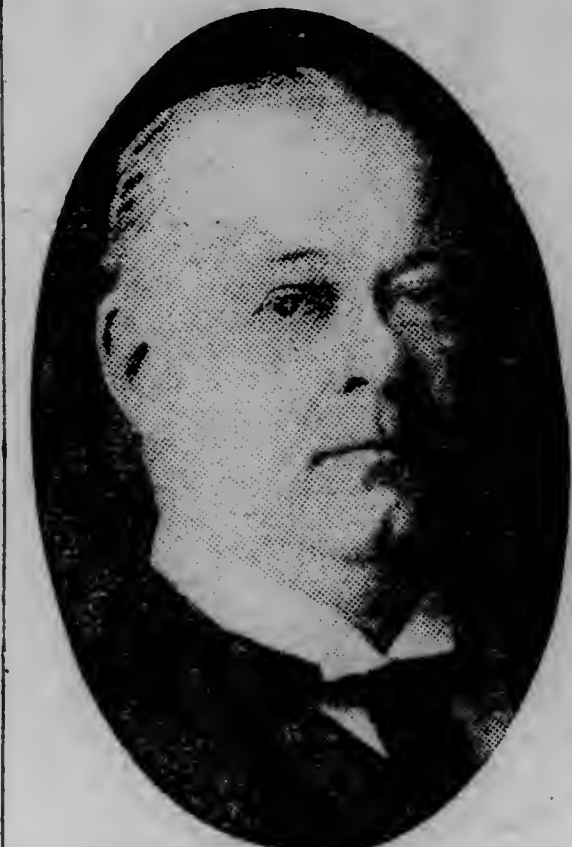

Berlin, Jan. 21.—Five mass meetings of the unemployed, organized by the Socialists, were held today in the outlying districts of Berlin. Fully 15,000 men were in attendance. Strong detachments of police, armed with sabres and revolvers, were stationed in the vicinity. Interference was not necessary, however, as the meetings were orderly.

Herrn Singer, Bruehne, Emmet, Lehmann, Scheidmann, Steuckian, Zubei and others, all Socialist members of the reichstag, addressed the assemblies, and called upon the state and the municipalities to provide employment and afford means for those without work to gain a livelihood.

They declared that among the unemployed in Berlin there were 24,826 skilled artisans, belonging to trades' unions; this in addition to many thousands of unorganized and unskilled laborers.

At the conclusion of the addresses the men left the meetings in groups, marching to various quarters of the city.

As Seen by the National Board of Underwriters.

Fire Tug and Other Improvements Are Urged.

The report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters of New York, a committee of which visited Duluth last fall to examine water, fire protection and building conditions, has been received, and it is evident that many changes can be made in the fire prevention requirements and provisions in Duluth, which will result in the remedying of the defects discovered by the committee of underwriters, and consequent lower insurance rates. The committee, which had charge of the investigations in Duluth consisted of F. A. Raymond, fire department engineer (in charge); G. M. Hoyt, fire department engineer; R. W. Bogard, Jr., hydraulic engineer; R. C. Bennett, structural engineer.

The report is a voluminous one, covering in detail the conditions of the city in general, the water supply, fire department, fire alarm system, fire department auxiliaries, building department, explosives, and inflammables, electricity, congested value district, conflagration hazard, with recommendations, and a general summary. The distribution, pressure and equipment of the water system is taken up in minute detail, and important recommendations made. The building laws are declared inadequate and insufficient, and changes are recommended. In regard to the building laws, the report says:

"The building laws are of slight value from a fire protection standpoint. They provide no limitations for heights, areas or occupancies of different classes of buildings; do not require proper protection for openings in floors or walls, nor require automatic sprinklers, except in theaters. The fire limits do not include sufficient territory around the congested value district, and their restrictions are frequently nullified by the council. Fire escapes are lacking on many buildings, especially the older ones. Many buildings show serious defects, which will be remedied, especially the open or improperly enclosed

LITTLE RHODY TO ELECT A SENATOR

Present Indications Are That Wetmore Will Be Returned.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 21.—The members of both branches of the Rhode Island general assembly had before them today the election of a United States senator to succeed George Peabody Wetmore. Today's voting was a continuation of the balloting which occupied much of the time of the general assembly at the last session, and which at the time of adjournment was still in deadlock. The first ballot today was the eighty-fifth in the contest.

Senator Wetmore was the Republican candidate for re-election, and as the Republicans have seventy-two votes to the Democrats and Lincoln party, a united vote of thirty-nine, it was believed before the balloting began, that he would be returned to Washington over Col. Robert H. I. Goddard, who had the endorsement of both the Democrats and Lincoln party. Both candidates were in the contest at the last session, but Col. Samuel Pomeroy Colt polled a majority of the Republican votes.

Judge Cant Files Important Decision in Citizenship Case.

Says Finns Cannot be Classed With Yellow Races.

Are Entitled to Full Privileges of American Citizens.

Finns will not be denied the right of full citizenship papers in St. Louis county, on the ground that they are Mongols.

In an important decision that has just been made by Judge Cant of the district court, on this point, the objection of the government to the granting of citizenship papers to John Swan, a resident of Excelsior, and some fifteen or sixteen other Finn farmers in this county, has been denied, and the papers have been executed and forwarded to the applicants.

The objection to the granting of citizenship papers to Finns on the claim that they belonged to the Mongolian race and did not come within the meaning of the law as relating to "white persons" entitled to such rights, was raised by Assistant United States District Attorney John Sweet of St. Paul, at the last hearing in the district court, Jan. 4, on the applications for citizenship papers.

The objection was first raised in the case of Swan, but there were something over a dozen other papers held up under the objection, pending the decision of the court. The papers were executed under the court's ruling, Jan. 17, and have been forwarded to the men entitled to them. A copy of the court's ruling has also been sent to the assistant United States district attorney to forward to Washington.

Var Rerching Effect. The last state census showed that the Finns comprised the largest percentage of the population, so far as any one nationality is concerned, and the decision of Judge Cant will be read with interest and be far reaching in its effects, as the Finns comprise a large percentage of the desirable settlers who are going on

OPENED THE WRONG COFFIN

So Caldwell Will Insist in the Druce Case.

New York, Jan. 21.—Robert Caldwell, who testified in the famous Druce case in London, and for whose arrest on a charge of perjury a warrant was issued, is said to be recovering his health, but is still too ill to appear before the United States commissioner to answer to the application made by the English government for his extradition.

The case will be called, but Caldwell will not appear. His illness will be pleaded as cause for further delay. This was admitted by Miss Georgiana Caldwell, his daughter, who further said:

"If my father is taken back to England to answer to the charge of perjury in the Druce case, he will merely repeat the testimony he gave before—and he will declare that if the coffin raised from Druce's tomb did contain human bones, it was the wrong coffin, for there is another in the same grave containing lead."

THE UNEMPLOYED HOLD MEETINGS

Fifteen Thousand Persons Gather Outside of Berlin.

Berlin, Jan. 21.—Five mass meetings of the unemployed, organized by the Socialists, were held today in the outlying districts of Berlin. Fully 15,000 men were in attendance. Strong detachments of police, armed with sabres and revolvers, were stationed in the vicinity. Interference was not necessary, however, as the meetings were orderly.

Herrn Singer, Bruehne, Emmet, Lehmann, Scheidmann, Steuckian, Zubei and others, all Socialist members of the reichstag, addressed the assemblies, and called upon the state and the municipalities to provide employment and afford means for those without work to gain a livelihood.

They declared that among the unemployed in Berlin there were 24,826 skilled artisans, belonging to trades' unions; this in addition to many thousands of unorganized and unskilled laborers.

At the conclusion of the addresses the men left the meetings in groups, marching to various quarters of the city.

Officers of the Duluth national banks will, in the near future, make a request that Duluth be placed on the list of the national reserve cities. If the request is complied with, it will mean that other banks can deposit funds in the national banks here, and have it credited as part of their local reserve.

WOULD TAX
THE BANKSW. I. Prince Thinks It is Best Way to Secure
Deposits.Gives Interesting Talk on Subject Before the Unity Club.

"Almost one-third of the circulating medium of this country does not circulate, and the greatest of the United States today in the matter of money is not a greater volume of money circulation, but a better use of that which we have," said W. I. Prince, cashier of the City National bank, in the course of a talk on "A Guarantee of Bank Deposits," before the Unity club at the First Unitarian church last evening.

Mr. Prince said that in his opinion at least $1,000,000,000 was hoarded away from the country. He decried this way of accumulating wealth and commercial prosperity, and argued for the guarantee of bank deposits, which was really the keynote of his address.

The discourse which Mr. Prince gave, however, was quite general, along banking lines. He did not speak only of the plans which are being discussed at the present day for the insurance of bank deposits, but he spoke of the methods employed in this country as compared with those of other countries.

Mr. Prince was very caustic in his remarks about those two-careful persons who hoard their wealth and keep it out of circulation.

"We must expect that every bit of the country's money supply can be in circulation all of the time, but it seems a pity that one-third of the land's circulation medium does not circulate at all," said the speaker, who had had one-half of the billion dollars that is hoarded away from the country.

Speaking of that, it was a slightly fortunate thing that we had beautiful crops and other things which Europe needed when we most needed the money.

Speaking of banks, Mr. Prince gave some statistics which showed that of all the banks which failed, the national bank lost back a larger percentage of their deposits than any of the others, by a large margin.

He spoke of the high-handed methods of some trust companies as most dangerous to the country.

"The guarantee of bank deposits is not a new subject, but it has never been so seriously considered as it is today," said Mr. Prince.

To Mr. Prince's notion, the most feasible way of guaranteeing deposits is through government agency or trusteeship. He said that a small tax should be placed on all banks, which would be sufficient to secure the deposits and not work any hardship on the institutions. The banks should insure themselves and the treasury department should handle the money, he said. The different states of the Union could work out similar plans for the institutions directly under their supervision.

Of all the plans for the insurance of bank deposits, Mr. Prince looks upon this one as the first. He declared that the banks should themselves lead in this movement and that he believed they would.

The question was discussed at a meeting of bankers at Fergus Falls some time ago, and one of two Twin City bankers felt that the insurance of deposits would harm the older and more conservative bankers and the support of the scheme by the financiers would be an admission of weakness in their institutions. Others, he said, looked upon the plan as a less selfish and a more liberal view of the situation.

Mr. Prince thinks that the insurance of bank deposits will come and he is in favor of it.

RAILROADS SHORTAGE
PREDICTEDFall of Snow Would Put Cars in Great Demand.

The freight and passenger business over all railroads centering in Duluth is getting better right along, and Duluth railroad officials predict that during February business will reach the normal stage.

One man this morning even went so far as to predict a shortage of cars by the end of the month, if there should be a heavy fall of snow within the next few days. He said that the Chicago and Northwestern in general freight business, and the big demand from the shippers of forest products would come with snow.
The rush for cars would be so great that it would be a shortage.

Few agents agree with him in this,
but they admit that there would be a big boom in traffic in this particular district.
If the snow should come, however, it would be in despair, and heavy freight losses stare them in the face. There is no doubt that there is no snow for hauling.

CURLERS LEAVE
FOR VIRGINIAProspects of Colder Weather Held Out by the Forecaster.

Even if the weather prevents curling, the curlers propose to have a good time at the bonspiel anyway.

It was a merry bunch that boarded the special train for Virginia this morning, at the union depot. The train will take the curlers to Virginia over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, and will return this evening at 7 o'clock.

The weather man holds out some hope of colder weather today. The ice is in very fair condition and a few inches of cold weather would put it in splendid shape for curling. If the mercury would drop below the freezing point tonight, the bonspiel could be begun tomorrow morning, and this is what the curlers are planning on.

one child. The body is at Flood &

He computed on some land in Oakville township, near the town of Itasca, in the northwest 1/4 of section 12, township 151, range 22. Bentz had been in possession of that land for many years. He stated that it probably was the last proof to be made in Grand Forks county, as next as can be ascertained from his records and although there are some re-entrant records in the county, Bentz stated that the proof of Christ Bentz was the last.

KILLED BY ASSASSIN.
Brother-in-Law of Crookston Man Murdered in Montana.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nels Peterson and Ole J. Tassdale have gone to Great Falls, Mont., in response to a telegram stating that Peter Tassdale, brother-in-law of the first named, and brother of the other, had been murdered.

The murdered man lived on a ranch in the vicinity of Belt, about twenty miles from Great Falls, and was shot down in a most cowardly manner. A few evenings ago, while sitting in an upper room of his house reading, he was shot by some one standing on a high bluff outside, just about level with the window. A bullet hole through the window indicated that the shot had been fired on a level with the victim, who had been instantly killed. Tassdale was alone at the time, and there were several hours before the crime was discovered. He had had trouble over some land, and it is presumed his murder was the outgrowth of a feud.

CROOKSTON CHECK ARTIST
Arrested and Being Held by Winnipeg Officers.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Kopang wanted here for forgery has been arrested in Winnipeg by the police of that city and is being held pending the arrival of an officer from here, according to a message received by Chief of Police Eck from Chief McKee of the Winnipeg force. Sheriff Gonyea has left after the accused, providing he will come back without extradition papers.

Kopang was the young man employed by Ben Rosenberg last fall, and shortly before the holidays after he had been discharged he is said to have forged two checks in favor of himself for $23.75, he drawn on the Merchants' National bank with the name of Ben Rosenberg signed to them. One check was cashed with Ed Erickson, the butcher, and the other with J. A. McCaffrey.

The forgery leaked out the next day as Mr. Rosenberg did his business with the First National bank instead of the Merchants. Kopang headed for Dakota but later wound up in Winnipeg.

WATER PIPE BURSTS.
Four Great Northern Employees at Minot Are Injured.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bursting of a 4-inch water pipe at the Great Northern round house injured four employees of the company, as follows:

Jerry LeDuc, ankle broken; William McIntyre, leg broken; A. Duffy, arm and shoulder broken; Fagallide, a Jap, leg broken.

The four men were working in the vicinity of the pipe when it broke and were struck by the falling pieces. The pump at the round house had been working badly all day. It is thought that too much air pressure was put on the pipes, and that this caused the accident.

As soon as the pipe broke, it gave way entirely, and the men were struck by the falling pieces. There were several other workmen in the vicinity of the accident, but they managed to get out of the way of the pipe.

The four men were taken to the hospital, where they received treatment.

It is impossible to determine whether the fall of rock results from earthquakes and it is a matter of scientific controversy. They occurred at irregular periods. The most violent was three years ago. It was felt for fifty miles.

The attorneys for the defense then went before Court Commissioner Milton McFadden, who fixed the bail at $3,000, which was furnished, the bond being signed by Eric Wicklund, John Carlson, John A. Erickson and John A. Peterson.

EXPENSES NOT LARGE

St. Louis County on Economical Basis as Compared With Others.

Is Third Largest County East of Great American Desert.

Considering the fact that St. Louis is the largest county in the state of Minnesota, the third largest county in the country east of the Great American Desert, a county whose area of 6,000 square miles exceeds the areas of some states in the Union, the expense of operating county government might be anticipated to reach a pretty high figure.

St. Louis county has, however, demonstrated to the other counties of this state that the county government can be operated along economical lines even while the county within its borders is undergoing a larger development as the years go by.

Owing to the fact that the county is so large and that many of the cities, towns and villages are situated at a considerable distance from the county seat, the expense attached to the running of the county government must necessarily be larger than in the smaller counties, where every point is easily accessible to the civil center.

The forthcoming financial statement of County Auditor Halden, which will be published in full in The Herald at a near date, will show an itemized account of the expenses of St. Louis county in 1907 and the total will, it is claimed, compare very favorably with the reports of the various other counties in the state.

The annual statement shows a total expenditure under the county general fund of $214,047.02. The expenses of running the county government are met out of this fund, but even the total just mentioned includes some expenditures not exactly chargeable against the county, as in the case of the bounties paid out for the killing of wolves and half of which is paid by the state. The municipal court orders of the city of Duluth are also paid by the county auditor's warrant.

As the county grows in population the amount of business transacted through the courts increases and one of the most important items showing the increase of the expenses over the preceding year is found in the cost of jurors and witnesses. The more litigation there is the greater the expense to the county in these particulars.

Following is a recapitulation of the orders issued by the county auditor last year on the county's general fund:

Auditor and clerks	$85,513.63
Treasurer and clerks	11,589.97
Clerk of court and clerks	141,411.01
Register of deeds and clerks	12,635.79

Boarding prisoners	9,469.10
Miscellaneous expenses	16,171.26
Deputy sheriffs, district court	535.00
Grand jurors	1,105.10
Felt jurors	18,247.16
Witnesses	5,462.67
Miscellaneous district court	6,911.28
Jurors, municipal court	2,057.08
Witnesses	775.00
County constable	79.45
Justice court	4,845.45
Probate court	2,895.28
County's requests	2,895.28
Total	$213,454.43
Refunds	652.49
Total debits to county revenue account	$214,047.02

Two of the county officers, those of the register of deeds and the clerk of the district court have earned the county in fees during the past year not only enough to offset the expense of the offices, but to leave a nice balance on the credit side.

CAUSED BY CANADIANS

Great Influx of Japanese to Canada Due to Employing Interests.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 21.—The report of W. J. MacKenzie King, the royal commissioner appointed to inquire into the influx of Oriental labor into Canada, was presented to parliament last evening. After an inquiry into the vexed problems of Japanese immigration, the commissioner throws a new light on the responsibility for the sudden increase of Japanese landing in British Columbia last summer.

The report of Mr. King establishes that the Japanese government had been observing the agreement to restrict immigration, and that the departure of the Japanese foreign office, last April, from regulations hitherto in force, was made only at the instance of the Canadian Nippon Sullay company, backed by the Canadian Pacific railway and other influential Canadian interests, which represented at Tokyo that Japanese labor was needed and desired in this country.

"If there was a change," says Mr. King, "in the policy of Japan, it was not one which could adversely affect the interests of this country, without a Canadian citizen, or a Canadian corporation first pinching upon it the seal of his or her approval."

No Malice on Part of Japs.

In other words, Mr. King finds that no malice on the part of the Japanese government, or any desire to alter its policy of restricting immigration, can be charged, and he traces the cause of the influx that has agitated British Columbia to Canadian sources. In his analysis of Japanese immigration of the first ten months of last year, Mr. King finds that out of a total of 1,125, only 449 remained in Canada. Of this total, 275 came from the Hawaiian islands, and only 1,641 from Japan direct. Of this latter number 900 were under contract for the Canadian Pacific, and 500 were students and merchants. Summarizing the figures of the arrivals from Japan from 1901 up to January, 1907, Mr. King finds that they would represent from 4,000 to 4,500, or these a large proportion found their way to the United States. The number of Japanese in British Columbia in January, 1907, was less than 7,000. The arrivals in British Columbia, therefore, of 8,125 Japanese in the ten months following naturally caused alarm, and if anything more were needed to occasion unrest, it was to be found in the arrivals from the Orient of Hindoos by the hundreds, and of Chinese in larger numbers than in preceding years.

Besides the contract with the Canadian Pacific railway, the Nippon company obtained assurance of a contract with James Watson, president of the Wellington Colliery company, and lieutenant governor of British Columbia for the supply of miners from Japan. Application was made to the Grand Trunk Pacific for a contract, but the answer was non-committal.

MAINTAINS THE CALL IS ILLEGAL

Foraker Will Allow Taft Delegates at Large Without Contest.

Cincinnati, Jan. 21.—To fight for the national convention delegates from Ohio's twenty-one congressional districts and to allow Secretary of War Taft to have the delegates at large without a contest is the plan of the campaign suggested in an interview yesterday afternoon by United States Senator Foraker, who arrived home from Washington on business. He maintains that the call for the state convention is illegal and that therefore he will not take part in the selection of its delegates. After declaring that there had been no "overtures of peace," either to or by him, he said: "So far as the state convention is concerned I have not changed my opinion since I was here that the call for it is illegal and unjustly burdensome. On that account, as I have heretofore announced I shall not make any effort to comply with its terms and conditions, nor will my friends make any such effort, except only in what their local conditions may prompt them to do so."

"Of course, the delegates selected to this state convention will all be for Taft, for there will be no opposition. This does not apply, however, to the congressional districts. They are not under the control of the state central committee and are not bound by anything the state convention may do. Each district will elect its own delegates in its own way. What the districts may do remains to be seen."

Sandusky, Ohio, Jan. 21.—On the ground that the primary, as provided for in the call of the Republican state central committee, necessitates a misapplication of public funds, an injunction suit was filed here yesterday by Alexander Nielson against the Erie county board of elections. Nielson prays that the board be enjoined from proceeding further with the primary election to select delegates to the Republican state convention, which will select Ohio delegates to the national convention.

East Bloomfield, N. Y., has applied for letters of admission for the estate of Catherine Devine, the "Little Egypt" of Seelye fame, who died alone in her flat in West Thirty-seventh street, two weeks ago. Mr. Hamlin asserts that he married the dancer nearly twelve years ago.

The relatives of the dancer will fight Hamlin's claims. The estate is estimated at $200,000. At the time of "Little Egypt's" death it was not generally supposed that she had left a fortune.

An investigation revealed the fact that she owned real estate, not only in New York, but in Long Island, Canada and New Jersey. In addition, she had several bank accounts and much valuable jewelry. She had been on the stage for more than twenty years, and her income after the Seelye dinner, it is said, averaged nearly $1,000 a week.

FICKLE WOMAN JILTS DAKOTAN

Deserts Rancher, Whose Room Was No. 23, at Altar.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 21.—A courtship and betrothal, almost without parallel here, culminated when Laura A. Shaw, the bride-to-be, while on her way to the Vendome hotel, where she was to have been wed, dashed from the side of the prospective bridegroom and fell into the arms of her former lover.

Honore B. Duncan, a wealthy ranchman of Rapid City, S. D., who had wooed her ardently for two weeks, and who pleaded with her six straight hours to keep her troth and marry him, gazed longingly after the pair, and then strode away without a word.

Meeting the young woman at the Vendome theater, the ranchman renewed an acquaintance made several years ago in Rapid City. It was a case of "love at second sight." After he had wooed her at the home of F. C. Ellis, where she is staying, and apparently had won her, Duncan urged an early wedding. She demurred, saying she had no money to buy her trousseau. He gave her $100, and told her to get what she needed.

The next day she told him she had changed her mind and wanted to wait.

It took him until 3 o'clock in the afternoon to persuade her to give up this idea. Then she went with him to the courthouse, where they secured a marriage license, after a delay caused by the bride having another attack of reluctance.

Gloefully Duncan conducted the girl to the office of a justice of the peace. Just as the justice was about to pronounce the final words, the bride backed up to the door and delivered herself thus:

"I've been married twice, and now I'm free and unhampered by a husband. I guess I had better stay single."

Duncan followed her out of the street and had the pain of seeing her give him the slip.

The number of Duncan's room at the Vendome is 23.

NEWS OF THE RANGES

EVELETH MAN IS VICE PRESIDENT

Of State Federation of Commercial Clubs of the State.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The convention of the federation of commercial associations of Minnesota, which was held last week in the old capital in St. Paul was of more than ordinary importance to the entire range and to Eveleth in particular.

John H. Harding, superintendent of the Spruce and Adams mines and president of the Eveleth Business Men's association was elected vice president.

Solomon Sax, secretary of the Eveleth Business Men's association was appointed the committee of permanent organization.

The committee on permanent organization was composed of representatives of the several committees appointed at the convention, its duties consisted in drawing up the constitution and by-laws, and recommending the candidates for the various offices.

Having Eveleth's district elected vice president so important an organization as the Federation of Commercial associations will go a great way toward vouching this city before the people of the entire state.

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF

Allowed in Case Involving a Month's Wages.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Frank Koehner against Marko Matkovich was held in Judge Price's courtroom Monday. The plaintiff sued Matkovich for services rendered to the amount of $30. The defendant raised the point that as the plaintiff had not worked a full month as agreed he was not entitled to any part of the money. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff giving him judgment for the full amount asked for. Attorney J. C. McElwray appeared for the defendant and the plaintiff's case was won by lawyer Thomas K. Ferry. The defendant immediately made a motion to appeal the case.

FALLING DRILL KILLS

Sylvester Tolonen, a Miner, in Pioneer Mine at Ely.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sylvester Tolonen, who was injured in an accident at the Pioneer mine Saturday night, died here yesterday without regaining consciousness.

Tolonen was standing near the bottom of the A shaft, and being unable to get out, he was killed by a falling drill. The next one going up to the surface, 150 feet above, just before the shaft, and striking the unprotected top of the cage, killed Tolonen. Tolonen was a well-known miner and had been working at the mine for many years, and was a well-known man in the community.

The accident was probably due to some miner's violating the rules of the company, which require that no one be on any of these cars at that hour of the day, when men are being hoisted to the surface and others lowered to the various levels.

The deceased had worked at the mine for many years, and was a well-known man in the community. He was 35 years old and leaves a wife and five small children, the oldest being only 10 and the youngest 2 months old.

No One Would Harbor Woodsman With Smallpox.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ozler Kenville, a woodsman, who had been employed at Pillsbury's No. 5 camp out from Deer River is confined at the detention hospital as a smallpox patient. Health Officer Dr. Condon found the man at Cohasset sheltering himself in the woods, where he was an unwelcome guest. He was requested to move out of every place he entered, and the depot agent asked the doctor to get him out of the waiting room. It was necessary to send here for a team to convey him to the pest house, where he is now being cared for.

ROBBERIES AT TOWER.

Thieves Are Getting Busy in Vermillion Range Town.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Petty robberies are becoming quite numerous here. Early last week the cash drawer in Joseph Cass, saloon was robbed of $25. Saturday night a double robbery took place. The cash drawer in S. J. P. Loeck's saloon was robbed of $100 and the saloon at Joseph Cass's saloon was robbed of $25. In each case it is a mystery how the thieves entered the saloons. The lid is tightly closed after 11 o'clock at night. The saloons were locked with spring locks, and the doors did not show an opening way tampered with. There were no windows or doors broken in either place. There is no clue to the robbers, while there is a suspicion. There have been no arrests as yet, and the new chief of police, John Carroll, is making a clean sweep of all undesirable characters.

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Duluth Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, sideache, headache, Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, Bright's disease follow.

A Duluth citizen tells here a certain cure.

H. G. Hibke, clerk in the Northern Pacific R. R. freight house, and living at Hunter's Park, Duluth, Minn., says: "In a testimonial given by me in 1898, which has been published often in the Duluth papers, I told how Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of kidney complaint, from which I had suffered for a long time. I believe that it was brought on in the first place by exposure to all kinds of weather and the jarring of driving. Backache set in, and the pains and aches made stooping and lifting very painful. Whenever I took cold it settled in my back, and aggravated the trouble. The kidney secretions became discolored, irregular, and contained a sediment. I also had frequent attacks of headache. However, as I have emphatically declared, and will always affirm, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of all these conditions, and today not a symptom of my former trouble remains."

mon knowledge that several saloonkeepers in this section have recently transferred their licenses when there were bills outstanding against them. When about Stanford White, who you were in the Madison Square Garden tower with Stanford White? "Some time." "Two days?" "A week?" "Yes." "As long as that—after you had declined an honorable offer of marriage because of this man?" "Did you tell Thaw about it?" "Yes." "The Hummel Affidavit."

Mr. Jerome here produced the photographic copy of the famous Hummel affidavit and had the witness identify the signature. Mrs. Thaw told yesterday of the burning of the original affidavit, which she declared she signed without knowing its contents. The affidavit alleged cruel treatment by Thaw during the 1893 trip abroad. When the witness was asked if she told Hummel the things set forth in the affidavit or anything like them she replied in positive fashion:

"I most certainly did not."

Mr. Littleton objected to questions concerning the affidavit, saying it was not a material issue in the case. He was overruled by Justice Dowling, who said: "Any acts of the defendant are subject to investigation in a case of this kind."

"Did Thaw ever beat you?" asked Jerome.

"Didn't you tell Stanford White that Thaw had beaten you?" "I did not." "What did Thaw say when you told him you had heard he put a girl in a bath tub and turned scalding water on her?" "He just laughed."

"Did you say last year that he shook his head sadly and said: 'Poor little Evelyn, they have been making a fool of her?'" "Yes."

"Well, where did the laugh come in?" "When we were talking about it."

The witness said Stanford White gave her a pearl drop at Christmas, 1901, which she gave to Will Sturges. "Didn't you testify at the first trial that White only gave you useful presents—clothes and furs?" asked Mr. Jerome.

Mr. Littleton objected and the question was not pressed.

The district attorney continued as on yesterday to read extensively from the testimony of the first trial, seeming determined to get every detail of the evidence offered a year ago in the record of the case before the jury.

Repeats Former Examination.

Mr. Jerome also went over in detail his former cross-examination of the witness with the record book held in both hands and constantly consulted it. Mrs. Thaw asked several times to see the book herself. Once she said addressing the court:

"There is a misunderstanding, your honor, and Mr. Jerome ought to read further."

The prosecution complied. Mrs. Thaw found continually with Mr. Jerome telling him once that he was giving the wrong impression by reading only part of an answer she made last year.

The district attorney started to reply when Justice Dowling interrupted the colloquy by addressing the witness and saying:

"Just answer the questions, please."

The prosecutor seemed somewhat tired and his attack toward the end of the morning session lacked the fire of yesterday.

elevator and stair wells, and the many exposures afforded by the great number of unprotected windows. The building inspector is unable, without assistance, to properly enforce the building laws.

The fire department is characterized as too small for a city of the size and topography of Duluth, and an increase in its size immediately is urged. Some of the more important recommendations are the following:

Water Supply. That the general map of the distribution system be corrected and brought up to date, and that complete records be kept, especially of pressure in the different services.

That at the Lakeview station, unnecessary hazards be eliminated and better fire protection provided. That the present system be adopted to prevent waste and unnecessary use of water. A more extended use of manholes and fire hydrants in the city would be probably be effective.

The distribution system be reinforced by the installation of twelve additional mains and several gate valves as specified.

That an employee of the water department, familiar with the distribution system, be detailed to attend all second alarm fires.

Fire Department. That a fire boat with a pumping capacity of not less than 800 gallons per minute be provided for the protection of the water front, to be located at the foot of Garfield avenue during the open season and in the vicinity of Fifth avenue much in need in this locality, and will be very much appreciated.

SAY BOMB WAS THROWN, CAUSING AWFUL RESULTS.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is generally believed that the bomb was hurled at the residence of Capt. Thomas J. Nicholas of the Mohawk mine early yesterday morning, shattering the residence and almost completely destroying its contents. The first theory was that dynamite had been placed under the house by some friends in human shape who took such dreadful means of gratifying their revenge. Discharged foreigners, who held the captain responsible for their loss of work, are credited with having conceived and executed the plot. No effort is being spared to run the villains to cover and the authorities are still hoping their efforts in that direction will soon be crowned with success. Capt. Nicholas is congratulating himself that neither he nor his family lost their lives as a result of the atrocious act. The Mohawk mine is the property of the Peckham-Mather company, having offices in Cleveland, Ohio, and advices have been sent there giving all that is known of the crime. It is expected the company will offer a reward suitably large to attract the best detectives here.

CORONER SUMMONED.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coroner William Goldworthy and an undertaker left for Caribou, 5 on the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway in response to advices from a man named Stanford White, presumably a lumberjack, had been found near Lake Schaaf, about thirty-five miles northeast of here. Fearing they return it cannot be learned whether the man died of natural or violent death.

Pneumonia Most Fatal During Winter Months.

show pneumonia to be one of the most fatal diseases, especially during the winter months. The records show numerous instances where neglect of an apparently insignificant cold has developed pneumonia without warning.

It is the better part of wisdom to check a cold at the outset. Take two ounces of glycerin, a half pint of good whisky and a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine; mix thoroughly and use in tea.

spoonful doses every four hours. This formula is said to break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable. It has been found that five ounces of tincture Cinchona compound can be used instead of whisky, with the same result.

The ingredients are inexpensive and can be purchased without trouble at any good drug store. To avoid substitution of some inferior pine product for the Virgin Oil of Pine, it is better to purchase each separately and mix them at home.

The genuine Virgin Oil of Pine is put up for dispensing, only in 1/4-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case with an engraved wrapper showing plainly the name—Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, Serial No. 451, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. Be sure and get the genuine, as the oil sold in bulk and cheap imitations put out to resemble Virgin Oil of Pine in name and style of package are ineffective, being largely composed of a distillation of pine needles, or leaves, instead of from the pine tree proper.

These pine needle oils are not intended for internal use, and when taken internally usually cause nausea. Their use is mainly confined to the manufacture of soap and similar purposes.

Building code. That the building inspector be provided with a sufficient number of competent assistants to secure the right and impartial enforcement of the building laws, and that complete building records be properly kept.

That the fire limits be extended to include the entire area of all blocks and that such additional blocks as are necessary to properly enforce the building laws, and that the construction of the building be such as will prevent the development of dangerous conditions in localities likely to become congested—non-combustible roof limits to be adopted to include the entire city.

Electricity. That the municipal inspection force be increased and be held solely responsible for the supervision of outside as well as inside work.

That a complete inspection of old buildings be made and defects corrected, and that all wiring be subsequently inspected at suitable intervals.

That all overhead wiring, except trolley wires, in the streets, alleys and back interiors of the closely built sections, be placed underground.

Conflagration Hazards. That automatic sprinkler systems be required in all buildings, which, by reason of their size, location, or use, singly or combined, might act as conflagration breeders.

That window protection be provided in the form of fireproof shutters or other suitable devices.
